NEW PRESIDENT OF CUBA SCRAPS CONSTITUTION

Fresh Coup Feared; Unrest Grows.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 14.—A manifesto issued by President Ramon Grau San Martin with the approval of his cabinet late today decrees the general statutes for the provisional revolutionary government of Cuba. They supplant the 1901 constitution and become effective at once.

Intimations were that the new laws were largely patterned upon the processes of the revolution in Spain, books on which were conspicuous on desks in the antechambers.

Call for a Convention.

The decrees call for a convention to write a new constitution and for the establishment of courts of sanction to try persons accused of misdeeds during the régime of Gerardo Machado, now a refugee in Canada. They pledge efforts to get reciprocity treaties to aid Cuba economically.

The right to control individual rights is placed in the hands of the government. This apparently applies to such rights as habeas corpus and to search without a warrant. Just how far it goes in the direction of establishing an economic dictatorship is vague.

One provision says that no one shall be deprived of property unless for justified reasons of public need and indemnity shall be provided. Legal opinion is that abrogation of the constitution of 1901 does not affect the Platt amendment, under which the United States has the power to intervene to preserve order.

Treaty Signed in 1904.

The Platt amendment, permitting American intervention in Cuba, was contained in the United States army appropriation act of 1901. The Cuban government accepted the terms of the amendment as part of its constitution on June 12, 1901. The amendment requires the consent of both nations to abrogate.

The Grau San Martin manifesto says that the provisional government pledges itself to fulfill the following statutes:

"1. To maintain the absolute independence and sovereignty of the nation, the principles of self-determination of the people in the solution of its internal problems, and the juridical equality of all governments.

"2. On international politics the government will try to obtain the best harmonization and adjustment possible of the political and economic interests of Cuba and extend reciprocity to other countries and will respect and fulfill all treaties signed by the republic of Cuba.

"3. Delegates to a constitutional convention will be convoked as soon as possible to rectify or to sanction acts of the government and provide for the election of a new government and draft a proposed new constitution for Cuba.

Courts of Sanction.

"4. The government will organize courts of sanction with full power to try all persons charged as responsible for violations of law, whether they have been given amnesty or not, perpetrated as a result of politics while defending the ousted régime of the tyrant (Machado). These courts will impose sentences.

"5. Since the provisional government truly would be at fault if it abandoned the guarantees that [possession of] power carries with it to dangerous aspirations, temporarily it will make individual rights secondary to a régime of government fiscalization, the use of which 'prerogative' will be duly communicated to the constitutional assembly.

"6. No one shall be deprived of legitimate property unless by competent authority and for justified reasons of public utility, and in all cases indemnity shall be paid. Failure to comply with the clause of indemnity will cause the courts and magistrates to protest, and, if proper, restore confiscated property to the individual.

"7. The secretary of justice is authorized to propose to the government the necessary by-laws and decrees to determine the number and functioning of the courts of sanction necessary to execute the precepts of this statute."

Lawyers to Draft Code.

Secretary of Justice Rios Balmaseda said he soon would order the selection of delegates to a constitutional convention and that Cuban lawyers were qualified to draft an electoral code as good as the one recently suggested to

Dispute Rages Over How to Depict Christ

DITCHLING, Sussex, England., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Frank Brangwyn, world famous artist who is doing a set of four huge murals for Rockefeller Center in New York, has encountered what he characterizes as the greatest puzzle of his artistic career.

The work is virtually completed except for the fourth and final panel. This is to depict the Sermon on the Mount, and Brangwyn says he has been asked to leave Christ out of the picture.

"I can't conceive the Sermon on the Mount without the Savior," the artist said. "I'm up against a stone wall and don't know what to do."

New Controversy Over Murals.

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The murals of Rockefeller Center—embroiled in dissension over Diego Rivera's head of Lenin—were subjected to a new controversy today over the portrayal of Christ.

Officials of Rockefeller Center said: "There was no thought of portraying the Sermon on the Mount without Christ. The only question was, what was the best way to represent Christ."

Frank Brangwyn, the English artist painting the mural, suggested and worked on an actual figure of Christ.

"After consideration," the Rockefeller Center reply to Brangwyn's declaration read, "it was mutually decided to use a 'great light' shining on the mount, signifying the presence in the background."

The Sermon on the Mount panel is the last of four by Brangwyn for the R. C. A. building, the 70 story dominant structure in the Center. Work on them is virtually complete with the exception of the figure of the Nazarene.

Previous Dispute Recalled.

Today's incident immediately revived the controversy between the Center and Rivera, the Mexican artist, whose proletarian panel was boarded up on orders of John D. Rockefeller Jr. after Rivera's refusal to delete the head of the communist leader.

A group of artists, many of them associates of Rivera, cabled to Brangwyn that "the right of freedom of artistic expression is involved and the right of an artist to express beauty as he sees it and feels it. The English artists should join American artists in their demand that both Brangwyn and Rivera be given the right to finish their paintings as they projected them."

The panels of a third famous artist, José Maria Sert—outlining man's mastery of the material universe—were set in place months ago.

Brangwyn's works have been the subject of dissension several times.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR TRANSFER OF 50,000 STUDENTS

Plans for the transfer of approximately 50,000 pupils at the opening of schools Monday were announced yesterday by Supt. William J. Bogan. The changes have been made by the board of education to provide comfortable seats in regular classrooms for thousands of school children.

"If high school boundaries have been changed pupils should report to the new school on Monday," Mr. Bogan said. "This applies not only to pupils who have been attending high school but also to pupils from junior high or elementary schools now enrolling in high school for the first time. It will not be necessary for these pupils to call at their former schools for credentials since principals will make all the necessary arrangements for the prompt transfer of records."

A different plan will be followed in the elementary schools, Mr. Bogan said. In this branch of instruction all pupils entering eighth or lower grades, whether from elementary or junior high schools, should report Monday morning to the schools which they attended in June. They will either be enrolled in these schools or directed to others.

"Unusual patience will be required of pupils, teachers, and parents," said Mr. Bogan. "If these instructions are followed effective school work will result. I appeal to all for coöperation."

3 CONCESSIONS AT FAIR FACE U. S. DRY QUIZ TODAY

Officials of Streets of Paris, the Oriental Village, and Hollywood, three of the largest concessions at the World's Fair, have been summoned by letter to appear this morning at the office of I. W. Coyne, acting prohibition investigator in charge of the Chicago area, to "discuss certain matters."

The letters were sent to O. W. Rosenthal, a director of Hollywood; Thomas Custin of the Oriental Village, and Roy Hall of the Streets of Paris. All except Hall last night admitted receiving the summons.

Warnings of government action have been sent to the Oasis and the Melting Pot, separate cafés at the Oriental Village.

The investigation which resulted in the present developments began a week ago when Lieut. Ernest Schondorf of the Fair police arrested a youth carrying two five gallon cans of alcohol. The prisoner, William Forrest Bryan, said the alcohol had been given him for delivery to "Clarence" at Sol's restaurant in the Oriental Village.

Since then Bryan has been seen touring the grounds with prohibition investigators.

Death Closes 40 Yr. Career in White House

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Irwin H. Hoover, 62, White House chief usher, died of a heart attack at his home tonight a short while after leaving his little office beside the front door of the executive mansion.

More than forty years ago he went into the White House with the first electric lights and he remained to become a major domo extraordinary. They needed "Ike" Hoover to press the buttons on a then "new fangled" lighting system and he has been pressing buttons to make dinners of state, visits of diplomats, and the million and one front door White House demands run smoothly ever since.

All the Presidents and their wives since Cleveland have been his friends.

Saddened by the death, President Roosevelt tonight wired news of Hoover's death to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, the widow of the former President; Mrs. Grover Cleveland Preston; Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. William Howard Taft, and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, all former occupants of the executive mansion.

FARMERS PUSH THROUGH MILK STRIKERS' LINES

In the usually calm countryside of McHenry county milk strikers yesterday used violence in preventing shipments to Chicago.

In other parts of the city's milk shed farmer vigilantes, opposed to the strike, grimly guarded trucks through the strike pickets, by their efforts making it possible to bring in about 93 per cent of the normal supply of milk.

In Chicago representatives of the big distributors and of the Pure Milk association, both signatories of the government marketing pact, were striving to hasten a 1 cent a quart raise in retail prices and pass the benefits on to farm producers. The Pure Milk association is the farmers' bargaining agency.

Promise More Flexible Codes.

In Washington harassed agricultural department officials, who have found almost insuperable difficulties in enforcing the ironclad codes like Chicago's, announced that in future they would promulgate milder and more flexible codes on a thirty days' trial basis.

That was the broad picture of the complicated milk situation last night, with possibilities of further violence existing today and with the government apparently more "in the middle" than the middlemen themselves.

The only arrests for violent action among the strikers took place at Harvard. There Herman Page of Harvard was seized after, it is alleged, he ruined 500 pounds of milk by dumping disinfectant in it as a strikebreaker tried to go through the picket lines. Ralph Williams of Hebron, who went to Page's assistance and struck Deputy Sheriff Howard Freeman, also was taken into custody.

Tie Up Supply at 4 Towns.

At four points only, Crystal Lake and Woodstock in McHenry county, and Hampshire and Virgil in Kane county, was the strike completely effective. No milk was sent from receiving stations in these towns. At Harvard and at other places where they appeared in force the vigilantes from the Pure Milk association kept the flow going steadily over the protests of the strikers' pickets.

Efforts to send milk through Crystal Lake and Woodstock will be made today, it was said, and trouble is anticipated at both towns, which are hotbeds of strike fervor.

Co-op Acting with U. S.

The Pure Milk association, with 18,000 members, is the big co-operative organization which furnishes nearly the entire Chicago supply. Its management and, seemingly, a great majority of the members favor a drive for better prices in association with the government. On the other side the strike forces are composed of perhaps 1,000 or more farmers, most of whom are or have been in the association field.

Their contention is that they are "sick and tired of government red tape" and will get nothing unless they fight for it themselves. They have demanded a price of $2.25 to $2.50 a hundred pounds for milk, as against the present $1.75 paid to them for such milk as is resold in bottles, and abolition of the present "base and surplus" method of buying by the Chicago distributors.

Strikers Demand Flat Price.

E. L. Bost of Harvard, leader of the strike, declared in a radio address yesterday morning that even if the government, the Pure Milk association, and the dealers get the extra cent a quart for the farmers it will make no difference in the struggle; that he and his followers plan to fight it out until the base-surplus question is settled.

They contend that the best offer in prospect would still leave the farmer getting less than $2 a hundred on the average for his milk, or about 4½ cents a quart, while the retail buyer would pay 11 cents. They oppose anything but a flat price for all milk they sell and object to any allotment plan for the higher price levels.

"We insist," said Bost, "that every farmer meeting Chicago health requirements has the right to sell all his milk in Chicago."

$50,000 Suit Against Leader.

The Pure Milk association officials, who maintain that the strikers are striving to get control of the organization or to start up a new one of their own, yesterday filed a $50,000 damage suit in the Cook county Circuit court against Bost.

Miss Windsor Loses Suit; to Pay $75,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—A jury in the Superior court today awarded Mrs. Marian Read damages of $75,000 from Claire Windsor, stage and screen star, who was accused of stealing the affections of Alfred C. Read Jr., former husband of the complainant.

After debating for hours the jury of seven men and five women, most of them middle aged, returned their verdict late this afternoon. They seemingly had been given a difficult problem to ponder in the instructions of Superior Judge Sproul, but the guilty verdict was soon reached. Only the amount of damages caused the long debate.

It was no defense on Miss Windsor's part, the judge said, to claim that she believed the Reads were no longer living together harmoniously when her romance with the one-time broker began. On the other hand, he said, the jury should find for the actress if they determined Read had no more love for his wife at the time he first met Miss Windsor.

Miss Windsor Shocked.

Miss Windsor was shocked by the jury's decision. She and her attorneys announced they would fight the case to the highest tribunal.

The actress declared: "It is too absolutely unfair. I don't see how they could do it after Mr. Read testified that he had deliberately misrepresented his marital status to me."

According to members of the jury, the packet of love letters written by the actress to Read, particularly some in which Miss Windsor had urged Read to join her in the east over the Christmas holidays of 1931, did much to influence their verdict.

At the time Miss Windsor wrote and wired Read to join her she was in Chicago playing a featured part in the Al Jolson stage show "Wonder Bar."

She had previously known Read two months, having met him on an eastbound transcontinental train from Los Angeles in September of 1931. She admitted she had kissed him on the observation car on the second night of the trip.

First Ballot Defeats Her.

The case was placed in the hands of the jury at 10:25 o'clock this morning, and the jury returned its verdict shortly after 3 p. m. [coast time].

The first ballot showed the jury agreed, 10 to 2, that Miss Windsor's share in the romance with young Read had been responsible, either wholly or partly, in the breakup of the Read home. A vote of 9 to 3 or better is required for a decision in California.

Two of the five women and one man voted constantly against any kind of a judgment against the actress.

When the verdict was read in the courtroom the crowd, packed to standing room, screamed and cheered. Many of the women pushed forward to shake the hands of the trembling, tearful plaintiff.

Mrs. Read "Very, Very Happy."

Mrs. Read said: "The verdict makes me very, very happy."

Read said: "I feel awfully sorry for Miss Windsor. It wasn't fair. After all, it was all my fault."

Miss Windsor said: "I have no money. Nobody can collect anything I haven't got. Rather than go to work to make money to give Mrs. Read I'll probably get married again."

Two of the jurors, John Thomas Moore and Mrs. Ethel Finkenbinder, said they declined to vote a cent for Mrs. Read because they did not believe Miss Windsor had stolen the broker's love. Mrs. Mabel Henry said she was "willing to vote no more than $1,000."

"This verdict is certainly from the heart!" one juror exclaimed.

ROOSEVELT PUTS ON PRESSURE TO END MINE RIOTS

Calls All Factions to White House.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

(Picture on Back Page.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight gave all factions of the soft coal industry just 24 hours to agree on the terms of an NRA code.

Moved to drastic action by riots and the shooting of 16 persons, 15 miners and a deputy, in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, the President summoned the leaders in the dilatory coal negotiations to the White House for a night conference.

Mr. Roosevelt told the representatives of mine owners and of the unions that he was weary of the futile bickering which for six weeks has marked the parleys.

The President made it plain tonight that if the warring factions do not agree by tomorrow evening he will impose an arbitrary code without further delay. He consented to the 24 hours of grace only upon the urgent pleading of the coal operators.

Statement by President.

After a conference lasting nearly two hours the President in a formal statement announced the results, as follows:

"I have definitely outlined tonight the urgent reasons for immediate agreement on a coal code.

"Without exception the operators present, representing the major coal producing areas, and the representatives of the United Mine Workers have given to me their assurance that the code in its present form is, for the larger part, acceptable, and that, in all human probability, this code can be negotiated to a conclusion within the next 24 hours—in other words, by Friday night.

"Furthermore, the wage agreements between the operators and the United Mine Workers are so close to being concluded that the same 24 hour period should bring them also to a successful end.

"In view of these assurances I am awaiting the signatures to the code and the agreements."

Quiet in Pennsylvania.

A further statement, issued by Stephen T. Early, secretary to the President, revealed the latest reports received at the White House from the strife torn Pennsylvania fields:

"Reports from the departments of justice and labor and from Gov. Pinchot indicate quiet in the Pennsylvania coal regions this afternoon and tonight. Final reports on the shooting in the Uniontown area by company police are not yet in."

Mr. Early said Gov. Pinchot had telephoned to the White House during the conference.

The 27 men who had obeyed the presidential summons filed out of the White House at the close of the conference. They went swiftly into the cold drizzle of the night. Only one tarried to answer the questions of newspaper men. He was John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. All he would say was this:

"The President has given us 24 hours in which to reach an agreement. In all human probability we shall have a code tomorrow night."

Study Revised Code.

During the last several days the code has been changed in various sections. This evening the revised code was submitted to all the operators. During the short interval remaining before they went to the White House they studied it.

One group of operators went over the administrative phases of the code, dealing with the creation of boards to enforce the code, and another group met with union representatives in an effort to reach agreements on the wages and hours schedules included in the code. The latter group also struggled to put the finishing touches on labor contracts.

President Roosevelt let all those at the conference know that if they failed to agree immediately he will swing a "big stick" and compel them to live up to a code to be written by himself and Gen. Johnson. The President, however, has been desirous of avoiding this course, principally because it appeared inevitable that the dissatisfied operators would take the code to the courts, tying the administration's hands pending a long drawn out court battle. All the time he has feared that violence would break out among the waiting miners.

The revised code, which the coal operators indicated to President Roosevelt tonight they might be able to accept by tomorrow night, contained important changes.

Instead of an average thirty-six hour week the revision provides for a forty hour week, five days of eight hours each. In last week's code provision was made for an investigation of the feasibility of a shorter week—one of thirty, thirty-two, or thirty-five hours—by Nov. 30, 1933. The time limit for that inquiry in the latest code was set at Dec. 31, 1933.

The first code provided for a conference of operators and union officers with NRA officials, to be held on Dec. 1, 1933, for discussing possible changes in hours and wages. The new code fixed the date at Jan. 15, 1934.

Further changes are made in the structure of the divisional and national boards set up to administer the code.

Keeps in Close Touch.

The action of the President tonight followed a day during which he had kept in close touch with the Pennsylvania situation. The principal trouble came early at the H. C. Frick Coke company mine at Uniontown. Immediately after this incident President Roosevelt summoned Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, Secretary of Labor Perkins, and Attorney General Cummings to the White House.

Gov. Pinchot reported to the President that the delays in agreeing upon the coal code had caused the strike of the men at the Frick mines.

Six weeks have elapsed since the negotiations on the code were begun. Although the recovery administrator has made repeated promises that he would accomplish an agreement by specified times, he has never been able to keep his word, due to the refusal of the operators to submit to his ideas of what the code should contain, or even to agree among themselves.

Those at White House.

The conference at the White House was attended by Gen. Johnson, Deputy Administrator Kenneth Simpson, who has been in technical charge of the coal code; NRA General Counsel Donald R. Richberg; the committee of 18 coal operators formed to conduct the negotiations for the industry, and a committee of five union representatives.

The operators on the committee are James Francis, Hugh Hawthorne, Heath Clark, William Emery, Ralph Taggart, Ed C. Mahan, Charles O'Neill and Scott Stewart of the Appalachian north and south nonunion group; George W. Reed, Charles W. Hall, Thurlow G. Essington, and George Heaps Jr. of the Illinois, Indiana, Iowa group; Forney Johnson and D. A. Thomas of the Alabama operators, E. M. Douthat and W. C. Shank of the Missouri operators, and John Doolin and F. V. H. Collins of the Rocky mountain-Pacific group. The representatives of the United Mine Workers' union are John L. Lewis, president, and Philip Murray, Percy Tetlow, Van A. Bittner, and Thomas Kennedy. Attorney General Cummings also attended the White House conference.

THORP EXPLAINS PLACE OF NRA IN NEW ORDER

Individual freedom has given way to industrial democracy under the national recovery program, Willard L. Thorp, director of the United States bureau of domestic and foreign commerce, told the convention of the American Trade association executives at the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday.

NRA symbolizes a new economic structure and a changed relationship between government and industry, Thorp said.

"The concern of the government is not so much the behavior of any single individual, but the ordering of the relationship of individuals so that acts of one will not lead to injustices and suffering by others," the speaker asserted. "The action of individual initiative, quite unrestricted, tended in many cases to reach out and hurt other individuals."

GETS NRA POST

JAMES WORTHY.

James Worthy, Northwestern university Austin scholar, has been appointed assistant deputy administrator of the garment trades of the NRA, it was announced yesterday by President Walter Dill Scott. Worthy, whose home is in Glenwood, Ill., is a senior in the school of commerce of the university. He is one of four Northwestern students to be called to Washington to serve in the NRA administrative offices.

The other three, all of whom are Austin scholars, are Nelson Dodge of Pasadena, Cal.; Robert Harris of Joliet, Ill.; and Robert Lowry of Pittsburgh, Pa. The Austin scholarships were established by the late Frederick C. Austin for the purpose of training exceptional young men for positions of business leadership.

All four students have just completed a year of study in European universities as part of the provisions of the scholarships. They were planning to return to the university for their last year of college work when the appointments from Washington were received.

Gigantic Dam and Lock at Alton Is Federal Plan

Alton, Ill., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Projected construction by the government of a gigantic dam and lock unit across the Mississippi river here, raising the headwater level twenty feet in connection with the nine feet upper Mississippi channel, was revealed today. Definite plans have not been completed, but Mayor T. W. Butler said after conferring with United States engineers, that it was hoped to get the work underway by Nov. 1. It is understood the dam ultimately will cost from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000.

16 SHOT IN MINE HOLIDAY STRIKE AT CODE DELAY

15 Soft Coal Workers and Deputy Wounded.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Fifteen striking soft coal miners and a deputy sheriff were wounded by shots today as riots broke out at the Gates, Edenborn, and Footdale mines of the H. C. Frick Coke company. More than a score of others were injured by beatings, stoning or knife wounds.

All of the shooting was at the Gates mine. Eleven of the men, wounded with buckshot, were brought to Uniontown hospital, while five were treated at the scene. Four of the others injured required treatment at Edenborn.

The outbreak signalized the official beginning of the "holiday" voted today at Pricedale by representatives of more than 30,000 miners in western Pennsylvania in protest against delay in adoption of the NRA code for the bituminous industry.

Deputy Wounded by Sheriff.

The trouble at the Gates mine, which is on the Monongahela river near Masontown, resulted as deputies were reported to have opened fire on 150 pickets stationed along railroad tracks near the entrance to the mine.

Miners said the pickets had succeeded in persuading a dozen men, who were on their way to work, to return home. The deputies then, according to the miners, pushed one of the pickets.

A mêlée followed, and the officers opened fire with riot guns. Boyd Cutwright, the injured deputy, stepped in the line of fire of a fellow officer, and was wounded so badly his left arm had to be amputated.

The "holiday" spread rapidly in Washington county, where 5,000 men were out of the pits today.

"Holiday" Is Widespread.

Miners from the Mather Collieries company mine marched over the county border last night and effectively picketed five Washington and Greene county mines.

Another 650 men refused to go to work at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company's Nemacolin mine when they came to work and found the Mather miners picketing there.

In Fayette and Westmoreland counties the number of men quitting the pits increased hourly, while the immediate Pittsburgh district did not have a single major mine working.

Representatives of 8,000 United Mine Workers in the Allegheny valley district voted at New Kensington last night to give the operators until tomorrow night to sign the code. Otherwise they will walk out Saturday morning.

John T. Jones, United Mine Workers organizer, said 17,500 miners joined the strike in Cambria county at noon today.

The Pittsburgh Coal company reported seventeen of its eighteen mines closed. The exception is the Crescent mine at California, Washington county.

PUBLIC WORKS OFFICIALS DUE IN CITY TODAY

Officials of the public works administration at Washington will arrive in Chicago today for a conference with Carter H. Harrison, chairman of the Illinois advisory board, and consulting engineers in the middle west. The meeting will be held in the Union League club.

Those who will come from Washington are; Col. H. M. Waite, deputy administrator; H. T. Hunt, general counsel; Lewis P. Mansfield, director of the finance division, and Aubrey Taylor of the public relations staff. They are on a national tour by airplane.

Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer for the Illinois board, returned yesterday from Washington where Chicago and Illinois applications for loans were discussed.

END MILLINERY WORKERS' STRIKE WITH PAY BOOST

Manufacturers Agree to Recognize Union.

The 19 day strike of 4,800 Chicago millinery workers ended last night when the Millinery Workers' International union unanimously accepted terms for a one year agreement negotiated with representatives of the Chicago manufacturers' association. The agreements, providing for increased wages, will be submitted to all the manufacturers today. If accepted most of the strikers are expected to return to work immediately.

The agreement was reached after ten days of arbitration marked by bitter clashes between representatives of the union and officers of the manufacturers' association. The arbitration was carried on under the supervision of Max Meyer, national labor board representative, and James Mullenbach, NRA arbiter for the Chicago and Milwaukee districts.

Both sides announced they were satisfied with the terms of the settlement. Max Zaritsky, president of Millinery Workers' union, and Miss Carolyn Wolfe, union organizer, asserted that they had won because the manufacturers agree to recognize the union for the first time.

New Wages Announced.

The wages, as fixed by the agreement, average $24 a week, or 60 cents an hour, for hat trimmers and makers. Cutters are to receive $40 a week or $1 an hour. Operators will be paid $34 a week or 85 cents an hour, and blockers will get $44 a week or $1.10 an hour.

The workers are to be allowed to elect a "shop committee" and a price committtte in each plant. These committees will arbitrate grievances and will fix prices for the different types of hats made. The workers are granted the right to hold price fixing conferences with individual plant owners each week. All unsettled disputes will be appealed to a board of arbitration composed of two union representatives, two representatives of the manufacturers, and an impartial chairman chosen by the other four.

Mr. Meyer said that the wage increases are "very fair to both sides." The average wage prior to the beginning of the NRA program was from 30 to 50 per cent less, he said. The manufacturers association has 100 members and includes 95 per cent of all the hat manufacturers in the Chicago area.

The millinery workers' strike was the third called by employés who charged that their employers were not abiding by NRA agreements. It was attended by some violence on the part of pickets at the manufacturing plants. Ten days ago police dispersed 2,000 man and woman pickets with tear gas and arrested 50. All were later released.

90% of Employers Under NRA.

Nearly 90 per cent of the employers in the district supervised by the Chicago office of the United States department of commerce, which embraces Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, are now flying the Blue Eagle, it was reported yesterday by F. L. Roberts, deputy NRA administrator for this district. It is estimated that 1,674,639 workers are affected by these pledges.

A survey shows that 223,114 employers in this area have signed the President's reëmployment agreement signifying their coöperation with the recovery act program. The pledges of 1,165 employers of 3,079 workers were received yesterday by Mr. Roberts.

In Chicago more than 85 per cent of the business houses have signed to abide by the recovery act and approximately 66 per cent of the local buyers and housewives have signed consumer pledges under the NRA, it was announced by George W. Rossetter, general chairman of the Chicago recovery council.

JUDGE CLOAKS NUDE WITH THE MANTLE OF LAW

Injunction Will Protect Working Girl.

Judge Joseph B. David issued an injunction yesterday in the Superior court restraining the south park board and World's Fair officials from draping any artificial flowers over the bosom of the living model in the representation of Manet's painting, "Olympia," in the Streets of Paris, or otherwise interfering with the peepshow.

"I'll issue the injunction," said Judge David at the conclusion of the hearing, "but heaven help the lady if she moves her hand."

The injunction was sought by Catt Mount, proprietor of the show. Peggy Hahn, one of the two models who alternate in the pose, was present in court, but not as an exhibit. She removed a long raincoat during the hearing to disclose an equally concealing high necked dress.

Attorney Norman Becker handed Judge David a pamphlet containing a reproduction of the painting on which the peepshow is based.

Nothing but a Naked Woman.

"Humph," said Judge David, "there's nothing here but a naked woman with her hands over her front. What's objectionable about that?"

"Well," said Attorney J. G. Sheridan, representing the south park board, "a policeman thought it was."

"A policeman?" said Judge David. "Well, I declare! What's his name?"

"Moriarity," replied Attorney Becker.

"Moriarity," snorted Judge David. "Well, now, that's a good one. And so he's an art critic. Well, now, I do declare! Moriarity!"

As Attorney Becker started to read his bill asking the injunction Judge David interjected:

"They have pygmies down at that Fair. I bet no one ever stopped to see how they were dressed. I just bet."

The reading of the bill was accompanied by a running fire of comment from the judge.

"Artistic——" said Attorney Becker.

Hill Billies and Art.

"I bet the hill billies think it's artistic," said the judge.

"——moral, modest and decent——"

"That's her opinion," said Judge David.

"——the policeman ordered flower petals——"

"That policeman must be a gardener," said the judge. "He should be out cutting the grass on the golf course, so I won't lose so many balls. By the way, there have been half naked women in this town for 25 years. The parts they drape make their exhibitions more suggestive."

Thereupon Judge David issued the injunction.

"Just a bunch of idiots go to these places, anyway," he commented. "A bunch of baldheads wanting to feel young again. They're crazy."

NUDIST APOSTLE TELLS OF CAMP NEAR CHICAGO

While Chicagoans lifted their eyebrows at news of the nudist camp raided by the sheriff and his deputies near Allegan, Mich., a few days ago, they were unaware that a similar enterprise is already in operation nearer home. The Rev. Henry S. Huntington, Presbyterian minister and head of the International Nudist conference, here from Scarsdale, N. Y., to tell the World Fellowship of Faiths about nudism as a way to clean minds and better morals, told about it yesterday in the office of Attorney Kenneth Krippene, at 105 West Monroe street.

"I paid a visit to the camp on Wednesday with a group of Chicagoans who believe in the principles of nudism," he explained. "In the group were a consulting scientist, a young engineer and his wife, a young business woman, a Chicago clergyman, and the director of the camp and his wife. We hung our clothes on a hickory limb and enjoyed a most exhilarating game of volleyball, then took a wash down. A chicken house has been remodeled into a dormitory there.

"It is just getting under way, but promises to be a pleasant place to spend a holiday. At present it is in use only on week-ends."

He refused to reveal the location of the camp.

ROBBERS SLUG VICTIM; GET HIS RING AND MONEY

George F. Gunason, 50 years old, 1461 Foster avenue, assistant foreman in the stereotype department at THE TRIBUNE, was severely injured last night by bandits who struck him over the head and robbed him of a ring valued at $500, his watch, and $12.

Gunason was returning to THE TRIBUNE plant from lunch when he was struck from behind by the robbers. When he recovered consciousness some time later he was at the mouth of an alley near State and Ontario streets. A cab driver found him and took him to his home. Policemen from the Chicago avenue station were assigned to search for the bandits.

MacNider Talks

Hanford MacNider, past national commander of the American Legion and former United States minister to Canada, addressed 800 members of the Cook County Council of the American Legion last night at the inauguration ceremony for Commander Edward F. McGinnis at the Medinah Michigan club. Others installed were Matt Murphy, vice-commander; Thomas Clark, finance officer; and Sidney Holzman, sergeant at arms.

Lew Mack, Chef de Gare of the 40 and 8, presided at the banquet and introduced many Legion officials, including Charles C. Kapschull, commander of the Illinois department; James P. Ringley, past department commander; and Joseph de La Cour, past commander of the Cook county council. After the inaugural ceremonies the delegates were entertained by stage and radio stars.

DOCTOR ACCUSED IN GIRL'S DEATH IS FOUND GUILTY

Dr. Archibald Calvin, 7328 Perry avenue, was found guilty of manslaughter and his sentence was fixed at one to fourteen years in the penitentiary last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Francis B. Allegretti. The jury decided against convicting the physician of murder by an illegal operation, on which charge he was tried.

This charge was based on a statement made to the police by Miss Mary Coleman, 7045 Clyde avenue, before she died in Mercy hospital, that Dr. Calvin had performed an illegal operation upon her. In his testimony Dr. Calvin admitted that Miss Coleman had sought treatment at his office, but denied that he had performed an illegal operation.

The jury deliberated for several hours, reaching its verdict late in the afternoon, but the announcement was delayed because of the absence of Judge Allegretti. Dr. Calvin was returned to the county jail pending a hearing on his motion for a new trial on Sept. 21.

SEEKING RABBIT, FINDS $6,000; 12 BOYS HAVE SPREE

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Every boy's dream come true! A streak of money, ten and twenty dollar bills blowing around like dried leaves; sodas and suckers; coats and sweaters; movie tickets, footballs and automobiles, all to be purchased, merely by peeling from a big roll.

This supreme thrill came to four Puyallup boys. One of them, Howard Hanson, 16, crawled under the house left vacant by Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Nelson and found a sack with $6,000, though he only had hoped to recapture his rabbit. The Nelsons are believed to have left last spring for Niehart, Mont.

Astonished by reports of large sums of money being spent during the last week, Frank Chadwick, Puyallup chief of police, rounded up twelve boys last night and learned the source of their wealth.

About $4,300 of the money was recovered, but the rest had vanished. But it had purchased two automobiles—not to mention hamburgers, clothing and a watch.

Four of the boys—Howard Turner, 16; Hanson, Ted Runyan, 16, and Donald Wicks, 12—were brought to the Detention home in Tacoma to be held for the Juvenile court. Eight others were allowed to return to their homes.

NURSE WELTZ HELD FOR SLAYING GRACE OF SHIPPING FAME

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Wilhelmina Weltz, 43 year old nurse, was held to answer to the Superior court today for the slaying of Francis J. Morgan Grace, member of the San Francisco shipping family. After her preliminary examination in police court she was held without bail.

Miss Weltz, silent and wooden of expression, came into court with her brother and sister, William and Meta Weltz of Connellsville, Pa., who arrived by air this morning.

A murder information will be filed within a few days by the district attorney.

FAIR AND LEGION UNLIKELY TO GET ROOSEVELT VISIT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will not attend the American Legion convention in Chicago next month, nor will he see the World's Fair in that city before it closes, it appeared today.

Although no announcement as to the President's plan was forthcoming at the White House, the fact of his acceptance of an invitation to address the National Conference of Catholic Charities in New York City on Oct. 4, and official announcement that he expected to return to Washington on Oct. 5, was taken to mean that Mr. Roosevelt does not plan to go to Chicago. The Legion convention will be held Oct. 2 to 5.

It was explained on behalf of the President that he had promised Cardinal Hayes six months ago that he would address the Catholic conference in New York.

The President declined to open the World's Fair because of the pressure of business in the capital and, although he gave his tentative promise to go to the Fair later, it is considered certain now that he will not go.

BURGLARS TOOLS, 4 MEN, 1 WOMAN SEIZED IN FLAT

Four men and a woman were arrested in a flat at 4356 North Irving avenue last night at the request of the Oak Park police. They are Walter Larson, Frank Lawrence, and John Kelly, alias Wallace, and Kelly's wife, Mary.

The North Robey street police found pistols, shotguns, burglar tools, and nitroglycerin in the flat. They said they had been informed the prisoners were wanted in Oak Park for a safeblowing in which $5,000 was obtained.

Information on the prisoners and the crime was withheld by Lieut. Wilson of the Oak Park forces on the ground that he "didn't want to try his case in the newspapers."

FARLEY YIELDS TO FAIR'S DESIRE TO SALUTE HIM

Waves Job Seekers Away; Sees Sights with Family.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Despite his request for informality, Postmaster General James A. Farley will be given a salute of nineteen guns when he arrives at A Century of Progress Exposition at 11 o'clock this morning.

That is the official greeting for a member of the cabinet, an honor that Mr. Farley did not receive when he opened the Fair on May 27, since on that occasion he substituted for President Roosevelt and therefore was given the presidential salute of twenty-one guns. A second part of his reception this time will be a review of the Camp Whistler troops at the 14th street entrance of the Fair.

The postmaster general reluctantly consented to this display on his behalf, but he succeeded in spending yesterday at the Exposition almost incognito. He asked Fair officials to pay no special attention to him and, with his three children, escaped the interest of other visitors except as just another fond father.

Whole Family Soon at Fair.

Mr. Farley, Mrs. Farley and the young Farleys, Betty, 11 years old; Ann, 8, and James A. Jr., 5, arrived on the Pennsylvania Limited in the morning and went at once to the Congress hotel, where the successful strategy of the Roosevelt convention managers was conducted. But it was not long before the head of the family and the youngsters were on their way toward the Enchanted Island and similar attractions.

The visitor was escorted by the general manager of the Fair, Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, who facilitated the sight seeing materially but was insistent that the established formalities could not be done away with entirely and at best could be postponed for only a day. Even one day's respite was welcomed.

But Mr. Farley, who in addition to being a member of the cabinet is chairman of the Democratic national committee, lost no time in making it known that regardless of the amount of attention showered on him he will not cut down the pleasures of this outing with his family by talking such matters of business as federal patronage.

Blow to Local Chieftains.

A statement to that effect was considered something of a blow to local Democratic chieftains, who had expected to talk over several important appointments with him and, perhaps, to establish a clearer understanding as to where the regular Chicago organization stands at Washington.

Immediately after the election last November National Chairman Farley renewed his earlier assurances that the regulars would control Illinois appointments with the exception of those that were personal selections of President Roosevelt, a category in which is included the appointment of Secretary of the Interior Ickes. But with the passing of six months of the Roosevelt administration the regulars do not feel that they have fared any too well.

They feel that more attention than they had expected is being paid to the wishes of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who, it is understood, withdrew from the rôle of Illinois' favorite son after he had visited Albany, shortly before the convention. That withdrawal irked the Chicago leaders, to whom it came as a surprise, but it is believed to be the basis for the friendly relations between the senator and the administration.

Naming of Harrison a Setback.

Those relations were demonstrated clearly in the awarding of the important post of collector of internal revenue for the Chicago district. The organization put forward State Senator Richey V. Graham and stood by him.

Senator Lewis had agreed with the others upon Graham, but when it was found that Graham was not acceptable he submitted the name of Carter H. Harrison, former mayor, and the appointment was made at once. The regulars were not hostile to Harrison, as they had indorsed him for the post of federal commissioner for the World's Fair, but Washington's putting him into a post they had set aside for Graham indicated their influence was not so strong as they had hoped it would be.

But Chairman Farley said he was not here to talk such matters of patronage, either past or future.

"I get so much of that in Washington," he said, "that I intend to get away from it for a few days and just enjoy myself with my family."

Mr. Farley said he planned to remain in Chicago until tomorrow or Sunday.

SELLS CORN FED FISHWORMS TO PAY WAY TO FAIR

Malcolm MacLeod, 20 years old, of Waterville, Me., financed his trip to A Century of Progress by selling "corn fed" night crawlers to fishermen. The night crawler, MacLeod explained, is a fat angleworm that lurks in grassy places at night after the dew falls. Noting them on the lawn in front of his home, MacLeod procured a torch and captured a large number of the worms, which he sold at one cent each.

"I kept them in a big box of moss and fed them on cornmeal," MacLeod explained. "Other people sold night crawlers, too, but mine were corn fed. That's what brought me the business and got me to the Fair."

Evanston Police Insist Upon NRA Hamburgers

Chief William O. Freeman and all of his men in the Evanston police department have signed consumers' pledges under the NRA. Yesterday the chief, learning that the hamburger stand where the police buy their hamburgers was not displaying an NRA sign, ordered his men to shop elsewhere. The stand posted a sign within a few hours.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

A party of 276 representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company arrived in Chicago yesterday over the New York Central railroad from Toledo, Columbus and Cleveland, O. Parties due to arrive today include nearly 500 employés of the National Carbon Coated Paper company of Sturgis, Mich., and their families, 674 Chrysler and De Soto employés from Detroit, and 270 members of the Jewish Socialist Verband party from New York, all arriving over the Michigan Central road.

The Children's Civic theater of Chicago will present a dance pantomime at the Illinois Host house tonight at 8 o'clock. Eight children will take part in the program, entitled "Oriental Sketches." The Children's Civic theater is sponsored by the Chicago Drama league.

The art display in the Irish Free State exhibit on the second floor of the Travel and Transport building includes portraits and paintings by many noted Irish artists. Art works comprise a large part of the exhibit.

An amateur barkers' contest, open to all except professional Fair barkers, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the Floating theater in the north lagoon at the Fair. Cash prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be awarded.

The fourth annual Boy Scout canoe regatta will be held Sunday in the North lagoon. The regatta, open to all the scouts and troops in Chicagoland, is sponsored by the American Canoe association.

Andy Walsh of Brooklyn, N. Y., who finished second in a one mile run at the World's Fair of 1893, visited the Fair yesterday. Three of the fastest runners of their time participated in the race. The champion, Thomas Conneiff, of Ireland, was beaten by George Orten of Canada. Right on Orten's heels was Walsh, now 65 years old. Walsh was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Ella Keape of Brooklyn. Sergt. Frank Walsh of the detective burau, his nephew, told reporters that his uncle ran a mile in 4:19, a record then on an indoor track.

Venezuela Suppresses News of Heavy Quake

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Venezuelan authorities were reported tonight to have clamped a censorship on news of a prolonged earthquake which rocked the coastal district about Caracas. Word of the quake reached here today through tourists returning from Caracas, who said seven distinct shocks had been felt in one day. Residents, they said, had fled into the streets. No deaths were reported.

SOUTH SIDE GIVES ALL DAY PROGRAM AT FAIR TODAY

Children Enter for Dime Beginning Monday.

Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1933....	87,813
Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1893....	162,291
Total including Sept. 13, 1933 [110 days].................	14,985,093
Total including Sept. 13, 1893 [136 days].................	11,923,974

The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

BY EARL MULLIN.

South side day will be observed at the Fair today, with one of the most elaborate programs yet presented on a neighborhood day. Today is also the last of the 5 cent children's days at the Exposition, during which those under 12 years of age are admitted at the cut rate. Starting Monday, a flat rate of 10 cents will be in effect for the children every day.

The pageantry of the day's program, plus the influx of children drawn by the last day of 5 cent admissions, is expected again to push the Fair attendance past the 150,000 mark. Despite the cold weather and occasional rains of the last week the attendance has been such as to cheer officials. With more than 80 per cent of the visitors out of town people, yesterday's admissions totaled 78,594 at 11:30 p. m.

Welcome 15,000,000th Visitor.

The fifteen millionth visitor entered the grounds yesterday. At the same time at the old Fair, despite the fact the gates had opened a month earlier, the paid admissions totaled only 11,923,974. In the remaining 47 days of the old Fair 9,556,167 paid admissions were recorded. The same number of days remain for the present Exposition. If the attendance merely keeps up with the old Fair, and so far it has surpassed it, the final at the 1933 Exposition would be in the neighborhood of 25,000,000 paid admissions.

The honor guest yesterday was Miss Laura Edith Frech, 22 years old, College Hill, O. She arrived shortly after 11 a. m. and was greeted by officials of the Fair, and later taken on a tour of the grounds. Several prizes were awarded her.

Only 47 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair

The neighborhood program today opens at 10 a. m. and continues until the gates close. Among the high lights of the day are band concerts, a mothers' chorus of 1,500 voices, athletic contests, a parade at 3 p. m. The program will open in the court of the Hall of Science and during the day will be presented in the Court of States, the Travel and Transport building, the floating theater and in the streets of the Fair.

Name "Miss South Side" Today.

"Miss South Side" will be chosen at 2 o'clock this afternoon from among 18 girls who won neighborhood titles at as many theaters. After the queen is selected by five judges headed by Lorado Taft, famous sculptor, at the Court of States, the entire group will be treated to a round of entertainment at the Fair lasting until midnight.

At 7 o'clock "Miss South Side" will be presented with a cup in the court of the Hall of Science. The contest was sponsored by south side business men and civic organizations.

Two outstanding events took place yesterday at the Fair. In the evening the French-Canadian program was presented in the Court of States with a speaking and musical program in French. A group of five hundred Quebec province officials came to Chicago on Wednesday to participate in this event.

Several hundred persons who visited the Fair of 1893 paraded into the Fair grounds aboard old coaches and dressed in the costumes in vogue at the old Fair. Prior to the entrance into the grounds they were brought to the Roosevelt road station from the South Chicago station on the Illinois Central railroad on a train drawn by an engine in use in 1893. All of the rolling stock is now on exhibit at the Wings of a Century show at the Fair. A luncheon was given for the old timers at the A. and P. carnival and there was a reception by Fair officials.

PARETICS CURED BY FEVER; FEWER IN HOSPITAL NOW

Therapy Convention Hears of Gains in Illinois.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Artificial fever as the antidote for a certain type of insanity was described yesterday to one section of the American Congress of Physical Therapy at the Palmer house by Ralph H. Kuhns of the State Psychopathic institute at Elgin. By this means patients afflicted with paresis are now being discharged faster than they are received, to the benefit of the taxpayers' pocketbooks, he said.

Paretics compose from 10 to 20 per cent of all mental cases going from Cook county to the three state hospitals, at Elgin, Kankakee, and Dunning, Dr. Kuhn said. Each handles about 4,000 persons, three-quarters of whom come from Cook county. Since the artificial fever treatment was inaugurated two years ago a large number have been restored to their homes and to society, physically and mentally improved.

"Paresis was formerly considered a hopeless disease," Dr. Kuhn said. "Victims were committed to state hospitals and there cared for by public funds until death. Now the medical profession can offer some hope for paretics, and the state has hope that paresis wards need not continue to be enlarged indefinitely."

Routs Toxins, Stimulates Glands.

The usual method of inducing a high fever in the patient under treatment is by application of electric currents. The heat stimulates the action of the various mechanisms of the body, causing the elimination of toxins by speeding up the circulation and the action of various glands and organs. It also destroys germs which are unable to withstand certain temperatures which the body may resist without harm. Some patients have had a fever induced of as high as 108 with no harmful effects.

In from 25 to 50 per cent of the cases treated such favorable results were obtained by hyperpyrexia that the patients returned home, according to Dr. Kuhn, and approximately 75 per cent of the paretics showed definite improvement.

The same method of applying artificial fever was extensively discussed in the symposium on arthritis in another section. Dr. Bernard L. Wyatt of the Wyatt clinic at Tucson, Ariz., reminded his group that the extent of disorders caused by arthritis and similar diseases is exceeded "only by accidents, which cause 5 per cent more invalidity, while tuberculosis accounts for less than half as much, and cancer less than one-tenth."

Hydrotherapy for Arthritis.

Hydrotherapy in the treatment of arthritis was the topic of both Dr. John D. Currence, instructor in medicine at Columbia university, and Dr. Maurice F. Lautman of the Levi Memorial hospital at Hot Springs, Ark. Both stressed the beneficial results of hot baths, Dr. Currence warning especially against the patient's tendency, in these days of depression, to attempt to treat himself without the supervision of a capable physician.

"Too many people think they have only to go home, get into as hot a bath as they can stand, and lie there until they are exhausted," he explained. "They need the advice of a physician to tell them what temperature their blood pressure can stand, and then to abide by that advice. After leaving the bath they should bundle up in bed and perspire further to rid their bodies of the toxin that causes the pain."

Dr. Disraeli Kobak of the University of Chicago medical school described an "invisible light," known as ultraviolet fluorescence, by which the operating surgeon can more readily detect which bodily tissue is cancerous and which is normal. The malignant tissue, he stated, has a different color under the light from the normal.

Outside the scientific field this "invisible light" has been used to detect messages sent into prisons, these being letters written on paper saturated with morphine. It has also been applied in the bootlegging industry, where impure or bootleg whisky containing acetone can be detected because that substance shows up under its radiance.

Boy Is Fatally Scalded; Mother Also Is Victim

Mrs. Stephanie Marczak, 24 years old, 8250 Buffalo avenue, was severely burned and her 5 year old son, Peter, was fatally burned last night in the kitchen of their home. The mother was rendering lard on the gas stove when some of the hot fluid boiled over and became ignited. The child's clothing caught fire. He died in the South Shore hospital. Mrs. Marczak was burned on the face and hands in trying to aid him.

SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS TO SETTLE RENT DISPUTES

Four Lessees Default on Total of $94,410.

President James B. McCahey of the board of education announced plans yesterday for negotiations to settle rent controversies with ten lessees of school property in the loop. Four of the lessees have refused to pay rent totaling $94,410 to the school board for use of the property during recent months.

Until early this year the four lessees had been paying rent on the basis of the 1915 appraisal, which was the same as that of 1905. The 1925 appraisal, worked out by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, Albert Wetten, and Paul Steinbrecher, declared that the values had increased 100 per cent. Lessees contested the appraisal and the Supreme court declared it invalid a year ago and remanded the case to the Superior court, where it is still pending.

Default on Payments.

In defaulting on the payment of rent four lessees of the ten involved in the litigation acted on the advice of their attorney, Samuel Ettelson. These four lessees, the properties, and the amounts of the rent default in each case are as follows:

Estate of Daniel F. Crilly at 31-41 South Dearborn street:
Feb. 8 to May 7	$15,228
May 8 to Aug. 7	15,228
Aug. 8 to Nov. 7	15,228
Total	$45,684
The 32 State Street Building corporation at 32-34 South State street:
Feb. 8 to May 7	$ 9,676
May 8 to Aug. 7	9,676
Aug. 8 to Nov. 7	9,676
Total	$29,028
Rosalie Cavanna at 20-22 South State street:
May 8 to Aug. 7	$ 5,011
Aug. 8 to Nov. 7	5,011
Total	$10,022
Macey Securities company at 16 South State street:
May 8 to Aug. 7	$ 4,838
Aug. 8 to Nov. 7	4,838
Total	$ 9,676
Grand total unpaid	$94,410

Acting on orders of Mr. McCahey, Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school system, called Attorney Ettelson on the telephone yesterday and told him that the board refused to negotiate with his clients unless the back rent was paid.

"I told him," Mr. Savage said, "that this board had the courage to say yes or no and go through with it."

Mr. Savage said that Leonard Ettelson, brother of Samuel, called later and arranged for a meeting with him this morning.

To Seek Rental Accord.

Mr. McCahey said that when the back rents were paid the school trustees would meet with the lessees to reach an agreement on rentals if possible. A special committee to investigate the leases has been appointed, consisting of Trustees Andrew O. Jackson, chairman, Harry Solomon, Charles W. Fry, Joseph J. Salat and Mrs. W. S. Heffernan.

The leases in controversy were for 99 years and were first entered into by a school board in 1880. Provision was included that a revaluation should be made each 10 years for the purpose of determining the rent for the following decade. The result has been litigation each 10 years.

In January of this year Hyde W. Perce and G. W. Kunstman, appraisers employed by the board, brought in a report after investigating the income and operating expenses of the buildings on the school property during the period between 1925 and 1933. Approximately $600,000 would be due to the board in back rent if the lessees agreed to accept this report, which they did not.

BEG YOUR PARDON

W. P. Day, acting official in charge of the United States weather bureau, calls attention to an error in the weather tabulation published on Sept. 12, which mentioned precipitation of .94 of an inch. The precipitation was .15 of an inch.

Relatives of Policeman Patrick J. Ryan, for whose murder Peter [Piccolo Pete] Pace was convicted Wednesday, said yesterday that testimony at the trial to the effect that Policeman Ryan was off duty when he was killed was incorrect. He was on duty and had dropped into the saloon of Edward Bergman, at 3328 Armitage avenue, where he was killed, to use a washroom, they said.

In a dispatch from Washington in THE TRIBUNE yesterday reporting on the cost of government in Illinois the statement was made that "Completion of the survey of Illinois state expenses and taxes showed, however, that the tax burden and government spending were much lighter in New York."

This was an error. It should have said that "the tax burden and government spending were much lighter than in New York."

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Col. H. M. Trippe, Milwaukee, district army engineer, at a meeting held here today of Twin City harbor commissions and boat shippers, heard Marinette's plea for $250,000 to carry on harbor improvements.

RETIRED SCHOOL TEACHERS AREN'T QUALIFIED: BOGAN

Fail to Meet Standards Set by Reorganization.

The 1,368 teachers who were placed on the temporarily retired list Monday by the school board in the execution of its $5,000,000 economy program are out of work because they are not qualified to hold positions in the school system as it has been reorganized, Supt. William J. Bogan said yesterday.

There was no discrimination in his recommendations of the teachers to be placed on waiting lists, he added. Even though their positions were abolished, those junior high school teachers and teachers of special subjects in the elementary schools who held certificates as regular teachers in high or elementary schools have been retained. Those placed on the waiting list lacked these certificates.

446 Fail to Qualify.

Mr. Bogan's report to the board Wednesday showed that of the 1,348 junior high school teachers, 446, while they drew higher salaries than elementary teachers of the same experience, had failed to qualify themselves for positions in the elementary schools. It was this group which was placed on the waiting list. The 191 junior high teachers who held high school certificates and the 711 who hold elementary certificates will be placed in schools for which they are qualified.

Similarly, of the 220 special physical education teachers in elementary schools, only eight held certificates for general instruction in those schools and were thus enabled to hold their jobs. Of 437 elementary manual training, household arts, and printing teachers, only 24 have general certificates.

The school board, however, has made special provision for assisting these teachers in qualifying themselves to teach in the reorganized system. They are on a temporary leave of absence status, and special intensive courses will be offered at Chicago Normal college, which was not disturbed by the reorganization, to qualify them for the type of positions which will be opened at the rate of about 600 a year by deaths, resignations, and other causes.

Certificates Are Void.

Frank S. Righeimer, attorney for the school board, has advised the board that with the abolition of junior high schools and the special instruction in elementary schools, certificates for this type of instruction are null and void. When the teachers who qualify for vacancies in the school system go back to work, however, their seniority rights will be preserved.

The senior high school physical education instructors form a striking contrast to the teachers laid off in the elementary and junior high schools. Their number was cut in half by the economy order, which normally would have left 104 of them without jobs. However, all of these physical education teachers also held certificates to teach general academic subjects in high schools. Forty of them were required to teach physical education classes in the former junior high schools which were transformed to senior highs. The remainder will teach academic subjects.

The enormous benefit to the school children, in the way of more comfortable and efficient quarters, of the economy and reorganization program was stressed yesterday by Mr. Bogan.

The board offices were deluged yesterday with telephone calls from hundreds of teachers asking if they still have jobs and where they are to be assigned. The complete list of those for whom there are no jobs was made public at the meeting Wednesday, but all of the assignment lists have not been completed.

SENTENCE OWNER OF CAFE TO JAIL FOR PANDERING

Theodore Economakos, 40 years old, a paroled convict and owner with his brother, Nick, of a restaurant at 1177 South State street, was sentenced to a year in the bridewell and fined $1,000 yesterday by Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry, after a jury had convicted him of pandering.

The complainant was Miss Margaret La Gette, 28 years old, a nurse. She testified that Economakos met her at a bus station when she came to Chicago a year ago and lured her to his restaurant with an offer of employment. There he beat her frequently, she said, and forced her to occupy a room above the restaurant, to which he took men whom he solicited in the restaurant.

Economakos was paroled from Joliet penitentiary, where he was serving a sentence for receiving stolen property, on July 14, 1931. A charge of burglary is still pending against him. Judge McGarry said that Economakos will be sent back to prison as a parole violator when he has finished his Bridewell term. Capt. George O'Connor of the South State street police, who caused his arrest, said that he will inform immigration authorities and ask them to send Economakos, an alien, back to Greece when he leaves prison.

Nick Economakos, the brother, is to be tried today on Miss La Gette's charges.

ACCEPT SEWAGE PLANT BID; WORK AWAITS U. S. LOAN

A bid of $147,862 for construction of an experimental sewage treatment plant at the west side sanitary district works in Stickney was accepted by the sanitary trustees yesterday at their regular meeting. Malcolm J. Boyle & Co. was the successful bidder. The contract will be let and construction started if and when the federal government provides the money under a loan the district is seeking.

The trustees accepted a bid of $9,550 by the Tully-Costello Construction company for removing obstructions from the Des Plaines river between Oak Park, River Forest, Maywood, and Riverside and authorized a contract on condition that the company accept payment in tax anticipation warrants.

A delegation of twenty officials and engineers of Oak Park, Cicero, Berwyn, and other western suburbs appeared before the trustees, urging that some of the federal funds the trustees are seeking be used for construction of the $13,000,000 intercepting sewer the suburbs have been seeking for seven years. Trustee Ross A. Woodhull promised that the project would be given consideration providing all the anticipated federal funds need not be applied to the Chicago sewage treatment works ordered by the United States Supreme court.

FIFTH HOODLUM FOUND GUILTY; GETS 6 MONTHS

Jury Is Chosen to Try Spike O'Donnell.

While Edward [Spike] O'Donnell was trying to make a joke of the new vagabond law and thereby escape a six months' sentence yesterday, Michael Messina, called a mad dog by Supervising Police Captain John Stege, was tried on the same charge, convicted and put in the Bridewell, all in 2 hours and 10 minutes. Messina's conviction was the fifth in the drive to jail known hoodlums and other persons with criminal reputations.

Messina was found guilty by a jury in the Felony court of Judge Thomas A. Green. O'Donnell is on trial before Judge Frank M. Padden, with Chief of Detectives Schoemaker in charge of the prosecution. Judge Padden was assigned to hear cases of defendants under the criminal reputation law who asked for a change of venue from Judge Green. O'Donnell obtained such a change.

Spike Full of Optimism.

Most of yesterday's session in Judge Padden's court was taken up in disposing of motions and selecting a jury which will decide whether O'Donnell is a vagabond. Spike put in an early appearance, full of optimism because his alleged bodyguard, Sanford [Gimp] Rosenbaum, was not convicted the night before, due to the disagreement of the jury.

O'Donnell had occupied the limelight as a character witness for Gimp and he bragged that he could "sell Spike to the jury" also. He was going to take an active part in the questioning of prospective jurors, he boasted, and he intended to make his own argument to the jury instead of leaving it to his attorney, Jay J. McCarthy.

He announced he would call his mother, wife, and three children as witnesses to prove that he is not a habitual criminal or an associate of habitual criminals as charged by the state.

Setback for O'Donnell.

O'Donnell's first setback came when Judge Padden refused to permit him to question any of the veniremen. So long as he had a lawyer the judge ruled he would not be permitted to act in his own defense. Spike laughed a few minutes later, however, when a venireman admitted he was prejudiced against one policeman. Asked to explain, he said:

"I'm prejudiced against that fellow," pointing to Chief Schoemaker. "I was in a place drinking one time and he backed the patrol wagon up and took us all in."

The venireman was excused. Although Spike did not question any jurymen, those he indicated a dislike for were challenged by Attorney McCarthy.

Attorney McCarthy asked if the jurymen would be prejudiced against Spike because there is a crime drive on at present. He told them Spike is in sympathy with the drive and that he wants all hoodlums, gunmen, gangsters and racketeers run out of the city or put in jail.

Chief Schoemaker Testifies.

When the jury was obtained late in the afternoon, Prosecutor Frank S. Righeimer Jr. called Chief Schoemaker as the first state witness. Schoemaker said he had known the defendant thirteen or fourteen years, and had seen him forty or fifty times, "mostly when he was a prisoner at the detective bureau." He said Spike had a reputation as a habitual violator of the law, one who usually carried a gun. He said he had never arrested O'Donnell himself.

After Policeman Martin Connolly, who once arrested Spike and found him armed, had testified, court adjourned for the day.

Messina's Trial Short.

The trial of Messina before Judge Green was one of the briefest in the current drive on hoodlums. Attorney George Beiber defended Messina and Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle prosecuted. The jurors were questioned only briefly by Judge Green.

Police gave their testimony against Messina and then he walked to the witness stand and denied that he bore a bad reputation or that he was either a habitual criminal or the associate of criminals.

"When do you violate the laws?" the prosecutor asked.

"Only when I'm hard pressed for money," Messina answered.

Attorney Beiber protested that the witness hadn't understood the question. But when Beiber asked Messina the same question he received the same answer.

Unable to Make Bond.

The jury was out only a few minutes and returned with a verdict of guilty. Unable to obtain an appeal bond Messina was sent to jail immediately to begin serving a six months' sentence.

Judge Lambert K. Hayes, sitting in the South State street jury court, yesterday declared he would not send a man to jail merely because of a bad reputation and dismissed a vagabond charge against Calvin Royster, 310 East 46th street, colored, who, police said, is a pickpocket and an habitual criminal. Against the advice of his lawyer, Royster pleaded guilty.

"Yes, Judge, I admit it," he said to Judge Hayes. "I know my reputation is bad."

"I advise you to change your plea," Judge Hayes told him. "You have paid the penalty for your past crimes."

On a plea of not guilty the charge was dismissed.

SLAIN IN HOLDUP OF STORE

A Negro robber last evening shot and killed Kenneth Sutherland, 65 years old, 1706 Byron street, in the delicatessen store of Edwin Burnett at 4154 North Clark street. The shooting was witnessed by Katherine Farrell, 14 years old, granddaughter of Sutherland.

A few minutes later, as the Negro emerged from Graceland cemetery, where he fled after the shooting, he was ordered to halt by Policeman Frank Bychowski of the Town Hall station. Instead of obeying the robber fired at Bychowski. The policeman returned the fire, wounding the fugitive three times in the body and capturing him.

The prisoner, possibly fatally hurt, was taken to the American hospital. He said he was William Crawford, 37 years old, 4732 South Dearborn street.

The shooting in the store took place after the owner, Burnett, was ordered by the bandit to raise his hands. Sutherland, who was the father-in-law of Burnett, seized a shotgun in the rear of the store and tried to shoot the Negro. The latter, however, held Burnett in front of him as a shield until he could shoot the older man.

Policeman Bychowski was shot and wounded in an encounter with robbers at 700 Irving Park boulevard in April and had returned to duty only about a week ago.

The presentation was made aboard the American Banker, his present command.

CHILDREN TAKE STAND AT TRIAL OF MRS. SCHECK

State Accuses Mother in Police Slaying.

A son and a daughter of Mrs. Rose Scheck, mother of John Scheck, who is under sentence of death for the murder of Policeman John Sevick, were forced under cross-examination yesterday in Judge Harry B. Miller's Criminal court to help the prosecution complete its chain of circumstantial evidence against their mother. Mrs. Scheck is being tried for the murder of Policeman Sevick on the theory that she was an accessory before the fact and under the Illinois law is as guilty as a principal in the crime.

Mrs. Scheck, who herself took the witness stand late in the afternoon, is accused of having smuggled a snub nose revolver to her son while he was in a detention room adjoining the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop. It was the gun John Scheck used to kill Sevick.

Case to Reach Jury Today.

The defense practically closed its case yesterday evening with the testimony of Mrs. Scheck. John also testified during the day. The case will be given to the jury some time this afternoon.

One of the issues in the trial is a black purse in which the state contends the revolver was smuggled to Scheck. Carl Grundhoefer, who testified that he was forced to make the attempted escape with Scheck, said the revolver was slipped in in this manner, but he could not say who did it.

Joseph Scheck, 16 years old, was called as a witness by the defense. He said he did not see his mother give anything to his now condemned brother. Mary Scheck, an older sister, came next. Her testimony was practically the same.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan cross-examined both witnesses and forced them to deny that they had given a revolver to their brother. He then questioned them regarding the black purse. Joseph Scheck refused to be specific, although finally admitting that his mother had several purses and that all were black.

Mary Scheck admitted under questioning that her mother carried a black purse on the day she visited John. As soon as she made the statement she bit her lips as though realizing she had unwittingly helped the prosecutor to forge a link in his chain of circumstantial evidence.

John Scheck then took the stand. He was handcuffed to a bailiff as he sat in the witness chair, his guard beside him. Another bailiff stood at the other side of the chair. The mother, who up to this time had sat quietly in her chair, rested her head on the back of a chair in front of her and began to weep. She cried throughout John's testimony as he attempted to convince the jury that he had been given the revolver by some one named "Pretty Boy" Floyd.

CRIME DRIVE PICKS UP

The judges of the Criminal court who are engaged in the crime war under the leadership of Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan displayed more activity yesterday than at any time since the opening of the fall term of court, a week ago Monday. They imposed nine penitentiary sentences to bring the total to 278 since the war was started by Judge John Prystalski as chief justice of the court. Those sentenced yesterday were:

LESTER KIDD and ANTHONY DE LORDO, 23, sentenced to 1 to 14 years each on a charge of assault to murder Policeman James Kelly of the south park system. Kelly tried to apprehend them after they robbed the cashier of the Sidney Wanzer & Sons dairy, 130 West Garfield boulevard.

SAM SOLITORI, 45, sentenced to one year by Judge Michael Feinberg for attacking a 13 year old girl.

ANTHONY RENKALA, 20, sentenced to 1 to 20 years by Judge Walter L. La Buy for stealing an automobile from Harry W. Schow on June 26.

JAMES PAPPAS, 38, sentenced to one year to life by Judge Donald McKinlay. He was one of three men who robbed James B. Waller, 5506 North Sawyer, of $5 on April 5.

LEROY TEAMER, 17; SYLVESTER EVANS, 19; JAMES SUBLETTE, 19, and CARLOS RHODES, 19, each sentenced to one year to life by Judge Sullivan for robbery. They committed a series of robberies of Kroger and A. and P. grocery stores and Walgreen drug stores. They pleaded guilty after Judge Sullivan threatened to try them on all cases and make the senetnces consecutive.

In Judge Walter LaBuy's court a jury early today convicted a man of manslaughter. The trial began yesterday. The case was that of Joseph De Vito, 22 years old, charged with being a participant in the murder of Homer Barnhart on March 31, 1931. The slaying occurred after an argument over an automobile accident. Angelo Masso, who confessed he fired the shot that killed Barnhart, has already pleaded guilty and is to be sentenced tomorrow.

De Vito, on the witness stand, testified that Masso had fired the fatal shot. Harvey Scheiber, 22 years old, also indicted in the same case, corroborated De Vito's testimony. Prosecutor John Leonard Murphy did not ask for the death penalty, but demanded a sentence of life imprisonment. The jury, however, brought in a verdict of manslaughter and fixed De Vito's punishment at from 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary.

the Machado government by Prof. Howard Lee McBain of Columbia university. Prof. McBain's services were obtained by Machado.

Meanwhile political negotiations and labor troubles became more pronounced and the air was filled with rumors that another coup d'état is to be pulled in a short time. At the palace guards were doubled and machine guns and sandbags were again set up commanding the approaches and gates.

Tighten Siege at Hotel.

The military siege of the National hotel, where 450 army and navy officers are massed, was clamped on stronger. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Col. Fulgencio Batista, chief of staff of the army, ordered visitors barred from the hotel.

The only exceptions were United States Ambassador Sumner Welles, and newspaper correspondents carrying military passes. Automobiles were stopped by the soldiers at the hillside roadway approach and turned away.

The officers, who were deposed in an army revolt led by sergeants ten days ago in which President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes was pushed out, announced they had not changed their attitude one whit. They insist they will not return to their commands under the present government of President Grau San Martin, which they term communistic. They also demand stipulations for reorganization of the army, which they call sovietized.

Gen. Armando Montes, chief of staff under De Cespedes, was arrested by the soldiers at the approaches to the hotel. He was charged with encouraging the officers to start another coup to overthrow the present government. Gen. Montes was taken to Cabanas fortress but was freed by orders of Col. Julio Aguado, secretary of war and the navy, who considered the reports of Gen. Montes' activities false.

Workers in wholesale groceries and packing houses went on strike today threatening to paralyze the distribution of food.

Telephone and electrical companies are being hit by a strike of consumers who refused to pay their bills unless the rates are reduced. Revenues are being withheld and reports are that there are two utilities which have only six weeks' funds on hand.

Riot at Santiago.

From the other end of the island, at Santiago de Cuba, came word of several street riots today, with communist elements looting private residences in search of food. Stores, too, were broken into. The country club, which is American property, was attacked as a protest against the presence of United States warships in Cuban waters. Considerable damage was done.

The American consul at Santiago went to Cristo in Oriente province today to intercede in behalf of 12 American officials of the Cristo manganese mines. The officials are being held prisoners by striking employés.

Pegler Finds Cuban Fleet at New York to Establish Peace and Order in U.S.A.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Led by the flagship Sloppy Joe, the Cuban grand fleet arrived in New York harbor today and anchored under the frowning battlements of Castle William on a mission to restore order in the United States, supervise the establishment of a stable government and protect Cuban nationals and property. Considerable indignation ensued among the native population of the city and crowds gathered along the Battery wall in an ominous mood.

Hotheads among the populace improvised banners bearing such devices as "Free the United States of Cuban Domination" and "Don't point your Cuban guns at the heads of free American citizens."

No untoward acts had occurred this evening, but Mr. O'Brien, the mayor of the city, sent a delegation off on the quaint municipal launch Macon to call on Rear Admiral José Mario Perfecto, commander of the Cuban force, and warn him that the pride of the American people would be seriously offended by any landing of Cuban marines.

The Cuban officer said he would communicate with his government in Havana, but refused to withdraw from his position in the harbor. Other Cuban naval forces arrived at Baltimore, Atlantic City and New Haven, seat of Yale university, where the students were said to be actively resentful. Parties of students paraded in the streets of New Haven and gathered on the waterfront to shout disrespectful remarks at the Cuban marines equipped for a landing, who were visible on the decks of the vessels in Long Island sound a short distance offshore.

The Cuban government had been advised that these Yale students had come under the influence of communist agitators, but one student leader indignantly denied Red inclinations and said their motives were purely patriotic. He insisted that the United States should be allowed to work out its own problems and said Cuba had no more right to interfere in the affairs of a free American people than the United States would have to send a fleet to Havana.

"How would the Cubans take it if the United States government were to send an armed force into Havana harbor and anchor under Moro castle?" he demanded in a fiery address to a group of enthusiastic students and New Haven working people.

The Cuban government has been alarmed for some time over an increasing disorder in the United States and the deplorable poverty arising from unemployment and the muddlings of finances not only in the federal government but in many of the cities. Many Cuban citizens invested in American municipal and county bond issues which are now in default, if not actually repudiated, and the Cuban state department naturally would like to advise with the American officials in the rehabilitation of the financial system for the protection of these Cuban investors.

However, the chief reason or pretext behind the mission of the Cuban fleet is the increase in acts of violence in the U. S. A.

"The Cuban government looks with sympathetic alarm upon the inability of the constituted authorities of the United States to cope with the problem of lawlessness," said a spokesman for the admiral this evening. "The Lindbergh kidnaping, the brigandage in the cities and in the middle and southwest where kidnapers, bank robbers, and holdup men have created a reign of terror, the agrarian riots in Iowa, Wisconsin and New York all serve to arouse the neighborly solicitude of the Cuban government.

"Our people have only feelings of warm friendship for the people of the United States, but when a party of Iowa farmers kidnaped a judge from his court and threatened to lynch him it was the belief of the Cuban government that assistance should be sent to take over the administration of justice and enforce the peace for the benefit of the Americans themselves.

"Our forces, if it should be deemed necessary to land them, will demand that all civilians who possess firearms shall surrender them. Notorious outlaws, many of whom walk the streets of U. S. cities with perfect impunity in defiance of the authorities, whose power seems to have broken down, will be arrested on sight and tried by court-martial. Orderly citizens will not be molested but meetings will be forbidden until order is restored to prevent inflammatory utterances by communistic agitators.

"It is our great desire to restore the finances of the United States and its cities and counties to a sound basis, and for this purpose expert economists will be sent in from Havana to take over the national treasury as well as the financial affairs of New York and Chicago, the two principal cities, whose credit has been allowed to get into bad shape under the administration of the native officials. We have heard substantial rumors of graft in these cities and the Cuban people wish to help free their American cousins from the rapacity of corrupt or incompetent officials. These Cuban economists will work hand in hand with Cuban military and naval officers who should be able to restore public order in a short time.

"It is the earnest hope of the Cuban people that the Americans will coöperate with the Cuban forces in this altruistic work, but if the coöperation is not forthcoming emphatic measures may be required in order that Cuba may not be accused of neglecting her manifest duty to prevent the development of a situation which would be dangerous to the peace of the entire North and South American continents.

"The governments of the European powers also have interests at stake, including the safety of their nationals in the United States. They look to the government of Cuba to meet its responsibility as the guarantor of the peace in this part of the world."

The American citizens seemed unpersuaded by such arguments.

"The Cubans have plenty to do if they look after their own affairs and let us take care of ours," said Mayor O'Brien this evening. "It is true that we have had unfortunate acts of violence but these were the work of the lawless element whom we call hoodlums. But is Cuba free of robbery and murder? I am sure she is not. Our finances could be better also, but I understand that Cuban finances are in bad shape, too. If we want our finances straightened out by foreign help we certainly are not going to ask the expert advice of a country whose plight is just as bad as ours. The Cuban investors who bought American bonds will have to take their chances with all other investors. It looks to me as if they just made a bad investment, and now their government sends around a fleet to act as collector for them."

CAPITAL KEEPS ANXIOUS EYE ON AFFAIRS IN CUBA

New Reports of Disorder Keep Ships There.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Reiterating a determination to avoid intervention in Cuba at any cost except serious threat to American lives, the administration kept anxious watch today over sporadic disturbances in widely spread sections of the island.

Although the high peak of tension here apparently had been lowered, the Washington government clearly was disturbed over disorders to the south and east of Havana.

Secretary Hull at a meeting with newspaper men showed some pleasure in reporting that an army sergeant at Santiago, one of the trouble spots, had guaranteed protection for American lives and property.

Warship Will Stay.

The American warship there would not be removed, however, Hull added, until complete assurance of safety had been given by the consul and the naval officer in charge. He made clear no such word had been received.

The secretary of state told newspaper men the test of whether ships would be withdrawn or maintained at any one particular point was whether American lives might become endangered there on short notice.

Tax Collections Lag.

Unofficial reports here continued to tell of financial difficulties within the new government. Tax collections in Cuba have been virtually at a standstill during the last month.

Hull said reports coming to the state department through diplomatc channels indicated disorders at Cristo and Antilla, the disruption of business at Matanzas and Cienfuegos, communist parades at Camaguey and Manzanillo and two governors within the same province of Santa Clara.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $537,825, making a total of $67,202,709 collected since the enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act was started on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Sept. 14........	$ 9,018	$ 60,065
Uncollected	17,575,633	47,461,140
	1930.	1931.
Sept. 14........	$ 148,858	$ 319,884
Uncollected	73,916,288	79,616,040

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $1,411.

A court audit of the books of the St. James Apartment hotel, at 444 St. James place, to determine whether all the net income is being used to pay delinquent taxes, was ordered yesterday by County Judge Jarecki. The hotel last June avoided the appointment of the county treasurer as receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act by agreeing to make monthly payments to clear up a tax indebtedness of $41,000.

Since that time $5,400 has been paid and another $3,500 was paid yesterday. Assistant State's Attorney William T. Crilly, in charge of the tax collection department of the state's attorney's office, requested the audit, however, and Judge Jarecki ordered it.

"I want my accountant to look over the books," the judge said, "to see if the county is getting all the revenue it should. If necessary, all employés of the hotel will be subpœnaed into court."

Attorney Vernon Welch, representing a bondholders' committee which operates the hotel, assured the court that the hotel management would coöperate in the audit. He said that all the next income was being applied on the tax bill. Under a trust agreement the Chicago Title and Trust company collects the rents.

AWARDED DIVORCE

IRENE BILLER.

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Testimony of Irene Biller, Hungarian actress, that her husband, Sam Fengl, New York surgical supply dealer, called her an unprintable name, aided her to win an interlocutory divorce before Superior Judge Thomas Gould. Portions of her testimony were corroborated by Paul Lukas, Hungarian screen actor. A property settlement had been effected out of court.

5 AUTO DEATHS INCREASE 1933 TOTAL TO 731

Walter Ready Jr. Freed After Car Kills Boy.

Five fatalities resulting from automobile accidents yesterday and early today increased the 1933 motor death toll in Cook county to 731.

Walter Ready, 4728 Greenwood avenue, 18 year old son of the head of the Ready Coal and Construction company, was released upon making a statement to police last night after his car struck and killed a 7 year old boy at 55th street and Washtenaw avenue. The boy was Edwin Thezan, 5612 South Mozart street.

Young Ready and a companion, Stanley Kresal, 1015 East 47th street, said they were returning from the Chicago airport when the boy darted out from between two parked automobiles. They took him to the Holy Cross hospital but he was already dead.

Driver Blameless, Police Decide.

The Chicago Lawn police said the accident appeared to have been the fault of the boy. An inquest will be held this morning.

A World's Fair visitor, Mrs. Myrta Burns, 56 years old, of Eau Claire, Mich., was killed when she was struck by a car driven by Antone La Tulipp of Cloquett, Minn., another Fair visitor. Mrs. Burns, who was staying at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Floyd King, 1422 Darrow avenue, Evanston, attempted to cross Michigan avenue at Roosevelt road against the traffic signal, according to La Tulipp. He was held for the inquest.

Three Other Victims.

The other three victims were:

Harold Cox, 32 years old, 8242 Knox avenue, Niles Center. Died early today at St. Francis hospital, Evanston, from injuries received on Sept. 6, when the car in which he was riding at Crawford avenue and Cleveland street, Niles Center, was struck by a machine driven by Miss Margaret Black, 21, of 4114 North Springfield avenue.

Joseph Keslik, 42 years old, 3353 Montrose avenue. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred early yesterday when he was struck by a truck at Diversey and Moody avenues. The driver, John Haselgruber, 2009 Roscoe street, was charged with reckless driving by the Cragin police.

Henry Tonsbruck, 42 years old, 4710 North Whipple street. Fatally injured when an automobile struck the bicycle he was riding last evening at Dodge avenue and Oakton street, Evanston. The driver of the car, George Pitts, 22 years old, 550 Custer avenue, Evanston, drove away from the scene of the accident, but surrendered to the police later.

Edwin Payne, 25 years old, a member of the faculty of the Illinois School of Foot Surgery and Chiropody, was severely injured yesterday in an automobile collision near Huntington, Ind.

William J. Schoemaker, 6234 Nordica avenue, a son of Chief of Detectives Schoemaker, was seriously injured early today when his automobile collided with a milk truck at Lawrence and Western avenues. The truck was owned by the Lake Shore Dairy company and driven by Walter Nauman, 24 years old, 4616 North Kilbourn avenue. Both drivers were taken to the Ravenswood hospital. Schoemaker is a policeman attached to his father's office.

UPTON SINCLAIR PLANS TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR ON DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—For nearly four decades a socialist, Upton Sinclair, novelist and pamphleteer, expects to change his registration to Democratic and run for governor of California, subject to the next August primaries, he said today. A "two year plan" designed to "end poverty" in this state, will be his platform.

The decision to seek Democratic votes, he said, was prompted partly by "the split in the Democratic party" in this state.

Under his proposed platform, the state would establish land colonies for idle persons and take over unused factories, a system of scrip would be started as a medium of exchange between these two groups of workers.

State tax laws would be revised to omit all taxes on owner-occupied homes valued at less than $3,000.

LANDLORDS ASK STATE AID FOR PAYLESS FLATS

Two hundred members of the Landlords' Association for Rent Relief last night selected a committee to present three measures to Gov. Horner to relieve the burden of nonpaying tenants. The meeting was held under the chairmanship of Curt Philipp at the Olivet institute, 1441 Cleveland avenue.

The first measure is in the form of a petition and asks that a portion of the funds for the idle be set aside for rent. Speakers complained that "everybody but the landlord" was provided for in the doling out of relief money.

The second step recommended, also in the petition, is that the cost of evicting tenants for failure to pay their rent be radically reduced. The average cost in the case of a five room flat is now $35, including attorneys' fees, it was said.

The final measure is an amendment to the real estate tax law providing that property should be exempted from tax in the proportion of apartments occupied by nonpaying tenants on the relief rolls.

14th Ward Democrats Give Benefit Picnic Tomorrow

The Democratic organization and Young Men's Jefferson club of the 14th ward will hold a picnic and outing tomorrow at Pilsen park, 26th street and Albany avenue, in honor of Ald. James J. McDermott of that ward.

BANDITS INVADE ANOTHER HOTEL ON NORTH SIDE

Two gunmen yesterday took $33 in a robbery of the Ontario hotel, 620 North State street, although a special detail of ten policemen has been assigned to guard the hotels on the near north side. The robbery brought to 40 the number of holdups of near north side hotels since Jan. 1.

The robbers rented a room from Edward Fenton, the night clerk, and were shown to their room by the bell boy, Frank Martin. In the room they produced revolvers and rope and tied Martin to the bed. The bandits then went downstairs and took the $33 from Fenton. Martin, who had wriggled free, got a revolver and fired five shots after the men as they left the hotel.

HELD ON 10 ROBBERY CHARGES.

James Flynn, 21 years old, who was charged with taking $534 in ten robberies on the north side, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green in bonds of $150,000.

BANDITS KIDNAP BANKER IN CAR AND TAKE $3,000

H. E. Schnadt, cashier of the Bartlett State bank of Bartlett, was kidnaped by five gunmen yesterday, forced to drive to a lonely spot between Bartlett and Elgin, and robbed of $3,000.

The cashier was returning to his bank after getting $3,000 in one, five, ten and twenty dollar bills from the First National bank in Elgin, eight miles northwest of Bartlett. His automobile was forced from the pavement of state route 5 three miles east of Elgin by a second car.

Two of the gunmen got into the Schnadt car and ordered the cashier to follow the bandit car. After driving three miles north and east to a lonely spot on a dirt road the bandits took the money and the keys to Schnadt's car and drove away. Schnadt was kidnaped by gunmen during a robbery of the bank in December, 1929, which netted the bandits several hundred dollars.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

CITE 30 MORE CHICAGO DAIRIES OVER MILK PACT

Ordered to Answer Charge of Market Violation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Continuing its wholesale drive to enforce government control of the Chicago milk market, the agricultural adjustment administration today ordered thirty more dairies in the metropolitan area to show cause why their federal licenses should not be revoked for alleged violation of price provisions of the Chicago milk marketing agreement.

Yesterday the government had served notices on some fifty milk distributors and dairies in the Chicago area. Within eleven days all those against which such action is taken by the department of agriculture must file a formal answer.

Public Hearing in Washington.

If this reply is not regarded as satisfactory by federal authorities the alleged violators, it is announced, will be hailed before a board in Washington for a public hearing on the charges against them.

Meanwhile, today, legal experts of the agricultural adjustment administration were studying the answer filed yesterday by the Meadowmoor Dairy company of Chicago in response to government charges. After completing consideration of the Meadowmoor reply recommendations for action will be made to the secretary of agriculture. It is expected that officials of the company will be summoned for a hearing.

New Dairies Cited.

The dairies to which orders were dispatched today were as follows:

Thompson Milk company, Tessville.

Midwest Farm and Dairy Products, Glenview.

The Milk house, Addison and Lake streets, Elmhurst.

Elmhurst dairy, Villa and North avenues, Elmhurst.

Village dairy, 14 S. Park avenue, Lombard.

Thrifty Dairy company, 321 West St. Charles road, Villa Park.

Ardmore Milk depot, 336 South Ardmore, Villa Park.

S. P. Walley's Milk station, Western avenue and Crescent, Park Ridge.

Evergreen Park Farm Products, 3322 West 95th street, Evergreen Park.

Western Farm Dairy Products, 9510 South Western avenue, Evergreen Park.

Greenhouse dairy, 1209 Roosevelt road, Proviso township.

Peterson's dairy, 8 Devon avenue, Park Ridge.

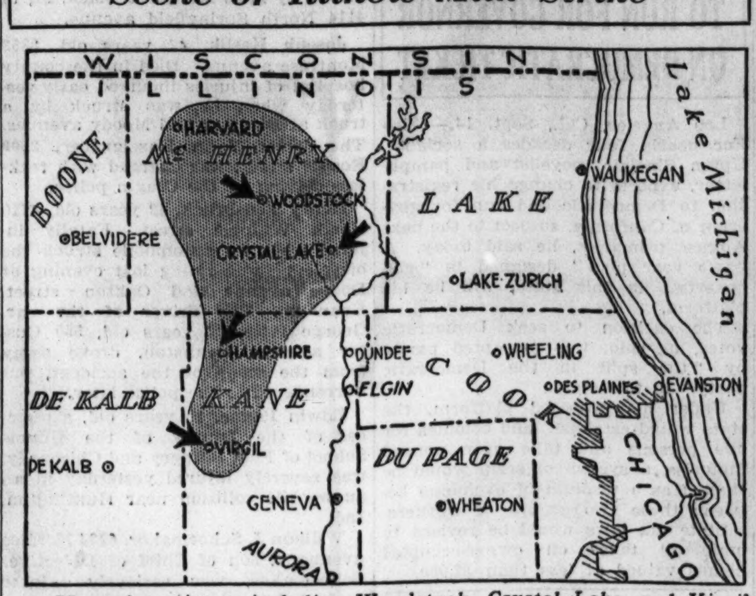
Scene of Illinois Milk Strike



Map of territory, including Woodstock, Crystal Lake, and Virgil, where striking farmers yesterday withheld all deliveries. Violence between pickets and deputies occurred at Harvard. Pickets sent to Lake Zurich turned back upon seeing deputies after warning farmers to "keep their milk at home."

ing the association, said the action was taken on the ground that Bost had violated the Illinois agricultural act. This law provides severe penalties for persons persuading coöperative members to violate their contracts and for those making false reports about coöperative managements and finances.

Bost averred that he was not worried and that 10,000 persons favored the strike. His pickets would be more numerous today, he predicted, than at any time since the strike was called at Woodstock late Tuesday.

May Delay Price Boost.

A delay in the increase in the retail price of milk, according to the Pure Milk association members, may be caused by the inability of Washington to carry out its part of the milk program. The big dealers have said they will grant the increase to the farmers only if independent, cut rate dealers, who are outlawed in the milk marketing code ,are actually driven from the market.

Although the code has been nominally in effect for some weeks, more than 100 dealers still are seeing at cut rates. They have carried into court their contentions that the powers of the secretary of agriculture are illegal. They particularly object to the code dictum that a consumer must pay 10 cents a quart for milk whether he has it delivered at his doorstep or calls for it at a store. Some large chain store organizations in the east are fighting this provision.

These troubles last night caused the farm administration at the capital to announce a new future policy on pacts. Instead of the rigid code, they will in each instance put in one on trial, with the only prices set being a maximum retail charge and a minimum payment to the farmer for his milk. During the trial period government auditors are to go over the distributors' books to see that the price spread between farm and kitchen is not exorbitant.

Officially this new plan does not apply to the Chicago area, the code for which is already drawn and approved. But as this code is already under review as to price, some observers last night felt that it might presage a general revision of the conditions laid down for the conduct of the milk business everywhere. It is regarded as important that in the new codes no demand is made that dealers charge their retail customers more than they want to, as the Chicago independents have been told to do but haven't.

It was reiterated by the Pure Milk association and dealers last night that the milk strike does not threaten a shortage in Chicago. All supplies from Cook, Du Page, and Lake counties came through in normal volume yesterday, as well as from most points in Kane county.

Late last night the Pure Milk association announced that all of its locals except those at Crystal Lake, Hampshire, and Cary had voted to ship milk to the city today.

Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county and Sheriff Lester Edinger of McHenry county had augmented forces of deputies working yesterday and promised to escort any milk trucks through picket lines today, if protection is needed.

U. S. ATTORNEY IN KIDNAP CASES LOSES OFFICE

Lewis Drill Removed for Alleged Misconduct.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Lewis Drill, United States attorney in St. Paul, has been removed from office by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings because of alleged misconduct of the Hamm and Urschel kidnaping cases, it was announced today.

Attorney General Cummings would say nothing except that Drill's abrupt dismissal was due to the fact that "his conduct of the office was not satisfactory to the department of justice," but it was authoritatively learned that Drill had been found dealing leniently with kidnapers and racketeers.

Sullivan Replaces Drill.

George Sullivan has replaced Drill, who was a holdover of the Republican administration. Cummings emphasized today that Drill's dismissal had nothing political in it, but was due entirely to his official actions.

It was reported slips in connection with the kidnaping cases of Willie Hamm, St. Paul brewer, and Charles Urschel, Oklahoma oil man, led to the dismissal.

Names of the witnesses to be called in the Hamm case were allowed to reach the public by way of the United States attorney's office, tipping off the witnesses and allowing them to flee to another state.

Two Suspects Are Freed.

In the Urschel case two suspects with some of the kidnap money on their persons were turned loose by the same office, it was learned.

Cummings has declared that he intends to break up the combinations of politicians and gangsters. One of the steps which he is considering is the publication of the names of politicians who plead for the pardon or parole of notorious criminals held in federal prisons.

U. S. HESITATES TO RETURN CAPONE TO CHICAGO TRIAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Before the federal government allows the return of Al Capone to Chicago to stand trial for state conspiracy charges, it wants to be satisfied that the state indictment is valid and that there is high probability of conviction, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings said today.

United States Attorney Dwight Green of Chicago is studying the indictment, the facts behind it and the probability of correction, Cummings explained. No federal action will be taken until Green's report is in.

The report is expected soon. Green is even said to have started it on its way to Washington. Frank Parish, assistant attorney general in criminal cases, had not yet received it tonight, however.

Even if Green reports favorably on the indictment and the chances of convicting Capone on state charges, the federal government may not permit his return. Several "other questions" will be taken into consideration, Cummings explained, but refused to reveal their nature.

BRITAIN OUSTS AFRICAN CHIEF IN FLOGGING CASE

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, Africa, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Tshekedi, the young chief of the Bamangwato tribe, today was ousted as ruler by a British special commission as the aftermath of the flogging of a Briton who stood trial in a native court.

The Briton, Phineas Mackintosh, was charged by the young chief with "living like a native with a native woman." The sentence of flogging was imposed by a native court presided over by Tshekedi despite a British rule that Europeans are not subject to the jurisdiction of such courts.

The finding of the commission was handed down here after an investigation of the case yesterday at Palapye. It barred Mackintosh from living in any of the native reserves.

BIRTH RATE FALLS IN BRITAIN AND SUICIDES GAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Great Britain's birth rate is falling, according to a report issued today by Sir George Newman, chief medical officer of the ministry of health. The report declares that last year's birth rate of 15.3 per 1,000 was the lowest ever recorded. The death rate was announced as 12 per 1,000.

Suicide are increasing, the report adds. In 1932 there were 5,743 suicides compared with 2,896 in 1900. The increase is attributed "partly to the pressure of troubles of the times and partly to changing psychology towards the act of suicides."

"English people are learning more the art of living," the report says in connection with the announcement that Britain today is healthier than at any time in its history. The report says other factors include better housing, higher wages, better food at lower prices and increasing sobriety.

Heavy Waves Drive Yacht Ashore at Belmont Harbor

The 30 foot cabin cruiser Minerva was torn from its moorings and driven ashore early yesterday by the heavy waves in Belmont harbor. Little or no damage was done the craft. The yacht Ben Bow also was driven from its moorings but was overtaken by employés in the harbor before it reached the shore.

FATHER McNAMEE HITS FEDERATED CHARITY 'CLIQUE'

Denies He Attended Tag Day Meeting.

In connection with the published stories of the dispute between members of the Chicago Federated Charities over tag day receipts, the Rev. Joseph McNamee, pastor of St. David's Catholic church at 3210 South Union avenue, yesterday requested correction of a statement that he was present at the meeting. His organization, the South Side Day nursery, he said, was represented by its president. Father McNamee said that the nursery, of which he is treasurer, is not a parish institution, but a nonsectarian charitable organization operating under a state charter.

Waging Fight on Clique.

"For the last three years," his typewritten statement read, "the South Side Catholic Social center, organized specifically for nonsectarian charitable purposes, has been waging a more or less successful fight against a very small clique of the Chicago Federated Charities, who have constituted themselves a supergovernment over the streets of Chicago, and collecting therefrom for institutions outside the city of Chicago.

"To find evidence of the operation of the vicious circle method of unfairness and discrimination on the part of this group, who have also dominated and discriminated against other organizations, who have heretofore feared to protest for fear of greater discrimination, one has only to examine the sum of money allocated to the Chicago Junior school of Elgin, of which Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the Federated Charities, is, or was, an interested party.

$5,200 in Day's Collections.

"There has been placed before me a statement of figures that discloses a single day's collections on the streets on one Federation tag day by this Elgin school, amounting to over $5,200, while on the same day four Chicago organizations' collections from locations assigned by Miss Babcock's locations committee amounted to an average of $700 each."

RUSSIANS ORDER MEN OF 80 OUT TO HELP IN HARVEST

MOSCOW, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Communist party authorities in the north Caucasus, who recently organized children from kindergarten age to 16 years to help in the harvest, decided today to call on men between 60 and 80 years old to assist in collective farm work.

"Let's get down to business, old men," said an appeal issued by the regional committee of the party.

Superannuated peasants will serve as inspectors of winter wheat sowing. The men are to be organized into the "old collective farmers guard" and they have been promised wages and food equal to those received by collective farm "shock brigades."

Official of Gas Company Attacks Charge of Waste

Robert B. Harper, a vice president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, told the Illinois commerce commission yesterday that the standard efficiency of gas for cooking purposes is 30 per cent and not 35 per cent, as claimed on Wednesday by C. L. Kennicott, a consulting engineer. The other 70 per cent of the heat given off by the burning gas does not reach the material to be cooked, he said.

Mr. Harper, who is in charge of the testing and research department of the gas company, was called as a witness by gas company attorneys to refute statements that the public paid for $11,000,000 of gas wasted in two years through the company's alleged negligence in not properly adjusting the stoves and other equipment of its customers. Mr. Kennicott had said he learned of the 35 per cent efficiency standard through an article written by Mr. Harper.

Calls Tests Inadequate.

The witness said Mr. Kennicott's tests were hardly sufficient in that he had examined only 24 stoves out of 900,000 in use in Chicago, and that the cooking habits of the people involved might account for the condition of the stoves examined. He pointed out that a draft in the kitchen would have an effect. He also disagreed with the statements of the consulting engineer by declaring that the most economical use of gas is not obtained in getting the highest laboratory efficiency from the stove.

Mr. Harper's testimony was preceded by a statement by Attorney F. L. Daily, representing the gas company, that inasmuch as Mr. Kennicott had said he did not sponsor the charges of $11,000,000 of waste, the company did not think there was anything to answer. The company was being put in the position of answering charges not filed with the commission, he said. He declared the persons who made the charges did not see fit to go before the commission and try to substantiate them.

The tests mentioned by Mr. Kennicott were "meager and pitiful," Attorney Daily said.

Commission Demands Answer.

Attorney Irwin Rooks, representing the commission, said that body is a fact finding commission and that even though no evidence was presented against the gas company, it was the commission's duty to proceed with the inquiry. Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman, who, with Commissioners Charles E. Byrne and Andrew Olson, is conducting the hearing, directed the gas company to answer the questions regarding the alleged waste.

Mr. Harper was then called as a witness. He said he presumed the statement concerning the $11,000,000 worth of gas supposedly wasted by inefficient equipment had been based on computations from the company's income. The company's receipts for the two years were $44,000,000, exclusive of the sale of household goods, and Mr. Harper ventured that the estimate of the loss had been reached by applying 26.2 per cent, the percentage of efficiency of the gas burners tested by Mr. Kennicott, against the $44,000,000 receipts of the company.

Mr. Harper pointed out that this method of reaching an estimate of the waste was erroneous, since the 26.2 per cent represents the efficiency of the burners tested instead of the proportion of waste.

Calls 35% Efficiency Impossible.

He said the company was not obligated to adjust the public's burners to a 35 per cent efficiency. It is impossible to do so, he said, because many of the stoves are not designed to give that efficiency. There are 254 manufacturers of gas stoves, he said, and some have as many as 50 different models. They are made to burn gas of any kind, regardless of the heating value of the gas, which is measured in British thermal units, commonly referred to as B. T. U.

Some are made to burn only natural gas, which has 1,135 B. T. U.'s per cubic foot. The American Gas association, at a laboratory in Cleveland, O., set a standard of 30 per cent efficiency, he said. It was explained later that gas for ovens, water heaters, furnaces, etc., has a much higher efficiency than for the open burners used in cooking, as less heat escapes.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman began a cross-examination of Mr. Harper which will be continued today. He was told by the witness that at one time the company had cut the heating value of the gas from 665 B. T. U. to 530 B. T. U.'s, and that it then had just as much efficiency. In 1916, Attorney Grossman said, the statement was made that the waste of gas was all in its use for cooking—showing that the present charges against the company are not new.

CALL INSULL JR. AND BANKERS TO BANKRUPTCY QUIZ

Samuel Insull Jr., one of his father's former attorneys, and five Chicago bankers were subpoenaed yesterday to appear next Monday at 2 p. m. before Garfield Charles, federal referee in bankruptcy, at a resumption of a hearing on the affairs of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., bankrupt investment trust.

The subpoenas were procured by Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel, who at the inception of the bankruptcy hearing months ago charged that the Insull receiverships were framed by Samuel Insull Sr. and the banking interests.

Those subpoenaed in addition to Insull Jr. are James R. Leavell, president, and Abner J. Stilwell, vice president, Continental-Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Albert W. Harris, chairman, and Howard Fenton, president, Harris Trust and Savings bank; Soloman A. Smith, president, Northern Trust company, and John E. Wing, member of the law firm of Isham, Lincoln & Beale.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A LIQUOR CODE.

The state commission on liquor control has held its organization meeting and will shortly set to work devising a new liquor code for Illinois. The draft will be submitted to the legislature as soon as the eighteenth amendment has been repealed. The task which confronts the commission and the legislature is as important as it is formidable.

Prohibition must now be regarded as one of the least satisfactory of the many schemes devised for controlling the sale of intoxicants. None of the plans was perfect and all of them have been subject to administrative abuse. The fact that all the plans which have been tried have been defective in one particular or another does not justify the conclusion that all attempts to regulate the sale of liquor should be abandoned. On the contrary, if the experience of prohibition has indicated anything, it has indicated the abuses which must be expected from a virtually unregulated traffic in liquor such as we have experienced.

Most of the members of the commission are agreed, apparently, that the sale of hard liquor in saloons should be forbidden. This position is sound. Distilled liquors should be sold by the bottle and drinking on the premises should be illegal. Furthermore, there should be no private profit in the sale of hard drinks. Let's talk about this. The system of private profit is the best ever devised for increasing the manufacture and sale of commodities and accordingly has no place in the economy of whisky. The less sold the better.

The state, of course, will tax whisky. The danger is that in the desire to obtain as much revenue as possible and at the same time discourage drinking, the tax will be too high. Then bootlegging with all its attendant evils must be expected to continue. The state should fix a tax low enough to discourage illicit sales and outlaw them in public opinion. At the same time the present taxes of all kinds on beer and its sale should be sharply reduced with a view to encouraging its sale as a substitute for distilled liquor. Perhaps it may be possible to establish a graduated tax on beer, extremely low for beers of the present alcoholic content and rising slightly as the alcoholic content is increased.

The new Illinois liquor code should permit any community which doesn't want distilled liquor sold within its boundaries to keep it out. Perhaps the principle of local option should be extended, as well, to the establishment of taverns for the sale of beer. No community, however, should be permitted to outlaw the purchase or possession of either beer or whisky for personal use.

Another matter which the commission might well take under consideration is the plea of intoxication as a mitigation for those convicted of crime. If the citizens of Illinois are again to be regarded as adults, capable of restraining their appetites, they ought to be held strictly accountable for abuses of their rights.

PRACTICAL RELIEF.

The relief work carried on for many years by the Rev. Dr. Johnston Myers is perhaps an old story for Chicagoans, but it is a story that never grows dull. The last four years have tested the utmost resources of this highly personal charity, but it has survived and extended its beneficence. In the last twelvemonth Dr. Myers has provided free meals for a million needy at the old Immanuel church, and he doesn't discriminate. Any one in need is welcomed and he has organized music to keep up morale in the wise belief that "we cannot be without hope for better times and we can never become hateful or despondent if we can sing." Dr. Myers is no Polyanna, but his faith has not faltered through a lifetime of service for the unfortunate and he has an unequaled knowledge of relief needs. His opinion is that a fund of $200,000, principally to pay for transport of excess food which producers are ready to contribute, would be adequate to banish hunger from Chicago for the next twelve months.

Dr. Myers recommends a system which would give alert attention both to the sources of excess supply and to products without sufficient profit to meet expense of harvesting, and he suggests that the unemployed might be provided with trucks and sent out to harvest and collect products not salable to be distributed, of course, solely for relief. He has also some sensible remarks upon the effect of long continued idleness and charity upon the recipients' sense of responsibility and he points out that public charity does not breed patriotism but something opposite. Grumbling is general among those who receive aid at the expense of the city or state, but this does not occur in his charity, in that of David Gibson's Cathedral Shelter or Father Cummin's Catholic charities.

We think Dr. Myers' way of meeting the problem of destitution is the socially constructive way and a better reliance than the relief industry supported by government doles.

WATER TRANSPORTATION.

An additional sum of twelve million dollars has been appropriated for the development of the upper Mississippi waterway and further demands are being made for the Missouri river project.

The waterway advocate assumes that water transportation is just naturally cheaper than any other form. Apparently he is not obliged to prove it, although there are methods available. Practical figures should be developed before any further expenditures are made on shallow rivers.

On the great lakes a vessel that can be operated for $600 per day will carry 12,000 tons of ore or coal between Duluth and Cleveland. Allowing nine days for each trip, the expense is $5,400, or five-tenths of a mill per ton mile. The railways could not hope to handle traffic for any such figure.

On the St. Lawrence canals restrictions reduce the vessel capacity to 2,400 tons, but she can be operated for $300 per day. A trip from Buffalo to Montreal will consume five days and the ton mile cost, 1½ mills, is also beyond reach of the railways.

Next we have New York state waterways. The cost of boat operation is probably as great as on the St. Lawrence, but the capacity is reduced to 1,500 tons. Assuming that the vessel could make a trip, New York to Buffalo or vice versa, in an average of seven days over the season of navigation, the ton mile cost would be three and one-half mills, which, however, is exclusive of cargo insurance and handling. Now compare with the ton mile revenues on the railways in the Pocahontas district, which paid dividends even in 1932 on ton mile revenues of six mills with an enormous west bound movement of empty coal cars. The water figures mentioned are subject to criticism, but an actual survey will probably prove them fairly low because they do not provide for port delays or storms and assume that a full cargo will always be available. At any rate the conclusion is unescapable that any waterway project that offers restrictions to navigation in excess of those existing on the New York state barge canals should be carefully examined from the standpoint of economical operation as well as engineering features and traffic possibilities. There is a point at which the economy of water transportation disappears.

THE MODEL CONDUCT OF MURDERERS.

Twenty-seven years ago Policeman Luke Fitzpatrick was murdered by two safeblowers he was trying to arrest in the elevated station at 63d and Dorchester avenue. The killing of policemen was not so popular a sport then as it has become since and the crime created quite a sensation. Middle aged Chicagoans will remember it and they will be interested in the news that one of the murderers, Guy Van Tassel, who with his accomplice, Charles Hanson, was sent, not to the gallows as they should have been, but to the penitentiary, now wants to be paroled. The prison authorities say he has been a model prisoner "for the last fifteen years." Before he killed Fitzpatrick Van Tassel had served 13 years in prison in Tennessee and Indiana. He now says he wants to join his old mother in Tennessee. What has become of Fitzpatrick's old mother we haven't heard.

We can't predict what will happen to Van Tassel's petition for parole. Prisoners whose conduct was anything but model when at large but becomes model under prison restraint seem to impress parole boards more favorably than they impress us. Fitzpatrick died doing his duty and has been dust for many years. His wife was widowed and his children orphaned. No parole can improve their condition or restore the life so brutally taken. The men who took his life have been living at public expense ever since. They have had a better "break" than the man they murdered. As for their model conduct, it suggests to us that they remain where it became model.

Editorial of the Day

A BEWILDERING DRIVE.

[The Arizona Daily Star.]

The banking situation gives another example of the bewildering contradictions of the administration's program. On one hand the administration announces that American banks must cease many of the bad practices of the past, such as making speculative loans or other loans of unsound character. In order to reinforce its hand congress passed a new banking law which, among many of its provisions, provides for much stricter examination and heavy penalties for officers of banks who weaken their banks by making speculative loans. In order to join the federal reserve system nonmember banks must have a high degree of liquidity, while member banks must also maintain a much higher degree of liquidity than before. All of which is perfectly sound banking practice, and which should be continued if the weaknesses of the American banking system are going to be improved.

But at the very time one arm of the federal government imposes these new restrictions another arm insists that the banks "loosen up" and make loans which the banking act says are unsound and which are prohibited. What is the banker going to do? No banks in the country are making money. Almost every bank is anxious to make new loans and put its assets to work, but much of the demand for loans is of a character that does not meet the requirements of the new banking law. For instance, the banks are told to loan money to businesses to help them meet the requirements of the NRA. Any business that is entitled to credit can get loans from its bank. On the other hand, if a bank makes a loan to a business which on account of the NRA or other reasons is losing money and cannot provide adequate security it would be guilty of violating the national banking act.

Many complain that banks will no longer make first mortgage loans. That is true. The national banking act prohibits commercial banks from making such loans. In the future such loans will have to be made by private investors and savings banks.

Savings banks and private investors are loath to make such loans at the present time because they have doubts about the future value of the dollar. The failure of the administration to establish a definite fiscal policy in regard to the dollar leaves such a sense of insecurity that investors hesitate to make any long time commitments.

It is such contradictions which are so bewildering that imperil the success of the NRA and the entire program of the administration. With the right hand the administration pulls and tries to make the horse go to the right; with the left hand it jerks the horse's head to the left; one minute it lashes the horse to make it go ahead; the next minute it jerks the horse back. Is it any wonder that the poor horse of business does not know what to do and that the passenger is a bit bewildered at the driver?

NEW YORK HAD AN NRA parade of over a quarter million people. Since the nullification of the prohibition laws New York has returned to the Union.

AND AS THE PARADE passed the reviewing stand the brokers and stock exchange units broke out in wild hisses at Mayor O'Brien. Which silences the scandalous reports that nobody in New York knows who the mayor is.

A NEW BOOK is out, one that will have a million readers from the start. And with what eager interest the new volume will be read day and night. The author is anonymous, which is strange indeed for a book that is so popular. The name of the new volume is the "Telephone Directory of Chicago, Autumn 1933," and, oh, we can hardly wait until we've read it. No, no, no! Don't tell us how it comes out; we want to read it through ourselves.

CUBA IS SO dull without any fresh revolutions breaking out that Claire Windsor scored a half column more in all the papers than Cuba did yesterday, and if the Queen of the Caribbean doesn't get busy pretty quick Claire will have it shoved off the front page and crowded over to page twenty-nine.

"AMERICAN DOLLAR Worth Only 69.63 in French Money."—Headline. The answer is simple. Don't exchange our good American dollars for French money. French money looks like the medals for half mile bicycle races and best apple butter at county fairs, anyhow.

AND, BESIDES, a good many would prefer to have the saloon back than buy hard likker by the bottle and have to take it home. What's the use of drinking at home? You can't find any one there to make up the rest of the quartet while you sing the tenor of "Sweet Adeline." And there's no use singing "Sweet Adeline" if there's no one to say, "Hold it, boys," after "You're the Darling of My Heart" (that's where somebody always says, "Hold it, boys"), "Sweet Adeline."

GREETINGS.

R. H. L.: Perhaps they have taken their cue from the gas station attendants, who, as we all know, will wash one's neck and ears and manicure one's nails with a smile if one buys five gallons of gasoline; or perhaps it was the example of your erstwhile Greeter Gaw; or maybe the deflating effect of the depression. Anyhow, the hearty hospitality being shown visitors to A Century of Progress is exciting admiration and wonder throughout the country. Here is a touching case in point: A little fellow who just couldn't wait in one of those well known, decorous pay-as-you-enter lines was permitted to dodge through the clicking gate out of turn by a collegiate sophomore guard, who, tactfully and with innate delicacy and understanding, looked the other way.

And not only in Chicago, but other places, public servants seem trying, at last, to serve the public. Formerly when I went to buy a railroad ticket I always felt compelled to assume a supplicative attitude and beg the privilege as a boon. When I sought information from a policeman I expected to be bawled out, or, maybe, put in irons. To register at a hotel meant to be humbled, high-hatted and held up. And when it came to the ordeal of purchasing a theater ticket at the box office, one had to take off one's hat, make abject obeisance and gratefully accept a seat in Row Z on the extreme left.

Now one meets with courtesy, consideration and salesmanship everywhere, and I think the W-G-N ought to distribute a lot of medals to most everybody.

HELP FOR NEURASTHENICS.

As a rule physicians have little to offer to neurasthenics. Partly because of this and partly because the patient is so self-centered and so much disposed to exaggerate his symptoms the medical fraternity is usually impatient with neurasthenics.

A common prescription in neurasthenia is training in attitudes and in self-evaluation. The medical machine is not constructed to give training in these directions or even to assume more than a superficial management of such training.

Meanwhile we are slowly learning about neurasthenics. In the course of time physicians should have much to offer them. In this column there have been stories about two procedures suited to certain groups of neurasthenics. This article tells of a third.

Persons with neurasthenia are apt to have a good many symptoms but they are less liable than the average person to have diseases and their life expectancy is good. Many have low blood pressure. Some of those with this trouble also have starch indigestion. Where that combination exists the physician may prescribe a diet that will prove very helpful in that it will promote comfort. The diet is one that contains no sugars nor sweets of any kind and a limited amount of breads, pastries, cereals, potatoes, peas, beans, corn, and other carbohydrate foods. To supply the calories needed this diet is rich in protein foods such as meats and eggs, and in fats.

Another group of cases is benefited by the use of amines.

Dr. O. Leyton offers the following treatment for another group—those who have low blood pressure, a low metabolic rate, and low temperature. The people with these troubles complain a good deal of feeling cold and chilly. They spend much time in bed with hot water bottles and covered by plenty of bedding. They are easily fatigued and they are subject to the general assortment of symptoms that neurasthenics select between. The physican picks out those for the treatment by several tests. The blood pressure is taken and a metabolism test is made—both by the accepted methods. In taking the temperature, one must be careful not to be misled by an apparent fever of a degree, or such a matter due to hot water bottles or heavy bedding. If an ergograph is available muscle fatigability should be tested.

In suitable cases, as shown by these tests, extract of the suprarenal gland into the blood stream is made on alternate days for two or three weeks. These extracts offer hope in the treatment of Addison's disease. Some of them may be of service in certain forms of neurasthenia.

Within the last two years the methods of extracting suprarenals have been greatly improved. We know much more about the chemicals in these organs than we did a few years ago.

FACTS NOT CLEAR.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I am employed by a man who requires the use of my car in distributing vending machines. I am paid $5 a day. Out of that I buy gas, and as I have a helper I pay him $1.50 a day. The firm in reality hires these so-called helpers. In case of accident while on the job causing damage to the car or injury to the helper or myself [2] would I be held liable? I do not carry insurance on my car. 3. Is there any way that my employer can be held responsible for damages of any sort?

L. B.

Your letter does not make clear whether you are an independent contractor or an employé subject to the employer's continuing instructions.

2. We are not in a position to say you would not be held liable.

3. The facts that you state do not exclude the possibility that he might be held liable as principal on injuries inflicted by you in the course of your employment.

CAN COLLECT.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A family owes landlord eight months' back rent. He threatens to serve them with a five day notice to move. Providing he does serve them with the notice [1] can he collect at a later date through a lawsuit? This family has a son who just got a job. 2. Could he garnishee the son's wages?

L. C.

1. Yes, if the tenant has sufficient assets or income

2. Not unless he signed the lease.

GARNISHMENT.

Berwyn, Ill., Sept. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a salary pension on which payment comes from New York be garnisheed in Illinois? 2. Can it be garnisheed if party from Chicago went to New York? This is for support of children in Illinois.

N. E. M.

1. In order to collect by garnishment here you would have to find some person here who owes the money.

2. Yes, if the pensions are matters of private contract.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

[Inquiries on farm management, financing or governmental regulations addressed to this department must be accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope for reply.]

F. C. C. asks: What is the cost of producing milk under regulations of the Chicago board of health?

Answer: There is no fixed expense determined for the cost of producing milk, since no two farms have exactly the same costs. One method frequently used is to double the cost of feeds, the amount determined thus being supposed to include farm overhead expenses. There also are estimates ranging from 25 to 40 cents per hundredweight as the premium dairymen should be paid for meeting board of health regulations, but these two are seldom the same for more than one farm.

A. R. W. asks: If my neighbors do not sign the wheat contract with the government this fall, could they get in next fall?

Answer: No. No signers will get contracts after Sept. 25, 1933, according to latest proclamation of the government.

M. N. A. asks: My tenant on my cotton ranch in Georgia writes that he has been ordered to sell the cotton we put up as collateral for the government loan with which we bought seed and fertilizer. Has the government made a ruling on this?

Answer: Yes. All farmers who pledged cotton as collateral for seed and crop production prior to the 1933 crop have been notified to sell their collateral cotton to liquidate the loans past due. Under an arrangement between Henry Morgenthau Jr. and the federal farm credit administration, which holds the notes, the agricultural adjustment administration, headed by George N. Peek, has agreed to buy a bale of long futures for each bale of the collateral cotton sold. Your cotton must be sold by Nov. 1. The order is said to be caused by a move of the government to save carrying charges on the collateral cotton. It does not affect 1933 crop loans, however.

J. L. P. asks: What has become of the farm board?

Answer: Those functions of the farm board relating to financing and advising farmers' coöperatives have been taken over by the farm credit administration. All other functions authorized by the act of congress creating the farm board have been dropped.

NRA Question Box

Requests for information concerning the NRA will be printed in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly. Following are some typical questions occasioned by the national recovery act and their answers:

Question: Have the furriers of Chicago submitted a code? If so, when does it go into effect?

Answer: A code for the furrier industry for the United States has been submitted and will come up for hearing in Washington shortly. In this connection, bear this in mind: No localized group can submit a code and have it approved as such. The code for the industry must cover that entire industry throughout the nation. None will be approved until it can be shown that the industry as a whole is represented by a majority in the code submitted.

Question: What are the minimum wages of a salesgirl in a five and ten cent store? I work from 10 o'clock in the morning to 6:30 in the evening, six days a week.

Answer: This is a new one to us and the matter is not entirely clear. If it is a question of evading the contract with the government under the President's agreement it should be reported in detail so that an investigation may be made.

THE UNIMPORTANCE OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Park Ridge, Ill., Sept. 3.—Is it constitutional? Is what constitutional? The NRA? Who cares, if it accomplishes the purposes for which it was intended! Is martial law constitutional when emergencies arise and the civil authorities are perforce obliged to stand aside? Was the draft constitutional? Well, what made them so? Emergencies!

I have noticed that the greater part of all this talk about the unconstitutionality of the national industrial recovery act comes from super-patriots with large and hefty axes to grind and whose alleged love of liberty and civil rights appears to be secondary to their own selfish ends and desires. The constitution of the United States worked well enough in the homogeneous farming community in which it first came to light, but as a guide to the distant future it can scarcely be offered except in a most general way. It seems hardly reasonable to suppose that the Fathers foresaw fully the problems which an ever increasing mechanization of our civilization has brought. Which of you over 50 years old foresaw the 35 hour week? That's different, is it? And yet you expect an instrument framed over 150 years ago to stand every test and cover every eventuality? Saps!

Talk of unconstitutionality and the abridgment of our inherent rights to life, liberty, et al. [and how earnestly did we defend them during the 15 years of dry bigotry and corruption] is all so much poppycock. Popular approval is the only real test of constitutionality. Has the lesson of the last 15 years been forgotten so easily?

To cover another angle. You unemployed constitutionalists, take a half pound of your "civil rights," mix well with a half ounce of your "inherent love of liberty," wrap up the mixture carefully and trot down to your local grocer and see what you can get for it. Sure, circumstances alter cases.

Watch closely the efforts of the national and local Fascisti and the disgruntled has-beens to undermine your faith and confidence in the first administration to make the going inconvenient for "malefactors of great wealth" and assure the herd at least a tolerable chance for a place in the sun.

Support the President and keep a weather eye open for the professional pay-triot.

BEER AND THE YOUNG PEOPLE.

Niles Center, Ill., Sept. 8.—I have many clippings in my scrap book quoting society leaders in this part of the world who promised that legalizing beer would stop young people drinking cocktails. Can any one tell me truly that these promises have been kept?

HENRY PATTERSON JONES.

POWER BOAT HAZARDS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Fire is an ever present hazard to the operator of a power boat, but there are several steps which can be taken to minimize the danger of its breaking out aboard any craft of any size, and of course there are further precautions which should be taken for extinguishing fire and for the safety of crew and passengers.

No matter how efficient the ventilating system of a motor boat, the operator should thoroughly inspect the bilges of his boat before starting his motor. If any gasoline is present in the bilge it should be completely cleaned out before getting under way. A few ounces of gasoline will cause enough vapor to blow a boat to pieces if it is ignited. It would seem that three times daily is not too often for bilge inspection aboard a power boat which is carrying passengers.

All wiring should be inspected frequently, and faulty lines and defective connections should be repaired immediately.

Even though the greatest care is taken there is still danger of fire breaking out while the boat is under way, but this can be handled with adequate fire extinguishing equipment. It is apparent that some boats have not been equipped with efficient fire extinguishing systems.

The regulations pertaining to life preservers and their accessibility are quite clear to any one who will take the trouble to read them.

"Rules of the road" which, if understood, will do much to prevent collisions, are not only available to all boat operators but are actually thrust upon them.

FRANK L. RAND.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—As I labor through my newspaper every day, I am reminded of a play of long ago. Its name was "Too Much Johnson."

T. M. J.

AN UNCHARTED COURSE.

Mount Morris, Ill., Sept. 4.—Your editorial on the fatuous remarks of Attorney General O'Brien of Michigan at the recent bar association meeting is aptly spoken in these days of uncertainty, when the good frigate Constitution is sailing an uncharted course under the captaincy of Chief Navigator Roosevelt and his hell roaring first mate Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Johnson.

The only anchor the frigate carries is an independent judiciary. If this drags the old ship seems likely to pile up on the rocks of mobocracy. The farmers of Iowa when they placed a hempen rope around a judge's neck acted very crudely. They should take a leaf from the book of Attorney O'Brien and use a rope of partisan threats to cause the besmirching of the judicial ermine.

WHEN WORDS FAIL YUH

TRACES CENTURY OF PROGRESS IN CHEMISTS' REALM

Scientist Pictures Hopes of Future Advances.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A century of progress in chemistry, with its picture of a definite order revealed at the base of all inorganic and organic manifestations, its profound effect on the life of man, was described last night by Prof. Arthur B. Lamb of Harvard, president of the American Chemical society, at a reception for noted foreign scientists held in the Hall of Science at the World's Fair.

After chronicling the great discoveries of the century, the new substances that have been fashioned out of the earth's materials, the new understanding of the structure of the atomic universe, he said:

"As man contemplates these new disclosures of the extent, the intricacy, the wonder, and beauty of this, his universe, he can but exult at the glorious opportunity of mankind. As he considers these innumerable intellectual achievements, these repeated decipherings of an all but inscrutable roll, he can but thrill with pride at the fertility and power of the human intellect.

"Permanent Asset of Race."

"Except in the inconceivable event of a complete collapse of our civilization, these contributions of the last one hundred years to human welfare are lasting. Material wealth may come and go, governments may rise and fall, systems of human society may evolve and disappear, but these additions to human knowledge, are a permanent asset of the race."

During the afternoon session of the society at the Hotel Stevens three subjects of intense practical and scientific interest, enzymes, vitamins, and hormones, were discussed by three noted chemists, each an authority in his special field. Dr. Richard Willstaetter of Munich told of experiments in isolating enzymes, minute substances which make life possible. Dr. Paul Karrer of Zurich told of his work with vitamins, which are necessary to life and health. Dr. George Barger of Edinburgh surveyed the chemical field of hormones, the gland extracts.

It is the chemist's dream, and it is not an impossible one, that formulas may be written for the production of these secret processes of nature. Progress is being made toward the synthesis of these foods, energies and controls.

Another event of the Chemists' day was the presentation of the Langmuir award of $1,000 for work in pure science to Dr. Frank H. Spedding, 30 years old, of the University of California. This was made during the Hall of Science program, which was presided over by Robert E. Wilson. The address of Dr. Spedding was concerned with his method of obtaining atomic spectra in solids, and methods of interpreting them to calculate specific heats, attraction in a magnetic field, forces of cohesion. His work has been chiefly with the rare earths.

Still a third ceremony of the day was the dinner at which the chemists honored the "old guard" of their profession, twenty-five of the original 110 who attended the 1893 meeting of the society at the World's Columbian exposition. These men, three of them more than 80 years old, were given a dinner in the Administration building at the Exposition at which Dr. Gustav Egloff was chairman and Dr. W. Lee Lewis the toastmaster. Later they attended the Hall of Science program and were addressed by Dr. A. E. Dunstan of London.

Praises Science Exhibits.

President Lamb's address was a comprehensive review of the scientific world in the light of the last century. The scientific sections of A Century of Progress, he said, were of "unexampled completeness and excellence."

"Never anywhere has such a galaxy of scientific exhibits been gathered together as is housed in the brilliant Hall of Science."

In 1833, he said, chemistry was still in swaddling clothes. Since then it has changed to a collection of sciences, thermo chemistry, electro chemistry, photo chemistry, radio chemistry, chemical dynamics, chemical statics, and biochemistry.

He spoke first of the achievements which minister directly to human welfare, listing them in this order:

Helium—Discovered in 1893 by Ramsey, the chief constituent of giant stars, used commercially for inflation of airships, important in theoretical chemistry.

Neon—Also discovered by Ramsey, used chiefly as a goseous filling for the brilliant glow lamps.

Radium — Discovered in 1898 by Mme. Curie, of incalculable value to the physician and has unlocked the secrets of the structure of matter.

Heavy hydrogen — Discovered by Urgy last year. It is present in minute amounts with ordinary hydrogen. G. N. Lewis has made pure samples of it. Water made from oxygen and this new hydrogen is different from ordinary water. [It does not support plant life and may be poisonous to humans, opening a new science, for heretofore it has been supposed that life began in water.]

Mineral Products Cheaper.

Aluminum — A museum rarity in 1833, selling in 1854 for $100 a pound. Now it is 23 cents a pound.

Sodium carbonate—In 1833 soda was made from plants. Today it is made on a large scale from limestone and coal. It sells for one-tenth of its former price.

Ammonia—Formerly obtained as a byproduct of coal distillation. Haber, in 1905, demonstrated the possibility of forcing nitrogen of the air to combine directly with hydrogen to form ammonia. Bosch developed the catalysts which made this a commercial success. Now nitrates can be made so cheaply that the threat of a nitrogen famine no longer exists. It has opened a new realm of chemical manufacture of immense promise for the future.

Many New Substances.

Dr. Lamb spoke of the perfection in sugar refining, the great oil and gasoline industry, the refining of edible oils and fats.

"More impressive than all these developments," he said, "are the myriads of new substances that the organic chemist has fashioned in his laboratory. As contrasted with the relatively few organic substances known in 1833, it is estimated that there are now more than 300,000 of these substances—substances which, so far as we know, never before existed in the world. They comprise dyestuffs, perfumes, flavors, foods, fabrics, resins, plastics, explosives, and innumerable drugs. Without them our present civilization would be impossible. They impinge upon man at every moment of his existence."

Dr. Lamb then turned to advances in chemical knowledge during this period, particularly the knowledge of the structure of matter. Dalton had demonstrated the atomic structure of matter in 1833, but the greatest confusion prevailed as to the relative weights of the atoms and as to the formulas of the compounds they formed. This door was unlocked in 1852 with the idea of valency, or the number of other atoms that any one atom can attach to itself.

Atoms Clinging Together.

"The diagrams which the organic chemist could now draw," he said, "showed that his substances consisted of chains of carbon atoms, where each carbon atom grasped the hand of a neighboring carbon atom on his left and right."

The inorganic chemist, meanwhile, had approached the problem from another angle, the recurrent properties of the elements, leading through Newlands and Mendeleff and their predictions to the discovery of thirty or more additional elements, Dr. Lamb pointed out.

"It was certain that this regularity reflected some genetic relationship among the atoms, a veritable family tree of the elements," he said.

Then he came to the succession of discoveries, begun in 1897 by J. J. Thomson, which led into the atoms of negative electricity called electrons. Radium gave proof, he said, that the atoms are not simple and inalterable particles, but are complex structures made up of simpler and smaller units and subject to disintegration.

"The architecture of the atoms, particularly of the larger ones, is still imperfectly understood," he said. "The architecture of the simplest of the atoms, hydrogen and helium, is somewhat better known.

"As soon as these discoveries as to structure had been made, chemists and physicists tried to break up the ordinary stable chemical atoms, or to make them explode as radium atoms do on their own initiative. At first, all these attempts were in vain. Finally, by bombarding them with positively charged helium atoms shot out of exploding radium atoms, a number of these stable atoms were shattered and helium and hydrogen atoms were found among the débris.

"Thus on a small scale and at great expense the goal of thousands of years of human effort has been reached; the transmutation of the elements. To be sure, the particular dream of the alchemist, the transformation of base metals into gold, is still unrealized, but this no longer appears impossible, or, thinking in centuries, unlikely."

RIPLEY, OF MINUTE MYSTERIES, LOOKS UP CASE OF BIM GUMP

H. A. Ripley of "Minute Mysteries" has been attracted by the super-mystery involved in the disappearance of Uncle Bim Gump of the Sidney Smith strip and sets his solution machinery to work with the following results that will interest the followers of the fortunes of the Gump family:

"Prof. Fordney, having learned that an unconscious man, closely answering the description of his friend Benjamin Gump, the Australian millionaire, was seen being thrust into the driver's seat of a Rolls-Royce limousine at Yale Cliff, he and I set off immediately.

"Fordney knew that Townsend Zander had tried unsuccessfully to cheat Gump out of millions at cards and suspected he was the culprit.

"Arriving at Yale Cliff we learned from Jim Johnson, a laborer, that he had seen a car dash over the cliff into the water 100 feet below.

"The professor flashed his light about, picked up a chloroformed handkerchief, smelled it, and under his breath said to me, "Not enough to put a man under for more than a moment or two.

"'Knowing Bim Gump as I do, I'll venture to say that he succeeded in opening the car door before it hit the water and that while he was still undoubtedly very groggy he swam or floated until picked up by some one. So we'll start searching both sides of the river—you take the left and I'll take the right bank. We'll find him all right.'

"We did—ten hours later, as Fordney prophesied. As usual, according to my own unofficial deductions, the great criminologist's deductions were correct."

POWDER MAKERS PAY TRIBUTES TO ALFRED NOBEL

The centenary of Alfred Nobel, pioneer in the manufacture of explosives and founder of the Nobel prize for chemistry, physics, medicine, literature, and peace, who died in 1896, was celebrated yesterday by 60 executives of American explosives companies. They attended the opening sessions of a two day fall meeting of the Institute of Makers of Explosives in the Stevens hotel.

FIRE ATTACKS LOOP BUILDING.

Fire apparatus clanged through the loop yesterday in response to an alarm from 105 North Clark street, where a small chimney fire was extinguished before it had done any damage.

Quicker Relief Now from Pain

The pictures above tell, in a simple way, the reason GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN is rated the Fastest, Safe Relief known for pain.

Note that a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate within two seconds after touching moisture—in your stomach just as it does in the glass above.

Hence, a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to "take hold" of even a severe headache or neuritis a few minutes after taking.

Keep this in mind when in pain. BAYER brings the quick relief you want. And the SAFE relief, too. For Genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

So—always say "Bayer Aspirin" when you buy. Then you'll be sure to get the Quick relief and Safety of the real Bayer article.

SUGGESTS NAZIS FIRED REICHSTAG AT LONDON 'TRIAL'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Under the active curiosity of the German government and in the presence of an agent of Chancellor Hitler, an international legal commission assembled today to fix the guilt for the incendiarism which almost destroyed the German reichstag Feb. 27.

The German government interested itself in the proceedings to the extent of asking the British foreign office whether the inquiry was under official auspices. Britain replied that the investigation had no official sanction.

Arthur Garfield Hays of the United States is a member of the commission which is considering evidence in an effort to determine whether the Nazis set the reichstag on fire rather than the five communists accused by the German government.

[The communists will go on trial at Leipzig Sept. 21.]

Witnesses stood at one end of a platform. Perspiring volunteers translated their testimony. At the rear of the room sat Herr Thost, Hitler's publicity agent in England. Thost muttered behind his hand, digging his elbows into the ribs of persons near by as he guffawed at the testimony.

The chief witness of the day was Dr. Paul Hertz, formerly a Social Democratic member of the reichstag. He testified that it was physically impossible for the accused communist to have filled the building with enough material to cause such a fire.

Socialist First Witness.

He gave a minute description of the entrances and exits of the reichstag building and of the hallways through which members and visitors passed.

"I believe that the barricaded part of the reichstag in the press rooms and the press gallery, to which visitors and the ordinary reichstag staff never were admitted, must have been the place where the fire started," he said. "I also consider it would be quite impossible for any one to take into the building, through the two doors, the large quantity of inflammable material which would have been necessary without being observed by the reichstag attendants.

"It would have been possible, however, for the material to have been carried into the building through the engine room or the president's house (Capt. Herman Wilhelm Goering), but I think it would have been quite impossible for a communist to have got into the engine room or the president's house. By this I mean to say that a communist might have found his way into the engine room or the president's house, but he would never have found his way out."

Why "Trial" Is Being Held.

Today's session opened with a speech by Sir Stafford Vripps, Labor member of the house of commons. He asserted that the trial of the five communists at Leipzig is a purely political one in which the defendants will not have a chance.

"It has been suggested that the fire was a scheme put forward by the Nazis themselves," he added, "in view of the world wide importance of the trial to take place at Leipzig, and of its political surroundings, the committee feels that some means should be adopted for bringing together the evidence available outside Germany and for bringing it before the world for criticism and enlightenment."

Scattered throughout the audience were H. G. Wells, novelist; George Lansbury, leader of the Labor opposition in the house of commons, and Ernst Toler, radical firebrand.

CHICAGO FAMILY ASKS HINDENBURG TO CURB NAZIS

The Eisendrath Cousins' club of Chicago, one of the largest family groups of German descent in America, has forwarded to President Paul von Hindenburg of Germany a letter of protest against the "propaganda of hate which has been spread by a few of the present masters of the country."

The Eisendraths warned Von Hindenburg that unless he acts to end the Nazi campaign against German Jews "you will lose the respect of other nations and the respect of all righteous thinking people." The campaign was characterized as "an insult to both Christians and German patriots."

The letter insisted that the Hitlerites are pursuing their persecution program with the sole purpose of strengthening their organization and that once in power they "will have no hesitancy in establishing their tyranny over the other peoples of your state and enforcing their unjust and unfair laws upon a liberty loving population."

The Eisendraths called Von Hindenburg's attention to "the time when German children were suffering after the war Julius Rosenwald of our city did help and assist to an unusual degree in making and securing generous contributions to the German children, as did others of the Jewish faith in this country who have always thought of their ancestors as Germans."

Speed Boycott Here Against Nazi Persecution of Jews

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The world-wide boycott being organized against German goods in protest against Nazi persecution of Jews will be developed in Chicago at once. This announcement was made last night by Max M. Korshak, master in chancery and a member of the council of 15 which will direct the nation-wide organization of the boycott.

Mr. Korshak has been in New York, conferring with his committee. He stated that Samuel Untermyer, head of the World Jewish Economic federation, and leader of the boycott organization, will visit Chicago early in October to assist in the final development of boycott activities here and throughout the central west. Mr. Korshak added that Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin is a member of the national committee of 100 and will assist the local work of enlisting non-Jewish support for the boycott.

The tightening of the boycott against Nazi Germany through international organization is "the only way to bring the Nazi government to its senses," said Gen. Clinnin.

Technicians Seek New Sources.

Technicians and scientists, he said, have been at work for months in studying the 7,000 articles marketed throughout the world by German producers and industrialists in order to find new sources.

This study is being made by volunteers under the direction of Mr. Untermeyer with a view of interesting representatives involved in every step in the trade processes as well as the ultimate consumers, he explained.

Reports of the findings of the Untermyer bureau of research made public by Mr. Korshak indicate that Czecho-Slovakia is now prepared to replace the German dye industry products on the world market and that sources in other countries have been found which can entirely replace German production of chemical and drug suppliees.

Asks Ban on German Shipping.

Research information concerning physicians' and dentists' supplies and drugs has already been applied in Chicago by a committee recently organized by Dr. J. Spiro, 3201 West Roosevelt road. In place of working only through the consumers of German products needed by these fields, Dr. Spiro stated that wholesale dealers and transportation agencies are being utilized to clamp down the boycott. For instance, he pointed to the fact that millions of dollars are paid to German shippers and German steamship lines. This, he said, will be cut off through the use of American influence. Dr. Spiro is a member of the national committee of 100.

The boycott committee in Kansas City, a center for the distribution of sugar beet seed, of which 25 per cent has come from Westphalia, has gained the coöperation of 16 wholesale food houses which collected signatures from 8,000 retail grocers to an appeal to beet sugar refineries not to purchase seed or beet sugar from Germany so long as the Hitler government continues to persecute the Jews.

Another instance of the methods of applying the boycott cited by the Untermyer bureau is a petition in circulation throughout the international fur trades pledging firms to abstain from attending all auction sales held by Soviet Russia on German soil as long as persecution of Jews is continued.

PHILIPPINE HOUSE SETS FREEDOM VOTE FOR OCT. 30

MANILA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Philippine house today approved a bill providing for a vote by the island people next Oct. 30 on whether they wish independence in about ten years, as profferred by the United States congress. The vote of 48 to 10 for the plebiscite was over the protests of advocates of acceptance of independence. The senate has not yet acted.

Strong doubt was expressed in legislative circles that the plebiscite would be held and some members of the majority, led by Manuel Quezon, president of the senate, joined in protests against the proposed ballot.

BAVARIA ACCUSES AUSTRIAN POLICE OF "AIR RAIDS"

Urges Berlin to File Protest with Vienna.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The German foreign office today was requested to protest to the Austrian government against "the repeated flying over Bavarian territory by armed Austrian police planes." The request was forwarded to Berlin by H. Esser of the Bavarian state chancellory.

According to the complaint from Munich, two Austrian planes crossed the frontier near Freilassing this morning and proceded in the direction of Traunstein. One plane bore the number "A32" and was identified as a police plane stationed at Salzburg.

Esser further requested the foreign office to insure adequate measures for the protection of the Bavarian frontier.

[On Sept. 5, seven Austrian planes piloted by police aviators with military training were ordered to Innsbruck to do patrol duty along the the Austro-German border. The planes are privately owned. Under the treaty of St. Germain, neither the army nor police is permitted to hold title to armed aircraft.]

"Brain Trust' Takes Office Today.

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A new Prussian state council, reconstituted under the Nazi régime, will be solemnly sworn in tomorrow. Under the presidency of the Prussian premier, Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, in the new main hall of Berlin university.

The new council marks the final departure from democratic parliamentary government in Prussia in favor of an authority rule which ultimately will be extended to other states.

The new body, formerly of a nonpolitical nature and acting in an advisory capacity to the Prussian cabinet on legislative matters, is now composed of two groups as follows:

1. The political group, comprising the chief Nazi departmental leaders, whose counselorships are dependent on party memberships.

2. The life members, comprising prominent persons in science, art, religion, economics, and labor.

Office Is Honorary.

The office is honorary and the membership, originally fixed at 50, now numbers 67 and may be increased by appointments of especially meritorious personages.

Among members of the body are such well known persons as former Field Marshal August Von Mackensen, Gen. Karl Litzmann, Bishop Ludwig Mueller, the industrial magnate, Fritz Thyssen, conductor Dr. Wilhelm Furtwaengler, and Princes August Wilhelm of Prussia and Philip of Hesse.

The new council's first business meeting will be held on Saturday in the former Kaiser Wilhelm's Neunes Palast in Potsdam.

Premier Goering, who also is reich's minister without portfolio, today added a police general's uniform to his already large wardrobe. He previously was entitled to wear the uniforms of an infantry general and air minister.

Meanwhile it was announced that Konstantin von Neurath, minister of foreign affairs, will head the German delegation to Geneva. Dr. Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, also will be a delegate. Meetings of the league of nations assembly and the world disarmament conference are pending at Geneva.

BANDIT LENDS A HAND IN HIS OWN CAPTURE

A Negro bandit captured himself yesterday after taking $46.26 from Mrs. Margaret Ford, cashier of the Excelsior laundry, 58 East 22d street. Mrs. Ford followed screaming as the bandit fled to the street and ran toward Wabash avenue.

A few seconds later Policeman Peter Miller, standing in front of 2040 South Wabash avenue, was surprised when a Negro plunged into him in full flight. He cuffed the Negro with his hand and the latter fell exhausted to the sidewalk.

The captive identified himself as Jack Brown, 30 years old, 3955 Michigan avenue, and said that he recently had been released from Joliet prison.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes this good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

WORLD WAR AIDS GATHER FOR 3D REUNION TODAY

Members to Recall Work Among Wounded.

Echoes of the days of the world war rose in song and story last night in the Belden-Stratford hotel. Members of the World War Reconstruction Aides' association were gathering from many sections of the country for the third biennial convention today and sectional reunions were already under way. The membership comprises those women who organized to rehabilitate the wounded and disabled, activities which were commemorated in one of the chants popular at the gathering:

There were aides who did the teaching,
There were aides who rubbed the backs,
There were aides who filled the ward with laughter
As they worked with bolts and nuts and tacks. . . .

Sung to the tune of "Smiles," the stanzas are descriptive of the duties which brought the association into being. To foster friendships begun in war work today is the major reason for keeping the association alive, for it is almost entirely social in character. Only a comparative few of the members are still engaged in the work of occupational or vocational therapy which they pursued together as a unit in other days.

Hold Dinner Tonight.

Tonight there will be humorous and serious reminiscence of the earlier years of the association at a dinner in the Belden-Stratford at which Mrs. Marco Adrogna will be toastmistress. Speakers will include Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Dr. Hugh Scott, head of Hines Memorial hospital, who will discuss occupational therapy in military hospitals, and Dr. Frederick Volini, head of the medical school of Loyola university, who will tell of its use in civilian hospitals. Mrs. Eleanor Slagle of New York, director of the bureau of occupational therapy of the department of mental hygiene in her own state, will be a special guest and speaker.

Mrs. Slagle is credited with having introduced occupational therapy into this country during the war to distract wounded men from their disabilities and to provide them with means of earning a living after their discharge from the hospitals. She has been called into consultation by other countries even recently and was the founder of the Henry B. Favill School of Occupational Therapy in Chicago, later going into the surgeon general's office in Washington.

Will Visit Fair in Body.

Following the close of the convention today the members will remain over for two days to visit A Century of Progress in a body. A luncheon will be held tomorrow in the trustees' lounge of the Hall of Science, after a morning spent at the Art institute, and a tour of the grounds will occupy the afternoon. On Sunday there will be a garden tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason in Highland Park.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Adrogna and including Mrs. Oscar Gallois, Mrs. Edward S. Beck, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Meredith Murray, and Mrs. Gertrude Sample.

YOUNG FOOTBALL STAR SENTENCED ON AUTO CHARGE

Municipal Judge John Gutnecht yesterday sentenced Leroy Smith, 18 years old, 817 East 46th street, a guard on the De La Salle High school football team, and Edward Hayes, also 18, of 6048 South Peoria street, to a year in the Bridewell on charges of tampering with an automobile.

At the same time he told the youths that because of their previous good record he would entertain a motion to vacate their sentences if they stay in jail until Oct. 11. Norman Barry, coach of the high school football team, interceded for the youths.

They were arrested Sept. 6 while riding in a stolen automobile, which had been reported used in a robbery. The boys asserted that they had found the car abandoned at a curb and had driven only a block when a police squad caught them.

Judge FitzHenry to Take Appeal Court Oath Oct. 3

Judge Louis FitzHenry of Bloomington will be sworn in as a member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on Oct. 3 in the United States courthouse here. His position as judge of the United States District court in Springfield will be filled by Congressman J. Earl Major of Hillsboro, recently appointed to the federal bench. Judge Major will relinquish his seat in the house at the next session of congress.

TELL WHY COST OF RELIEF RISES AS ROLLS SHRINK

Cite Price Advance and New Rent Policy.

Officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday claimed that increased food prices and a new policy of paying rent for clients were the reasons for the increase of 8 per cent in the cost of Cook county relief. The increased expenditure of the relief commission was recorded in the face of a decrease of 11.8 per cent in the number of families served.

Figures released in Washington showed that the families on the relief rolls in Cook county had decreased from 170,000 in July to 150,000 in August. Despite this decrease, the figures showed, the cost of relief has increased from $4,307,000 in July to $4,650,000 in August, all in warm weather, with no coal to buy. The cost per case of Cook county relief has bounded from $25.33 to $31 per client.

Groceries Cost 20% More.

"An increase in food prices from July 22 until the present time has caused an increase of 20 per cent in grocery budgets," a statement issued in explanation from the Chicago office said yesterday. "The commission also has adopted a new policy of paying rent for clients instead of waiting until these clients are threatened with eviction. The situation became so serious that it was necessary to inaugurate this policy of paying rent."

The statement also said that figures released in Washington were based on preliminary figures "subject to great revisions." It was pointed out that the true figures would show that expenditures of the commission for July would total $4,310,000, as against $4,285,401 in August.

The relief officials admitted, however, that the "true figures" would present a distorted picture of relief affairs as a number of bills that should have been paid in August were allowed to go over into September because of a lack of funds. There was no estimate made as to the extent of these unpaid bills.

More Intensive Supervision.

"When case loads were at their peak, each caseworker had an overload," Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission, said in a second statement. "As a result the caseworker could not give the individual family the attention it deserved. When the relief loads began to decrease, however, the opportunity for intensive work arose, and as a result the relief load has decreased faster than employment has increased."

A request for an explanation of the statement brought the announcement that the caseworker, given more time for intensive application to her work, was able to show the clients how to get money from their relatives without going to work.

Mr. Reynolds notified Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, yesterday that an additional $2,010,293 in federal funds, obtained by the visit of public officials to federal relief authorities in Washington, has been released for relief expenditures during this month.

PROPOSE LIQUOR BE SOLD ONLY FOR HOME USE

Speakers Estimate Proper Fee at $250 to $2,500.

The sale of whisky in its original package in establishments other than those where beer is dispensed was advocated by speakers who appeared before the Illinois liquor commission in session last night in the county building. Recommendations for state licenses for the sale of hard liquor ranged from $250 to $2,500.

It was the third hearing held by the board, of which Senator Harold G. Ward is chairman, in an effort to draw up a state liquor control system for submission at a special session of the state legislature. The proposed liquor law would be drafted to become effective after the repeal of the 18th amendment, expected in December.

Seeks to Avert Saloon's Return.

Mark Levy, representing the Chicago and Cook County Real Estate boards, of which he is past president, said he favored the sale of whisky in drug or liquor stores for consumption not on the premises so there would be no possibility of the influence of the old time saloon returning.

"I don't believe it should be sold promiscuously through every channel," he told the commissioners. "I believe the license should be made large enough to place the sale of potent liquors in the hands of substantial and responsible business men. For that reason I think a fee of $1,500 to $2,000 would not be too high.

"I would like to see hotels and clubs privileged to serve liquor and to see it partaken in the open, not behind screens or in booths. A system to provide for such dispensation would have to be worked out, but in the main liquor should be sold by the government direct to the consumer. Packages can be made small enough for even one drink. Countless abuses can be prevented by selling it in bottles and in its original package.

Shanahan and Harding Heard.

"I don't believe grocery stores would want to sell whisky and I doubt whether they should. It's different with beer; it is a more universally consumed beverage. Hard liquor should be controlled to a stronger degree than would be possible if sold so widely."

Representative David E. Shanahan protested that a $2,500 license would prohibit small communities, especially those down state, from enjoying the privilege. John P. Harding, restaurateur, pointed out that it would make whisky so high priced that bootleggers would do "a land office" business, at least with gin.

"Then I'd say to reduce it enough to prevent these evils," said Mr. Levy, "but $1,500 a year is only $5 a day and I know a speakeasy not far from where we sit where as much as $2,500 a day is taken in sometimes. Remember, too, that we are now under the new deal and inflation should raise the new license over the price of the preprohibition license."

Asks Sales Tax on Whisky.

A 4 per cent sales tax on whisky was advocated by E. H. Crown, president of Corydon & Ohlrich of Illinois, Inc., liquor importers. In addition he advised that a fee of $100 be charged retailers, with a $50 fee for importers. He also pointed out that in England fees are figured on a basis of real estate valuation, so that stores best situated pay more.

"I believe that saloons should sell only beer and fermented beverages not stronger than port wine, which has an alcoholic content of 18 per cent," he said. "Hard liquor should be sold in separate places, in original packages, and for consumption elsewhere than on the premises.

"I think you'll find that under the NRA, with shorter hours of work, more wine and light beverages will be consumed as is done in Europe. Here we have worked such long hours in the past that we felt the need of a 'hooker' of hard liquor to brace us up, but when we have the time for it we'll learn that we can stay sober longer, and thus enjoy ourselves more, by drinking lighter liquors."

VOLSTEAD ON NEW MINNESOTA LIQUOR BOARD

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A state liquor control commission, including Andrew Volstead, was named today by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, who also announced a special legislative session would be called to consider a control program if the states ratify repeal of the eighteen amendment.

The co-author of the national prohibition enforcement act and 65 other Minnesotans representing many organizations and professions were appointed to the commission, which is charged with drawing up a liquor control plan for presentation to the legislature.

"The action of the people of the United States in voting thus far for repeal of the eighteenth amendment justifies the conclusion that before the year is over the amendment will be repealed," Gov. Olson said.

A special legislative session is necessary, he added, because present state laws do not provide for handling and control of liquor in the event of repeal.

Compromises Debt

HELEN KANE.

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Helen Kane, who introduced the boop-boop-a-doop style of singing, has agreed to pay $32,500 in full settlement of her debt to the bankrupt Bond Dress company and the agreement was approved today by Peter B. Olney, referee in bankruptcy.

Counsel for the Irving Trust company informed Referee Olney that the creditors of the bankrupt company had agreed to the compromise.

Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey has ordered Miss Kane to return, with interest, the $40,000 she had received from Murray Posner, president of the company, at a time when the dress company already was insolvent.

ASKS $50,000 FOR BLOW.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Mrs. Stella Kliest of this city is suing her son-in-law, Louis Bessler, Porter county farmer, for $5,000, averring that he struck her in the mouth during an argument while she was visiting in his home.

Is your husband like this —grouchy, irritable—instead of the "pal" he used to be?

Always good-natured, really devoted ... now he is sullen, irritable, at odds with all the world. Ask him what ails him and he couldn't tell you to save his life. He worries and worries. Yet strangely enough there is nothing seriously wrong ... nothing he cannot easily correct in a few days.

It's Asthenia

(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

Millions are in the same lamentable plight today ... and not one in ten can guess the cause. That's the insidious thing about Asthenia ... it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes .. be ready and eager for any task .. experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it.

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Taken as directed—one-fifth glass

in four-fifths glass of hot water

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days!

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days. Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. Then you will understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

Two sizes—20c and 45c—at all drug counters. Bottled and sealed at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana.

PLUTO WATER

America's Laxative Mineral Water

Now in Two Forms—PLUTO WATER and FRENCH LICK SALTS

The same essential minerals contained in the famous Pluto Water have now been concentrated into pleasant-tasting, effervescent laxative crystals known as FRENCH LICK SALTS. Effectively clears the system, gives the same healthful benefits as Pluto Water. Try it. At all stores—50c the bottle.

FIGHTING PLANES OF U. S. AIR FORCE FOUND OBSOLETE

Hopelessly Outclassed by New Attack Types.

Fighting planes of the army air corps, the backbone of the nation's air defense, are hopelessly obsolete and must be replaced by highly specialized types capable of speeds of five miles a minute and able to climb to great altitudes at a rate of half a mile a minute, in order to reëstablish a measure of security from attack by air.

Capt. Ross G. Hoyt, in the office of the chief of air corps, Washington, D. C., outlines this problem of air defense in a current bulletin of the air service. He says that the air corps needs immediately an interceptor pursuit plane capable of 300 miles an hour at an altitude of 20,000 feet and able to reach that height from the ground in a maximum of eight minutes.

High Speed Bombing Planes.

During the last year and a half theories of aerial warfare have undergone a thorough revision, Capt. Hoyt states. The reason has been the development of bombing and attack planes capable of speeds in excess of 200 miles an hour. The air corps' new Curtiss attack planes fly at the rate of more than 200 miles an hour with a load of bombs and five machine guns, while the new Martin bomber is capable of 240 miles an hour with 4,000 pounds of bombs at 20,000 feet.

Meanwhile the speed of pursuit types, used for defense against attack planes, has not advanced in the same proportion. Present service types of pursuit planes have a top speed of 210 miles an hour. The air corps has ordered 111 Boeing low wing pursuit planes capable of 235 miles an hour, but it is pointed out, they will be equally obsolete because they will have no speed advantage over the offensive types. These new fighters can only be regarded as transitional types, to train air corps flyers in the new high speed fighting tactics.

Capt. Hoyt declares that the interceptor type of pursuit plane was not of much value during the late war because of the lack of communication facilities between the planes and the ground. The development of inter plane and plane-to-ground radio has removed that difficulty, and now continuous communication is maintained.

Armament for Plane.

The 300 mile an hour interceptor pursuit plane needed by the air corps, Capt. Hoyt says, should carry one or two machine guns, twenty-five or thirty three or five pound supersensitive instantaneous fuse bombs, a two way radio set and an auxiliary gas tank which could be dropped when its supply is exhausted. The bombs would be used against the invading aircraft.

"At least two distinct types of pursuit airplanes should be developed" says Capt. Hoyt, "one of the interceptor type and another of the long range multiplace type with performance characteristics superior to our most efficient bombardment airplane.

"Regardless of the nomenclature given it, it is apparent from the result of recent exercises and maneuvers that there is an urgent demand for a type of aircraft, the primary missions of which are to deny the operations of the hostile air force and to support the operations of our own air force."

Although the United States now has the fastest heavy bomber in the world, the new Martin, its design is certain to be copied by all foreign powers, and reproduced. When that is done, such bombers could easily attack the United States because we have no pursuit planes that could engage them successfully. No other nation has air fighters that are much faster than ours, the top speeds at present being about 250 miles an hour.

ILLINOIS BEER TAX BRINGS STATE MORE THAN $1,250,000 CASH

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Assistant Finance Director J. M. Braude today announced that more than $1,250,000 in revenue has been received by the state from the new license tax on beer.

Receipts for August exceeded July by approximately $21,000, with the prospect of larger receipts for September.

The two cent a gallon tax on malt and vinous beverages brought $172,237.78 into the treasury during August, compared with $151,398.03 collected in July.

Mr. Braude predicted a decline in beer revenue after September until next summer.

Licenses to sell beer at retail had been issued to 16,042 persons by September. Seven brewers, making a total of 27, and 63 importing distributors were licensed last month.

Woman Files Praecipe in $500,000 Love Suit

Miss Margaret Molyneaux, 28 years old, 1400 Lake Shore drive, filed the praecipe of a suit for $500,000 yesterday in the Superior court against Sidney Phillipson, 666 Sheridan road, son of the former owner of a large wholesale dry goods company. She seeks damages, her attorney said, for an alleged breach of promise to marry.

tending the furnace in a Gas Heated house

Gas Heat ends all dirt, grime, labor, and drudgery

To prove that every home can afford to heat with gas ... we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

GAS heat is this easy and simple! You don't need to go near the furnace. No shoveling coal, no hauling ashes, no setting dampers. No fuel supply to run low in zero weather. One touch of the thermostat controls your heat perfectly, day and night.

But perhaps you say, "Yes, of course, I know gas heat is the perfect heat. But it costs too much."

New low cost for gas heat

Then here's good news for you. Gas heat now costs less than half what it did in 1930-31. A luxury priced for the majority. A wonderful convenience, now within your reach.

To prove it—and we take the full burden of proof—we'll install it in your home without your making one cent of investment. Then you'll know from your own personal experience whether you can afford gas heat or not. And if we're wrong and you decide you don't want it—out it comes. We remove it at our expense.

During the nine heating months of the first year you pay $3.00 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge will be included with your gas bill. And if for any reason during the first year you want it removed, we take it out and the rental charge stops immediately. Further, we replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. If you decide you want it, the rental applies on the purchase price.

Gas heat for health

Automatic gas heat promotes better health. No ups and downs of temperature which may start winter colds and coughs. No dust or grime to inhale. No odor. Gas heat saves cleaning bills and endless housework. Walls and paper stay clean year after year. Hangings stay up all winter long. There's no greasy smudge. No dirt-tracked stairs and rugs.

Mail coupon today

Let us install gas heat now. We make this offer without hesitation because we know the great difference gas heat will make in your home—your comfort—the health and contentment of your family.

NEW TRUCK LINE ROUTE OPPOSED ON NORTH SHORE

State Commission Ponders Company's Petition

BY HAL FOUST.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday took under advisement a second company's petition to inaugurate trucking over residential streets of the north shore suburbs. The petitions of two other companies—making four petitions in all—are awaiting hearing.

Yesterday's proceeding was on the amended application of the Willett company for a certificate of convenience and necessity to operate freight trucks from Chicago north to Waukegan, northwest to Arlington Heights, west to Elgin, St. Charles, Geneva, and Aurora, south to Chicago Heights, and southeast to Hammond.

The company's first application designated Sheridan road as the northern route, but this was amended to make the route Ridge avenue, Asbury avenue, McCormick road, and Railroad avenue in Evanston, Center street, Glencoe road, Vernon avenue, and Green Bay road in Wilmette, Kenilworth, Winnetka, Hubbard Woods, and Glencoe, Green Bay road to Lake Forest, and thence north in Sheridan road.

Suburbs Oppose Truck Line.

"Every community along this route objects to this truck line," the commission was told by Howard F. Bishop, attorney for the North Shore Property Owners' association. "Operation of the trucks would depreciate the value of abutting residential property. It would be a hazard to passenger travel and to pedestrians. No one wants this truck service but the truck owners."

One of the proposed truck routes in Glen Ellyn and Wheaton also uses a boulevard. From the St. Charles road, the trucks would travel over Crescent boulevard and Pennsylvania avenue in Glen Ellyn to reach College avenue in Wheaton.

Joseph H. Wright, attorney for the Illinois Central railroad, and Ralph Himmelhoch, attorney for Railway Express Agency, Inc., argued against the petition on the grounds that the trucks were unfair competition to the railroads.

Pleads for Truck Company.

In pleading in behalf of the petition Attorney Lawrence T. Allen declared that the commerce commission must take over the regulation of trucking in the metropolitan area to eliminate irresponsible wild-cat carriers. He added that with a certificate from the commission the Willett company would also put many contract truckers out of business, relieving traffic congestion. In reply to the objection of the railroads he said they were merely trying to stem the tide of progress in transportation.

The commerce commission also has under advisement a petition of the Hastings Express company to operate a truck line into the north shore suburbs. The other two petitions for a similar certificate have been filed by the Republic Trucking company and the Krema Trucking company. According to Mr. Bishop these three concerns are asking permission to run their trucks in Sheridan road.

TWO MORE JAP MINISTERS MAY RESIGN POSTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 14.—The resignation today of Count Yasuya Uchida as Japanese foreign minister and his replacement by Koki Hirota, former ambassador to Moscow, may lead the way to the resignation of Korekiyo Takahashi, finance minister, and Baron Tatsuo Yamamoto, home minister. Both are aged—Takahashi is 79 and Yamamoto is 77—and are not well. Both are known to be desirous of resigning.

Enemies of the cabinet, naturally, are expected to do their utmost to force their resignations, as both are affiliated with the Seiyukai party. The withdrawal of either undoubtedly will wreck the cabinet.

Hirota, who was inducted into office before the emperor at Hayama today, is expected to pave the way to closer relations with soviet Russia. He brings new hope to the deadlocked Sino-Russian railway conference here. It is recalled that Hirota first broached the subject of Japan buying the Chinese Eastern railway during his Moscow ambassadorship. Hirota is nonpartisan and is considered capable, but decidedly not of great calibre.

LIKES HER BEER

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Mary Gundlock, 3016 Seminary avenue, who will celebrate her 100th birthday next Sunday at her home, where she has lived for 50 years, said yesterday that she still is fond of beer.

"Prosit," Mrs. Grundlock said as she raised a foaming stein after being congratulated by her friends. "It is not as good as that we used to buy at a nickel a stein, but this tastes better than none at all."

Mrs. Gundlock was born in Holland in 1833 and came to this country with her parents when she was 14.

"I saw the Fair of 1893 and I am going to see if this one is better," she said. "My children are making plans to take me next week."

"Prosit," Mrs. Gundlock said as though she has been slightly hard of hearing for the last three years. A birthday dinner will be given for her in her home on Sunday. It will be attended by her two daughters, Mary, 73 years old, of Elgin; Dealia, 70 years old, 4443 Ravenswood avenue; and her son, John, 68 years old, who lives with her. Eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren will also be present.

ACCIDENT TOLL RISES AS MORE RETURN TO WORK

An increase in industrial accidents during recent months, attributable to men returning to work after long periods of idleness, was revealed yesterday by W. Dean Keefer, director of the industrial division of the National Safety council, at the convention of the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions at the Congress hotel.

"When a man goes back to work after a long period of idleness, he is physically unfit and mentally unstrung, and has difficulty in readjusting himself to the use of machinery," Keefer said. "The increase in industrial accidents has been due to a failure of man power, not to the failure of safety devices."

POLICE IN FAST CARS TO CHASE AUTO THIEVES

Kelly Rejects Proposal for Night Parking Ban.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.
Automobiles stolen, 72; recovered, 51; stripped, 1 [from Chicago police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Wednesday].

The motor vehicle anti-theft conference of automobile insurance underwriters yesterday submitted to Mayor Kelly a list of recommendations designed to abolish the automobile theft racket, which levies an annual toll of $10,000,000 on Chicago car owners. The recommendations are:

1. Strict enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting all night parking within the city.

2. An increase of 20 policemen to be placed on patrol duty under the automobile theft detail at the detective bureau, and the equipment of this bureau with 20 new, fast automobiles carrying radio and other police paraphernalia.

3. Extension of existing licensing statutes to include key cutters and locksmiths, and to punish unauthorized persons who carry master keys.

4. Discontinuance of cash payments by insurance companies to automobile owners for rehabilitation of stripped machines, and establishment by the insurance companies of one or more salvage bureaus.

5. Reduction of towing and storage rates for automobiles recovered by the police.

Kelly Against Night Parking Ban.

Mayor Kelly announced that he would favor all the recommendations save that of enforcing the all night parking ordinance. He said, speaking of that proposal: "I am not for it at this time."

The report said that the parking of automobiles on city streets for all night periods was a "contributing factor to automobile thievery." It was stated that all night parking also fostered the wholesale stripping of cars. Ninety per cent of all thefts are made in order to allow thieves to strip off accessories and removable parts of automobiles, the report asserted.

The present personnel of the automobile detail consists of only 95 men, it was pointed out in the report. Of this number only 68 are available for patrol duty. The underwriters recommended that at least 20 new patrolmen be assigned to the bureau.

Blow at Stolen Parts Market.

The insurance men asserted that "there should be no cash settlement for partial losses to automobile owners by insurance companies." It was explained that in this manner the owners of stripped cars patronize crooked used parts dealers who have stolen accessories and parts on their shelves. To kill this market for stolen parts the report suggests the establishment of a salvage bureau. Such a bureau now is in operation as the Central Salvage bureau, jointly supported by more than 100 different underwriters.

The report said that many automobile thieves were obtaining duplicate keys and master keys with which to gain possession of cars from key cutters and locksmiths, who produce special keys for this purpose. Licensing of the key makers will give the police some control over this phase of the theft racket, the report said.

Storage rates now $5 for towing and $1 a day for storage should be reduced to $4 for towing and to 50 cents a day storage, the underwriters said.

GANDHI PROMISES TO CURB FIGHT AGAINST BRITAIN FOR A YEAR

POONA, India, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi today coupled a promise to refrain from strenuous resumption of his civil disobedience campaign until Aug. 3, 1934, with a warning that he would undertake another fast to the death if he was rearrested or met rebuffs in his work for relief of the untouchables.

The Indian leader, who was released from jail late in August after a fast, described his decision as a "bitter cup of agony." He said:

"Since my unexpected release on Aug. 23, darkness has surrounded me. It will take me several weeks to regain my health. So, after hard praying, I have decided not to court imprisonment until Aug. 3, 1934, marking the termination of the sentence from which I was released after my latest fast.

"Nevertheless, this does not affect the advice I gave, urging to the country to participate in individual disobedience against British authority."

3 POLICEMEN ARE OUSTED BY CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

The civil service commission yesterday dismissed three patrolmen from the police force. One of them, Edward J. Wroblewski of the West North avenue district, had been tried before on the same charges, dismissed, and then reinstated by a court order.

It was testified that Earl Melvin Rapp, who on Sept. 23, 1931, lived at 4032 Kamerling avenue, received a warning from a neighbor early on that morning and as a result went to the Austin police station and asked Lieut. Albert Hoffmen to accompany him to his home. When they entered they found Wroblewski, clad in his underwear, hurrying out of a bedroom door with the rest of his clothing over his arm. He was charged with conduct unbecoming a policeman and neglect of duty.

Patrolman Lee Johnson of the Fillmore street district was found guilty of intoxication, conduct unbecoming a policeman, using coarse, profane or insolent language to a citizen, and willful maltreatment of a citizen. Shortly after midnight on Aug. 3, it was charged, he came upon Mrs. Lee Brown, 2114 Sedgwick street, waiting in an automobile at St. Louis avenue and Madison street for her husband.

He entered the automobile and attempted to kiss her, she testified. When he was taken to a police station, witnesses said, he called Brown a name and then struck him.

MUSCLE SHOALS ELECTRIC RATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Will Cost the Small User Only $1.50 Monthly.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The Muscle Shoals rates to domestic users of electricity were announced today by the Tennessee valley authority and, with the exception of a few municipally owned plants, they are, it is understood, the lowest ever offered any community, or communities, in the United States.

For the small users, whose average electric bills are for a minimum number of electric lights and sufficient additional power to operate a coffee percolator, an electric iron, a toaster, and for other modest purposes, which is averaged on a 50 kilowatt basis, the Muscle Shoals charge will be a flat $1.50 a month as compared to $4.50 paid for the same service in New York City, $2.94 in Chicago, $3.50 in Atlanta, $3.60 in Denver, $2.05 in St. Louis, $4.57 in Knoxville, $1.95 in the District of Columbia and $2.58 in the state of Alabama.

Other Comparisons Made.

For domestic users whose requirements vary from 200 to 600 kilowatt hours the differences between the Muscle Shoals rates and those charged by privately owned power companies are even more striking. For instance, the Muscle Shoals charge based on 200 kilowatt hours is $4.50 for the month, while in New York a charge for the same service is $10.55, in Chicago it is $7.44, in the District of Columbia, $6.85, in Knoxville, $9.06, in Alabama, $5.90, in Denver, $8.50 and in St. Louis, $5.80.

Where the average is worked out on a basis of 400 kilowatt hours, the Muscle Shoals rate will be $6.50 as compared with $20.55 in New York City, $13.44 in Chicago, $8.80 in St. Louis, $14.10 in Denver, $13.06 in Knoxville, and $12.85 in the District of Columbia.

Lower than Ontario Rates.

Going still higher in the scale, the averages based on 600 kilowatt consumption is fixed at $7.30 per month. The rate for the same service in New York City is $30.55; in Chicago, $19.44; St. Louis, $11.80; Knoxville, $17.06, Denver, $20.10; Atlanta, $16; Louisville, $17.30, and in Alabama $11. These were the only comparative figures given out by the authority. Industrial rates, it was pointed out, are now being worked out, but it will be some weeks probably before they are announced.

Asked as to how the new rates compare with those charged by the publicly owned plants in the province of Ontario, David E. Lilienthal, speaking for the Tennessee valley authority of which he is a director, said that the rates applying to the small users whose average is worked out on a 50 kilowatt hour basis is lower than in Ontario. At 200, 400 and 600 kilowatt hours the Muscle Shoals rate is a little higher. Over 1,000 kilowatts the Muscle Shoals rates are lower than in Ontario.

CONCERT ADDS $167.50 TO FUND FOR FREE ICE

The Free Ice fund sponsored by THE TRIBUNE yesterday was increased by $171.50. This total included a contribution of $167.50, the proceeds of a benefit performance in the Studebaker theater on Aug. 20, and $4 from the Bookhouse for Children. The benefit performance was a concert by Sonia Sharnova, managed by Miss Bertha Ott. The fund contributions, $1,764.07 of which have been previously acknowledged, now total $1,935.57. Contributions to the fund, which provides ice for needy families, may be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

HAROLD TEEN—IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE

AWARDED D. S. C. FOR HEROIC FEAT WHILE GASSED

Arnold Klaesi, who has been a motorman for the Chicago Surface lines for the last eight years, yesterday was awarded the distinguished service cross, "for extraordinary heroism in action near Soissons, France." According to the war department, Klaesi, who was a private in company F of the 9th infantry, 2d division, had, on July 18, 1918, in spite of being badly gassed, advanced under "terrific artillery and machine gun fire" to the aid of his company commander, who lay severely wounded before the front line trenches. After rescuing the officer and taking him to the rear, Klaesi returned to action, though he was told by the officer that he might remain behind the lines.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Walgreen's invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?

DR. LEONHARDT CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

"SO HAPPY THAT I TRIED ALL-BRAN"

Delicious Cereal Brought Relief from Constipation

If you have headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read Mrs. Schneider's letter:

"Since I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I don't have to take anything else for constipation. How good it is, and how much better it is for constipation than pills or any other medicine.

"I would never go back to what I used to take, because Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wholesome and healthful."—Mrs. John Schneider, 950 Tenth Street, Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SEIZE 5 TRUNKS HERE IN SEARCH FOR STOLEN FURS

Five trunks believed to contain part of a truckload of raw furs which were hijacked in New York shortly after their arrival on the liner Berengaria on Sept. 11 were seized by police late last night in the express office at the La Salle street station here. Following the seizure three furriers were taken into custody by the police for questioning.

The seizure was made at the request of New York authorities and guards were placed to arrest any one who calls for the trunks. The trunks were not opened pending instructions from the New York police.

The furriers questioned were Irving Beigel and David Grossman, who own a fur store at 251 West 30th street, New York, and Leon Waltz, 50 years old, owner of a fur shop at 162 North State street. Grossman was taken into custody at the Morrison hotel and the other two in the street in front of the hotel.

In the meantime detectives canvassed every warehouse in Manhattan and Brooklyn and recovered $45,000 worth of the stolen furs in a loft in Brooklyn.

ALUMINUM IS MADE FROM CLAY BY NEW PROCESS

Monmouth, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Aluminum from clay on a commercial basis is soon to become a reality under a new process patented by F. M. McClenahan, professor of physics and geology at Monmouth college.

Aluminum of today is almost exclusvely made with bauxite as basic commercial ore. Under McClenahan's process pottery clay will be the starting material. Pottery clay is more widely distributed in United States and is virtualy inexhaustible.

Alumina suitable for metallurgy is produced by this method at important savings in cost due in part to the fact that valuable byproducts are secured.

Hold Inquest on Death of Lord Kerry; Open Verdict

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A coroner's jury today voted an open verdict in the inquest on the death of the earl of Kerry, 19 year old heir to the marquess of Lansdowne, beneath the wheels of a subway train. A friend who saw Lord Kerry a short time before his death declared that the earl was suffering from faintness. The subway motorman testified that the earl went down in front of the train like a diver with his arms outstretched.

New Plane Added to Air Line Service to Cleveland

United Air lines yesterday announced the addition of a new plane to its service, to operate daily between Chicago and Cleveland. United Air lines now operates eleven planes daily between Chicago and New York. The new plane will leave Chicago at 3:45 p. m., arriving in Cleveland at 6:41 p. m. and connecting with evening trains and planes to Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and West Virginia.

AMERICANS REPORT REMAINS OF 7 FOOT GIANTS IN MEXICO

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Paxson C. Hayes and his exploring party which penetrated by pack train through the Yaqui river country in the Mexican states of Sonora and Sinaloa, returned today. They reported discovery of mummified remains of Mongoloid giants, some of them seven feet tall. Mr. Hayes was accompanied on his trip by Sigurd Russell, west coast poet, and Alex D. Krieger.

The remains of the "giants," some of whom had feet only five inches long, were found in caves of Sonora. Remains of persons of smaller stature also were found. The party said teakwood articles were found, indicating links with the orient. They mapped location of the caves, they said, neither destroyed nor removed anything.

ASKS ANNULMENT FOR SECOND TIME IN TWO YEARS

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—For the second time in two years, Dr. Bascom H. Birney, 75, former chief surgeon for the Milwaukee railroad, was granted marriage annulment today from Mrs. Myrtle K. Birney, formerly of Detroit, whom he married in Yonkers, N. Y., in 1927.

The first annulment was granted after the physician complained in court his wife had married him for mercenary reasons and had twice done him bodily injury.

Mrs. Birney did not oppose the first annulment at the time, but appeared later and obtained a ruling setting it aside.

Another suit in the turbulent history of the family occurred after the first annulment when Dr. Birney brought action against his daughter, Marion, for return of $64,000 in bonds he said he had entrusted to her when the marital litigation was in progress. He got a judgment against her, but reported later he had collected only part of the amount.

Druggist Robbed of $1,259 and Locked in Washroom

Daniel T. Cropp, manager of the D. T. Cropp Pharmacy, Inc., 6900 South Park way, was robbed of $1,259 yesterday morning as he was counting the money while waiting for a messenger to take it to a bank. A young robber walked directly to Cropp's desk at the rear of the store, pointed a revolver at him, and locked him in a washroom and took the money. Cropp opened a window and shouted to a passerby, who liberated him.

15,000 NATIVES FIGHT TO TOUCH FEISAL'S COFFIN

HAIFA, Palestine, Sept. 14.—(AP)—More than 15,000 Arabs crying "Allah Akbar" [God is great] crashed through police lines and fought madly with one another today to touch the coffin enclosing the body of the late King Feisal of Iraq as it passed through this city enroute to Bagdad. Feisal died last week in Switzerland of a heart attack.

At length the body was placed in one of two Royal Air Force planes which took off after the crowd had made a wild dash for the airdrome. The body arrived here from Brindisi, Italy, aboard the British cruiser Despatch.

Several persons were injured when they were pushed against a platform on which religious dignitaries had assembled to witness the transfer of the body. An impressive religious service took place at the docks as the British sailors bore the coffin to a hearse, which transported it to the airdrome.

LINDBERGHS WILL CONTINUE THEIR TOUR IN EUROPE

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh revealed today in his first formal interview granted Swedish reporters that he and his wife will travel further in Europe before returning to the United States.

Col. Lindbergh said that they planned to sail home to avoid winter flying and that plans for the North Atlantic air route which he set out to survey were progressing, although much meteorological study yet was required to insure safety.

The colonel invited newspaper men to a reception at the Royal Automobile club, where he and his wife are staying. He stipulated that he should not be quoted.

Life for Work Is Revealed by Bradford Pen

Publish Journals Kept by Famous Author.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Journal of Gamaliel Bradford, 1883-1932," edited by Van Wyck Brooks.

"Night Over Fitch's Pond," by Cora Jarrett.

Two distinguished books have recently come to us from the same publisher, Houghton-Mifflin company, one the journal of one of America's most distinguished writers and the other the first novel from a pen which may well become one of them.

All journals have a validity which no other kind of writing has. That is, journals which have been kept with honesty. And oddly enough, no one seems to have taken the trouble to keep a journal that ISN'T honest—to keep in both senses of the word, to write one at all, or, having written one, to preserve it.

Belongs to Days of Journals.

Many readers think that journals and journal keepers are only of the past. To be sure, EVERY ONE kept a journal in the time of our grandfathers. On the other hand, you'd be surprised to know how many people keep them today . . Arnold Bennett's voluminous one for instance. And now Gamaliel Bradford's comes. Gamaliel Bradford belonged, spiritually, to the journal keeping age, and his journal is that of a reserved man who would have considered it indelicate to enter into the soul questionings that characterize modern journals.

Ill all of his life, finding travel a bore—because his strength was not equal to the excitement—never dining out, always receiving his friends in his own home [when he was able to receive them], Gamaliel Bradford lived, in the truest sense of the word, the life of the spirit.

That he was destined so to live is evident in the pages of his first entries, written at the age of 19. That he had consistently so lived the last page of the journal, at the age of 68, makes plain. What kept his spirit alive was his work and his joy in books. If ever in literature it is evident that books have saved a soul, that fact is tantamount in the pages of Mr. Bradford's journals.

Books Substance of His Journals.

Books, the writing of his own and the reading of others', gave him such nourishment of spirit that his journal might almost be called a pæan to the joys of literature. Far more than anything else they deal with his writing and his reading. Both scheduled minutely, the days of his life were a straight path to him. In the days of his worst illness he could actually write only an hour a day. During the long hours that he had to lie inactive his work grew word by word—he memorized the sentences and they became so actual to him that when he sat at his typewriter he practically copied them from his mind.

The plan of his day, so many hours for reading poetry, in foreign languages as well as English in strict rotation, so many for reading novels, so many for research for his own writing, so many for writing . . . his was the most thoroughly regimented life imaginable. By regimentation life was possible for Gamaliel Bradford—not only possible but creative.

There is something inspiring about his conquest of pain.

Proves Self Hero of Old School.

And there again Mr. Bradford proves himself a hero of the old school. He is restrained about even that. He does say: "Immensely impressed with the advantages of having a life work that can be done in spite of difficulties," when he is "hampered and crippled by old age." But there is no restraint about his joy in his work and his joy in books. He is "absorbed" and "infatuated" with the characters whom he "psychographed" so brilliantly. He finds "perfectly fascinating this wrestle with St. Francis," etc.

And as for his reading. Time and again he says, "This evening delicious reading" . . . and his comments on the books he reads are penetrating and stimulating. Most of his readiing is among the classics, for he finds himself not at all at one with most of the modern writers whom he encounters. . . . "Strange," he writes as the last words of the journal before his death, "strange how the tradition of beauty has disappeared from everything. Music, poetry, painting, fiction, all are haunted and tormented by the passion for the novel, the exciting, the extraordinary, and the monstrous."

I say "writes" when perhaps I should have said written, for the pen has dropped from his hand. But in the journal Gamaliel Bradford is as alive as the man you are dining with tonight.

Novel Is Story of Two Marriages.

Mr. Bradford would, I think, have liked "Night Over Fitch's Pond," by Cora Jarrett, for it has a strangely fine technique and he found form in literature of vast importance. The sureness with which the tragedy and mystery of that night unfolds would have delighted a man as sure in this methods as Gamaliel Bradford.

"Night Over Fitch's Pond" is a first novel, and it has the quality of the best first novels . . . the quality of being written with infinite care.

It is the story of two marriages, both of which were fundamentally unhappy, although they presented to the world a solid front of success. What happened when love sprang up where only before had been acceptance is the motivation of the book. Its power lies in the author's working out of the motivation into a tale of tragedy whose depths the reader knows only at the end. It becomes almost a mystery story, although from the beginning the reader is conscious that the tragedy is no mystery to the man who is the "I" in the book. The literary director of the publishers, an old and conservative New England house little given to superlatives, declares, "After thirty years of publishing I recall no first novel of greater distinction and promise than this."

Good Morning!

This is the story of one of God's good women—a righteous soul who was hell bent on having everything her own way.

To keep her son from marrying a girl he loves and of whom she doesn't approve she has him drafted into the army. Jim is killed in action. Back in the little country town, Hannah Jessop refuses to recognize or aid Mary Saunders, and the little Jim who looks so much like his dead father . . .

A hard woman—but a Gold Star mother for a' that. The only one in town! Comes a day when, against her will, she is persuaded by the mayor to join the Gold Star mothers who, by special invitation of the government, visited the graves of their sons in France.

In Paris she bumps into an American boy at loose ends because he's up against the same sort of predicament, and has just the same sort of stiff necked, bull headed, jealous mother as spelled destruction for her own son.

Light floods the dank cellar of her soul. In horror at what she sees there and in despairing remorse for that which she has done and left undone, she strives in some part to atone for past mistakes by straightening out Gary Worth's tangled life. . . .

The picture is largely Henrietta Crosman's. This veteran actress, so famous in bygone days, does a notable job in her first big screen rôle. She is of the old school and there are occasions when she seems somewhat platform mannered, but her characterization is a shrewd and telling one in the main. And what EYES the woman has! Scare you!

Contributory rôles are ably played, and Director Ford is one of those who knows his business. The "pilgrimage" scenes are handled with skill, sympathy and humor. The various mothers were cleverly chosen as to type. That episode of the taxi driver demanding his pay is dragged out to too great length, I thought. It would have been funnier if shorter.

The photography is strange. Eerie effects—and the sort of flatness you saw in the old time movies. Ultra modern technique, I hae nae doubt—but I don't care for it. Like three dimensional effects a heap better.

See you tomorrow!

Calls Hepburn Acting Best He Has Ever Seen

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Charles Laughton, the eminent English character player, was visiting on the set of "Cradle Song" from his own set, "White Roman," at Paramount studio, when the talk veered to recent films. "The most gripping piece of acting I have ever seen on or off the screen," Laughton told the others, "was Katharine Hepburn in 'The Morning Glory.'"

Toby Wing and Maurice Chevalier had lunch, or dinner, together or both, each day without exception for the last seven days, and Maurice has Toby dated up for the next week until he leaves to catch his liner in New York. And he has Toby pledged to study French while he is back home so that on his return in January she can talk to him in his own tongue.

Their Wedding Is Planned for November.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ANOTHER interesting engagement is our "lead" for this morning, that of the popular and attractive Ann Elizabeth Walsh to Roy Leonard Flannery. Miss Walsh is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Walsh of 31 East Elm street, and Mr. Flannery, who now lives in Chicago, is the son of John Leason Flannery of New York.

Miss Walsh made her debut in 1930 and is a member of the Service club and the Junior league. She went to the University School for Girls here and then to Ogontz. Her fiancé "prepped" at the Worcester academy and then went to Dartmouth, graduating from there in 1927. The wedding is planned for November.

Miss Walsh is a favorite with all who know her, young and old, and all who will offer Mr. Flannery congratulations will mean it when they say that he is a very lucky man and that they are glad he is living in Chicago instead of in New York, so that their marriage will not deprive Chicago of such a charming member of society.

Two Debuts at Winnetka Today.

Two more Winnetka girls will make their formal bows to society today, Miss Harriet Fentress and Miss Barbara Hobart. Miss Fentress and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress, will receive their friends from 4 to 7 o'clock at their home on Green Bay road, and Miss Hobart and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hobart, will be at home from 5 to 7 o'clock at their residence on Prospect avenue.

Both girls have invited almost the same assistants, but the assisting debs will not have any trouble in attending both parties since both are in Winnetka. Miss Anne Palmer, Miss Allene Withers, Miss Dorothy Ott, Miss Jean O'Brien, Miss Marie Louise Gardner, Miss Jean Lamson, Miss Barbara Bastien, Miss Eleanor Janney, Miss Patty Calkins, and Miss Virginia Ashcraft will be at both parties and in addition Miss Hobart will have Miss Barbara Ann Sargent and the Misses Nancy and Marion Thomas assisting. Miss Helen Fulton and Miss Marian Daughaday are Miss Fentress' other assistants.

Mrs. E. C. Hinsdale, Mrs. Hobart's mother, will receive with Mr. and Mrs. Hobart and their daughter and Mrs. John W. Gary will assist at the Fentress tea.

Miss Hobart and Miss Fentress are combining to give a supper dance tonight with supper in the Hobarts' garden—weather permitting, of course—and dancing later at the Fentress' residence.

Miss Hobart will be leaving soon to enter Smith college and Miss Fentress will be a sophomore at Vassar this year.

Thomas Sisters to Bow During Holidays.

The Thomas sisters, Nancy and Marian, who have assisted at most of the Winnetka debuts so far this fall, are to be debutantes themselves this season, but they will not be presented until the Christmas holidays. Miss Marian and her mother, Mrs. Frederick B. Thomas, leave tonight for their home at Ocean Springs, Miss., and Miss Nancy will join them there later. Miss Marian is going to Smith this winter.

Mrs. Thomas and Miss Nancy will return to Chicago when Miss Marian comes home for the Christmas vacation. The Thomas home in Winnetka is rented for the winter.

The sound of the hunter's horn will reverberate in the countryside around Milburn Sunday, for the first hunt of the season in that fashionable hunting country around Chicago will be held then, starting at 11 o'clock. Last spring the Milburn Hunt did some hunting around the Onwentsia, and there has been talk of that being the locale for the hunt this fall, but Austin H. Niblack, the M. F. G., explained yesterday that he and the others who ride in the Milburn Hunt would be back at Milburn this fall.

Luncheon will be served in the clubhouse after the hunt, Mr. Niblack said, so the rumor that the clubhouse would not be opened this fall must have been a false one, too.

Society to Ride in Burro Races.

Many of society's most attractive young matrons and post-debs have been seen in grease paint and wigs but how many of them have ever been recognized riding burros?

Wears Girlish Costume at Tennis Matches

International Teams Play in Cold Drizzle.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

WHILE the weather man was making up his mind what to do yesterday afternoon, eight American and Australian Davis cup tennis aces stole a march and finished up a two day series of tennis matches on Onwentsia's rainproof court. Victory, which meant the club's historic mint julep cups, went to the Americans in the singles matches and to the Australians in the doubles.

Washed out by rain Wednesday afternoon, the players agreed early yesterday afternoon to continue their tourney in a cold drizzle. A thousand tennis fans indicated their approval by bundling up in oilskins and heavy tweeds and spending the afternoon cheering.

Center way of the box row sat the foursome that enjoyed the curves and slashes of Shields and Crawford, Turnbull and Allison the most. Young "Hobie" Taylor was one of the four. His playmates, "Johnny" King, Leslie Wheeler and "Chuck" Spaulding were the other three. Each one a budding tennis champion in his own right, they watched the games with an interest that amazed even their mothers and fathers. The last few mornings they have been stealing a little of the limelight from the Davis cup stars by playing off their junior championships on the Onwentsia courts. The last of these is scheduled for this morning.

Mrs. Shields Guest of Jean Schweppe.

During the second match yesterday, in which Frank Shields played Australia's "Jack" Crawford, more than one person was wondering how Mrs. Shields remained so pleasantly cool and composed. Stunning in a string colored tweed coat heavily furred with matching fox, a brown brimmed hat and a dress of dusty pink wool, she attended the games with Miss Jean Schweppe, who has been hostess to her and her husband the last few days. Miss Schweppe, who is a tennis player of no little note, wore a fashionable brown tweed costume trimmed in beaver. A tiny nose veil matched her brown beret. Also her guest was Miss Margaret Ames of Duluth, ensembled in Nile green.

Little Miss Mary Merrill Hubbard and her sister Elizabeth, dressed alike, even to their dolls, were members of a grownup party that included their mother, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard; the Laurance Armours, Mrs. Clifford Rodman, and the Russell Forgans. Mrs. Armour wore a black slouch hat and matching Scot scarf with her gray tweed suit. Mrs. Rodman's costume combined a navy blue hat with a white polo coat, while Mrs. Forgan chose a smartly tailored navy blue suit as the

USE PASTRY TUBE TO GIVE BEAUTY TO MANY DISHES

Decorates Salad, Dessert or Even Meat.

BY DOROTHY MASTERS.

A pastry tube is a wondrous thing;
You can make it do 'most anything.

And we could continue indefinitely to extol its virtues in rhyme—the theme really deserves an epic—but lacking time and the inclination, we'll let two lines of verse suffice and get down to real facts.

But first of all, just in case you've never heard of a pastry tube, it's a contraption designed to hold cake icing, or other such mixtures. There are conical attachments for the bottoms, and these metal pieces are punctured with various cuttings—star shaped, round, triangular, or any one of the hundred possibilities there are.

Fancy Imprints for Icing.

When pressure is applied to the tube, it forces the icing through the opening in the cone, giving it special imprints. Thus, if you use a star shaped cone, and give the tube a slight pressure while holding it upright, a star is formed.

There are two kinds of pastry tubes, the bag, which is made of rubber, canvas, or rubberized cloth, and the syringe type, of metal. The latter is preferred by housewives because it's a little easier to keep cleaned, but professional pastry men use the bag, because it can be guided deftly with one hand.

Or, maybe you have a pastry tube, and if so, it's ten chances to one you've had it stuck away in the cabinet drawer for months because you haven't wanted to go to the trouble of decorating a cake. That's because you haven't discovered what a gem it really is.

Decorative Whipped Cream.

So get it out, now, and let's see what else can be done with it. Is there dessert for dinner? A fruit jello? Fine, there's a chance to put the whipped cream topping into the tube for a trial. Give the pastry bag a few deft turns, and presto, there's a luscious mountain.

There's meringue, too. It may be criss-crossed over the open faced pie or applied in rosettes, which ever you please. And while we're on the meringue subject, here's a secret: The next time you have an open pie, make some snowy white rosettes or stars by squeezing the tube over a pan of almost boiling water. The heat will cook the floating egg whites on the bottom, and they may be lifted from the top of the water onto the ready baked pie. If you prefer a browned meringue, that doesn't preclude the use of the tube, since rosettes brown prettily under the broiler.

Other uses may be found in decorating meat dishes with mashed potato roses, or in giving dash to a salad with clever application of the mayonnaise, either in criss cross effects or looped rings.

Also Useful for Cream Cheese.

Still another adverture comes with cream cheese. Softened a bit with milk or cream, it can be dumped into the pastry bag to emerge as a garnish for jellied crackers, fruit salad, or open faced sandwiches.

You can make fancy butter patties, too, if you like, by first creaming the butter to the proper consistency, subjecting it to the vagaries of the pastry bag, then chilling. Deviled eggs have been known to acquire new finish via the tube, and peanut butter also suggests possibilities.

But why go on? You've probably thought of a dozen uses yourself by this time.

FARM AID SEES INCREASED FOOD PRICES AS HELP

Aid to Buying Power, Is His Contention.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.] — A general increase in food prices throughout the country as the result of the campaign to boost farm buying power to its pre-war level, was reported today by Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the farm adjustment administration.

But the gains, he declared, are justifiable for the most part, because the increase in what the consumer has to pay is being passed on to the benefit of the farmer.

Dr. Howe's first report on food prices, issued in an effort to stem possible profiteering on food commodities, showed an increase in the price of 15 out of 16 "representative foods" considered during the six months from Feb. 15 to Aug. 15.

Farmer Gets More for 13.

In 13 of the 15 instances in which gains were reported, the increase in consumer price was reflected in an increase in the price received by the farmer.

"This indicates that, generally, the farmers are getting the benefit of the extra money that consumers are paying out," said Dr. Howe.

At the same time, however, he warned that, "while we have reduced the gap" between the price the farmer gets for his produce and the price he pays for the things he has to buy, "we are still a long way from our goal of parity in prices for farmers."

The consumers' counsel indicated considerable concern for the outcome of the farm administration's effort to boost farm purchasing power in the face of continued rises in the prices of goods the farmer has to buy.

Comparisons Are Made.

The statistical picture presented by Dr. Howe was as follows, figuring the level of farm prices in 1909-'14 at 100:

On Feb. 15 farm prices were at 49. On the same date the price of things the farmer has to buy was 101.

On Aug. 15 farm prices had risen to 72. On the same date the cost of his purchases was at 112.

The increase in farm prices in the six month period amounted to 47 per cent, while the gain in industrial prices amounted to 11 per cent.

On Feb. 15, the farmer was getting 49 per cent of the theoretical parity price desired by the farm administration, while on Aug. 15, six months later, this percentage had risen to 64 per cent.

It was pointed out, however, that Dr. Howe's figures covered a six month period, during the first part of which farm prices gained far more rapidly than industrial prices.

Dr. Howe Sounds Warning.

"If the extra dollars that consumers are asked to pay do not go to the farmers at a faster rate than increases occur in prices of commodities farmers buy, we will lose out in our race for parity," he said. "Both farmers and consumers have a vital interest in what happens to the margins between these two prices during the next few months."

"Increase in farmers' income is only half the story," said Dr. Howe. "The other half is the increased cost of things the farmer must buy. The latter increased between Feb. 15 and Aug. 15 an average of 11 per cent, against an average increase in farm prices of 47 per cent. While we have reduced the gap between these two prices in the first six months of the recovery program, we are still a long way from our goal of parity in prices for farmers."

"Consumers have a definite stake in the farmers' returning prosperity," the consumers' counsel continued. "They will go along with us in our efforts to give the farmers a better deal if we can continue to show them that the processors and middle men are not profiteering on these better farm prices."

Dr. Howe listed some of the consumer price increases as follows:

Bread, 19 per cent; macaroni, 6 per cent; flour, 65 per cent; potatoes, 133 per cent; butter, 10 per cent; cheese, 11 per cent; eggs, 18 per cent; rice, 10 per cent; lard, 30 per cent.

MEXICO AND SPAIN SIGN TREATY FOR MOVIE CENSORS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The government announced today that Mexico and Spain have signed an agreement providing for strict censorship of motion pictures and the barring of any pictures considered degrading of them or any other Spanish speaking country.

Besides, if any foreign company whose pictures have once been barred makes films which are considered objectionable the two governments may by agreement bar all pictures of that firm, regardless of their character.

Films to be banned are those which, "by any procedure, attack, calumniate, defame, burlesque, offend, or disfigure, directly or indirectly, the uses and customs, institutions, habits, characteristics, peculiarities, or deeds of Mexico or Spain."

CHEESE, TOMATOES, CABBAGE COMBINED IN TEMPTING DISH

Cabbage, tomatoes, and cheese, which are all low in cost but high in food value, can be combined in a dish which will both tempt an appetite and satisfy hunger, as follows:

BAKED CABBAGE AND TOMATOES WITH CHEESE.

3 cups of boiled cabbage.
1½ cups of seasoned stewed tomatoes.
1 cup of bread crumbs.
1 cup of ground cheese.
1 tablespoon of butter.
Salt and pepper to taste.

Butter a baking dish, put in a layer of tomato and then one of cabbage. Sprinkle each layer with cheese and then with bread crumbs. Continue in this way until all has been used, and make the top layer of bread crumbs. Dot the top with bits of butter and bake it in a slow oven for about 30 minutes.

FORESTRY ARMY CREATING PARK ON CANAL BANKS

The banks of the old Illinois and Michigan canal, which extends from Chicago to La Salle, a distance of about 96 miles, are being beautified by 1,000 members of the civilian conservation corps under the forestry division of the department of the interior. Officials in charge of the work plan to have it completed for public inspection next April.

This winter the five camps of civilian workers will remain along the canal, in Cook, Will, Grundy, and La Salle counties, cleaning up the terrain, opening trails, removing undergrowth, patrolling the stream and eliminating sources of pollution, and otherwise creating a recreational area along the waterway. When the work is completed the canal will provide hikers with a two day walk.

Shelters are being placed along the canal at intervals for picnics, clear water for drinking is being sought out and marked for hikers, and several abandoned quarries are being prepared for swimming. Areas are being cleared for games and other forms of recreation. The canal is expected to become as popular a recreational center as such waterways are in Europe.

2½ doz. lady fingers
1 cup Borden's Butter, unsalted
1 cup Confectioners' sugar
2 squares chocolate (2 oz.)
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup water
4 Borden's eggs
½ pint Borden's whipping cream

Place chocolate, sugar and water in double boiler and when melted and smooth, add very gradually the yolks well beaten; cook until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Cream butter and confectioners' sugar together and add the egg mixture. Stir well and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Line bottom and sides of mold with lady fingers separated (round side toward the pan). Place a layer of the filling over them and then add another layer of lady fingers, repeating until all are used. Place covered in refrigerator for 24 hours. Unmold, cover with sweetened whipped cream and decorate with nuts and candied cherries.

POTATO PRICES DROP THIRD TO HALF IN CHICAGO

Other Bargains Plentiful Despite Rising Trend.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Retail prices of new potatoes, both those for frying and those for baking, have dropped one-third to one-half from those being quoted by Chicagoland grocers a month ago, it was learned in a survey of the market places last night.

With onions, roasts of beef and lamb, table grapes, apples and cantaloupes all selling at low levels, some of them reduced from a week ago, week-end shoppers will find bargains available in spite of a trend toward higher prices in the general family food budget.

Supplies of potatoes were unusually short during June and July. Prices went skyrocketing and "spuds" became an important item for consideration when housewives went marketing. In the last fortnight, however, large shipments of late potatoes have arrived in Chicago in time for cool weather cooking. Marketwise foodsmen declare that ample supplies are assured throughout the fall months, and that prices of potatoes will be "reasonable" even if somewhat higher than a year ago.

Forequarter Beef Low Priced.

Meat markets in some instances are taking advantage of the wholesale market situation to offer attractively priced and good quality roasts of beef and lamb. The forequarter cuts of beef are especially low priced, while smoked hams and other cured pork cuts are economical.

On the other hand, many butchers are boosting their prices on steaks and chops to a point scarcely justified by the large supplies of meat available in the country and packing houses. Lake trout offers a diversion for many buyers, with prices as low as they were a year ago. Poultry also is plentiful, low priced and mostly of fine quality in local markets.

Many stores are giving frugal shoppers an opportunity to stock up on canned goods, with prospects that prices on many foods sold in tins and glass will be advanced during the coming weeks.

New Cranberries Arrive.

Squashes, pumpkins and the first of the new crop of New England cranberries will be found on store shelves this morning, to vie with Brussels sprouts, endive, lima and string beans, kale, cauliflower, eggplant, carrots and beets in supplying variety to the menus for the week-end.

Creamery butter and fresh eggs, while advanced in prices a bit in the last month, still are coming to market in abundance to keep prices commensurate with quality. Although a rise in the price of milk has been announced, no date has been set for the advance of 1 cent a quart, pending action of the federal authorities in Washington.

CONCORD GRAPE PULPS AND SKINS MAKE GOOD PIES

Fully Ripe Fruit Has Sweeter Flavor.

BY MARY MEADE.

Grape pies are to the Concord grape season what cherry pies are to the cherry season. And their royal purple hue is just as enticing to many folks as the brilliant red of a fresh cherry pie. Topped with strips of pastry arranged lattice-fashion across the top, they're doubly attractive.

You'll find the flavor of these Concord grapes much sweeter if they're fully ripe when purchased. They should be firm, however. Crushed and withered grapes are caused by long standing.

The grape pie may be fashioned from the grape pulp and skins or from the skins alone. Each variety has its devoted followers, so I shall give you both recipes.

First, for the pie with pulp and skins:

GRAPE PIE.

1 quart stemmed Concord grapes
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons melted butter
Plain pastry

Wash and steam the grapes. Press the pulp out of the grape skins with the fingers. Simmer the pulp slowly until soft, then press through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine the pulp and skins and add the sugar and flour which have been mixed thoroughly. Add the melted butter and pour into a pie pan lined with pastry. Cover with strips of pastry and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes. Then decrease the heat to moderate (350 degrees F.) and bake about twenty minutes longer.

GRAPESKIN PIE.

2½ cups grape skins
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
Plain pastry

Wash the grapes and remove the pulp from the skins. Drain the juice from the pulp and add to the skins. Combine the sugar and flour, add to the grape skins, and place in a pie pan lined with pastry. Cover with a top crust and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the filling is cooked, or about forty-five minutes.

In the last recipe some of the grape pulp is discarded. Here's a grape conserve in which these pulps could be used along with more grapes and next winter when the pies are but memories the conserve will still be there as a reminder.

GRAPE CONSERVE.

8 pounds grapes
8 cups granulated sugar
3 cups raisins
3 oranges

Wash the grapes and separate the pulp and skins. Let the pulp simmer slowly until tender, then strain out the seeds. Cook the pulp with the skins for fifteen minutes. Cut the oranges in fourths, removing seeds, but leaving the rind, and run them through a food chopper. Add this, along with the sugar and raisins, to the grapes. Cook the mixture for forty-five minutes. Pour into hot, sterile jars and seal.

CANNING PUMPKIN IN FALL ASSURES PIES IN WINTER

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Canning plenty of pumpkin in the fall means that many winter meals may be made festive by pumpkin pie. Canned pumpkin is convenient and ready to use, even though it is harder to can pumpkins than to store them.

Firm, well-ripened pumpkin should be chosen for canning, says Dr. Marion C. Pfund of the New York State College of Home Economics. Wash it and cut it lengthwise in halves from stem to blossom end. Scoop out the seeds and spongy pulp with a large wooden spoon. Put the pieces into a steamer and steam them for from 10 to 15 minutes, or until the pumpkin is tender but not soft. If preferred, the pumpkin may be baked rather than steamed.

Let the pumpkin cool just enough to handle, and remove the pulp with a spoon, mixing it with enough water to give it the consistency of pie filling. If the pumpkin is later to be used as a pie filling, seasonings may be added at this time. The usual amounts for each quart are 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of ginger, 2 teaspoons of cinnamon, and ½ cup of brown sugar.

Pack the hot pumpkin loosely and lightly in hot containers to within ½ inch of the top. Partly seal glass jars and process pints for 60 minutes and quarts for 75 minutes at 15 pounds of steam pressure; or completely seal tin cans and process No. 2 or No. 3 for 60 minutes under the same pressure.

HERE ARE MENUS FOR "DELICIOUS FISH DINNERS"

What to serve with fish?

This question is puzzling the best of housewives now that vacationing friends are sharing their catch with the folks at home. But even without the generosity of thoughtful friends, so many varieties of fish are available in the market that every one can enjoy healthful fish dinners.

If you'd like some different fish menus, send for Mary Meade's new booklet, "Delicious Fish Dinners," containing eight complete fish dinners with recipes for preparing them. This includes family dinners, company dinners, and luncheons, a Sunday night supper, and a complete fish dinner. The price of the booklet is 2 cents; 3 cents, stamp or coin, by mail. Take Honeymoon in Plane After Waiting 43 Years

Allerton, Ill., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Forty-three years ago Joseph Davis and his bride of a few hours were ridiculed when they mentioned at a party that there would be machines rushing through the air before many years. "We will wait and take our honeymoon in one," they retorted. They are now on that honeymoon. Their son, Winfield Davis, radio operator at the Indianapolis municipal airport, chartered a plane for them.

BLOOD MONEY

By IRVIN S. COBB.

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's boathouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long Island. Gilbert Jonahan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, is an old friend of Redd's. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a debauchee. There seemed to be some secret bond between Cresap and his servants, the Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino. Bray finds a new will, disinheriting Florence. As it is unsigned the old will stands. Cresap disapproved of Florence's moneyless sweetheart, Gregory Thorpe. Thorpe disappears. He is found in a hospital, victim of a hitch-hiker, before Cresap's death, which exonerates him. Florence takes a room in the hospital. Bray plans to interview Hilda, Florence's maid. He is laid up temporarily by a motor accident. Hilda tries to escape from the Cresap estate and is apprehended.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.
THE VANISHED DWARF.

"I don't believe," said Chief Taper, "that Capt. Bray had a collision on purpose. That must have been an accident. But looky here, Mr. Redd. onc't it did happen. I've got better'n a sneaking notion that he let on to be hurt worse'n what he really was."

"You think he took advantage of a fortuitous mishap to malinger on us?"

"To 'mal' which?"

I reduced my meaning to simpler terms:

"In other words, your dope is that chance gave him an opportunity to play cat-and-mouse with her?"

"That's putting it in swell language!" he admiringly exclaimed. "But it's better'n a guess with me, Mr. Redd. Young Bray, he practically as good as hinted that that was the very trick, him kind of whispering it to me on the side when he drove up to my house shortly after 6 o'clock and rousted me out to telephone on up to his daddy for him that he was on his way.

"That ain't all he told me, neither, Mr. Redd. Seems like from what he says, his dad, on Sad'day night soon after the smashup, changed some of his plans and called back his other assistant, that young Shapiro, from some place up the island where he'd sent him on some kind of business; and at the same time sent somebody else on from Riverhead to take Shapiro's place. I gave young Bray an opening to tell me confidential what this here business was, but, seemingly, he didn't feel to do so. Yep, he called young Shapiro back and put him and Terry Bray both to watching that Cresap place twenty-four hours a day, shift and shift about, but one or the other of 'em to be on duty constant, just on the supposition that this here Hilda What's-her-name would do the very thing she did try to do right soon after it come good daylight this morning.

"I guess maybe young Bray would have told me even more—about her throwing away those damaged lady's slippers and all—only he was natchelly in a hurry. You see, him not having a warrant ready beforehand or even any papers to hold her on as a material witness, he was anxious to snatch her up the line before any lawyer could get busy and maybe have her habeas corpussed out of their—I sh'd say, our clutches. She was crying hard when they left here.

"And then when I went in and raised the old man on the line up at Doc Stacy's, the old man told me something else. He told me he didn't think she'd be any too harsh about yelling for a lawyer when she found out what he had on her. I don't mean so much in regards to this murder, although it strikes me she's got a lot to explain there—yes, yes, but in quite a different direction altogether. From what I glean out of what Cap'n Bray says he's been looking up the ante—ante——"

"Antecedents," I prompted.

"That's the word—anteseedings! He's been prying unbeknownst into the anteseedings of everybody that was working at Cresap's place this year and he's as good as got the evidence here to show this here Hilda didn't come in on the regular quota, but as a temp'rary visitor, and her six months' leave run out mor'n a year ago and she never renewed it; and if the immigration people ever got wind of where she was they'd deport her back to where she come from quicker'n scat. So Cap'n Bray, he says to me over the telephone, sort of gloating—and I judge he's right—that he's willing to bet his bottom dollar that now she'll come clean about every single thing she might know about this here killing, once he tells her what the United States government is liable to do if he surrenders her up to them. . . . Well, it sort of looks like to me we're finally on the right track. . . . What's your notion about it all, Mr. Redd? Or would you choose not to give out any opinion seeing as how, in a way of speaking, it's your own kinsfolks that are mixed up into it?"

Whatever reply I meant to make, if any, was never spoken because just then here came Verity to add his share to the pyramidic structure of today's sensations.

"Goddlemidy and Judas Priest!" he began, "You folks ain't heared only the harf of what's afoot. 'Tain't enough, seemin'ly, that that there squarehead of a Hilda—and I mout say, there's one wench that wuz allus too mealy-mouthed to suit my notions—'tain't enough, I say, that she should try fur to escapade herself away from here and git ketched up adoin' of it—no, no! There's more and plenty yit to come. There's one other party that has got plum away, looks like to me. And that's Sabino! Sabino's went, gents, and no hair nur hide nur moccasin track to show where he has went! But even so, I got me kind of a rough idee!"

"What is your rough idea?" demanded Taper, starting up, all zeal and officiousness.

"Wait," I said, "Better let him tell it his own way."

"That'd be best," assented Verity. "Well, ez I told you yistiddy afternoon when you come aseekin' for him, Mr. Redd, he ain't seemin'ly been about the place fur the last three-four days, only off and on—but mostly off, I'd say. Take fur instance, Sad'day, that'd be day before yistiddy. Sad'day I seen him jist once—dodgin' out of the house like he wuz in a tearin' hurry about suthin', and tackin' off down the road on a gin'ral southerdly course. That wuz mebbe 5 o'clock in the evenin'. Yistiddy wuz a Sunday, but even so, I spent the most part of it in the job riddin' up loose stuff and layin' it by fur the winter. Remember, that's whut I wuz adoin' of when you drove over, Mr. Redd? About whut time now would that 'a' been, Mr. Redd, that you drove over?"

"Let's see," I said. "I got back from Westbury around 2:30 and then I did some telephoning and cleaned up some odds and end of correspondence. I'd say offhand it was close on 4 o'clock when I saw you."

"Jist about," the oldster agreed, "jist about. And you sez to me you was wishful fur to see Sabino, and I sez to you I'd keep an eye peeled fur him. And I done so. I finished up whut I wuz doin' and got ever'thing stowed away shipshape, and along to'ds dusk I set sail fur home. You folks know that little swampy place 'longside Pharaoh's lane about a quarter of a land-mile from Cresap's?"

We both nodded.

"Well, I'd jist got there when I seen the party I wuz lookin' fur goin' the same direction I wuz and about sixty or seventy yards on ahead of me. It wuz beginnin' to git good-dark then but there wuzn't no mistakin' him fur nobody else, not with him steerin' along the short-coupled, slewfooted gait of his, with his head bobbin' not mor'n four feet up in the air, and on his head that same big white cowboy's hat he alluz wears. He wuzn't to the east, though, where the footpath is. He wuz to the west where that slopin' ditch is and him sort of down in the ditch at that, like ez if he wanted to sort of keep out of sight of anybody. Sez I to myself 'That's curious, that's dumfounderin' curious, I be dog' ef 'taint! But whut I done out loud wuz I throwed him a hail and sez fur him to haul up a minute till I kin range 'longside becuz I got suthin' to tell him. But did he stop? No, no! He jist throwed one look back over his shoulder and then he hunched down and turn't off short and sort of scrabbled out of that there ditch awkward-like into the weeds and ducked in amongst them dense shadders where the trees are so thick edgin' the swamp. And when I got there, me hobblin' slow, account of this here game leg of mine, plegged ef he wuzn't plum vanished. I stands by, bein' puzzled, and heaves a couple of whoops, but there's no answer."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Sixteen Too Young?

"Dear Miss Blake: Is a girl of 16 too young to go with a boy of 20? If so, why. MARGE."

A girl of 16 is pretty young to be fastening affections on any youth. Give your wings a chance to get around a bit more, Marge.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

SANDRA: THERE ARE ONLY two reasons a girl of 16 has rings under her eyes. One is, she doesn't get enough sleep, and the other, the possibility of suffering from some physical disorder which would require medical investigation.

Asta De Kleist, Daughter of Baroness, Married

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—Miss Asta De Kleist, only daughter of the Baroness De Kleist of Philadelphia, was married today in the Roman Catholic church of Notre Dame to Count James De Martino of Rome. More than 100 guests attended a reception at the home of the baroness, near Geneva, after the ceremony. The couple departed on a wedding trip to Italy.

GASOLINE ALLEY—NIGHT NURSE

their friends and acquaintances next Tuesday afternoon at the World's Fair, for ten of them are to compete in the most spectacular burro races that have ever been run anywhere. The idea is the latest product of Mrs. Nathaniel A. Owing's fertile brain.

Interested in A Century of Progress more than anything else this year by virtue of Mr. Owing's association with the Exposition, the former Emily Otis has been thinking up all sorts of clever stunts that her friends and the public in general might enjoy. "It's just a special event," she said yesterday in describing the race, "with the purpose unknown."

The first race, a relay, will be run at 2:15 o'clock in the court of the Hall of States, which Mrs. Owings describes as a perfect race track. Following this will be a Guatemalan race which means that the last burro in wins. Each one of the jockeys will ride another's burro, prodding on their own rather than the one on which she is mounted. It's difficult to imagine the results!

For those sportsmen who care to indulge there will be score sheets bearing the names of the burros [Mrs. Owings promises that they will be especially fitting] and a little betting. The judges very carefully selected for their knowledge of the Rocky mountain canary [a name synonymous with burro] will be Mrs. James Minotto, Shepard Vogelgesang, and Mrs. Neil Cowham.

There has been a little difficulty in finding ten burros in these parts, but three are already promised and Mrs. Owings promises the other seven by Tuesday.

The jockeys will be Mrs. Winston Elting, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., Mrs. Louis Skidmore, Mrs. Patrick J. Geraghty, Mrs. Stuart Harvey, Miss Betty Scriven, Mrs. David Lockwood, Mrs. Eugene S. MacDonald Jr., Mrs. Beach Clow, and Mrs. Owings.

Mrs. Long to Give Cocktail Party.

All of Mrs. Joseph B. Long's parties are jolly, delightful affairs, but there will be an underlying note of sadness in the cocktail party she is giving this evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, for it is the last one she will give in the apartment at 1540 Lake Shore drive that she has called home for several years.

Shortly after the 20th of this month all of the lovely furnishings of the apartment will be on their way east to be installed in a New York apartment where Mrs. Long is to reside henceforth. She spent last winter in New York and Florida, but since her apartment here was only closed, her friends felt as if she still belonged to Chicago, but now that she definitely is moving to New York they feel that they are losing her.

That they will see her in the east and that she will return here frequently for visits do not make up for the fact that Chicago no longer will be home to this attractive and popular widow.

Mr. and Mrs. William Warren Case and Miss Emily Case will be going east later this month to be present at the marriage of their son and brother, Winthrop Warren Case, and Miss Helen Siewers, which is to take place on Sept. 30 in Scarsdale, N. Y., where Miss Siewers and her mother, Mrs. William Albert Siewers, live. The service is to be read at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at the residence of the bride's mother, 3 Claremont road, and will be followed by a reception. Mr. Case and his bride will live in New York City.

Joseph Valentine Returns Tomorrow.

Joseph L. Valentine and his daughter, Miss Jane Valentine, will arrive at home tomorrow by motor from their farm at Ashland, Mass., where the family has been spending the summer. Mrs. Valentine is staying on there until Billy returns to the Milton academy, for his last year, on the 20th of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton are planning to go abroad this fall, leaving some time around the first of October.

Mrs. John H. Winterbotham is prolonging her stay at her summer place at Vergennes, N. H., until mid-October, and her daughters, Mrs. Shreve Badger and Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, also are staying there as long as they possibly can. Mrs. Badger will be at home in about two weeks and Mrs. Shaw and her husband are expected back in a week or ten days.

The John R. Winterbothams and their son John, who are visiting at Sugar Hill in the White mountains, will return about the 21st and immediately will plunge into plans for John's first year away at school. He is going to the Hill school, where his father "prepped" for Yale.

Mrs. Heyworth Home Oct. 1.

Mrs. James O. Heyworth and her son, James Jr., will be back in Chicago Oct. 1 from a globe circling trip. Mr. Heyworth was in Lake Forest not long ago for a few days on his way to Desbarats to join his mother, who went directly there from the east coast to visit her sister, Miss Esther Waterman.

Mrs. Charles Ingram Bernard III., the former Rosemary Sidler, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Franklin B. Hussey, will return to her home in Greenwich in about a week or ten days. Mrs. Hussey plans to pay some visits in the north the end of the month and then she will go east to visit her daughter.

outfit that would best take the wind and the weather.

Not far away from this group sat those three interesting sisters, Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, who devotes so much of her time to chartiy; Mrs. Frederick C. Aldrich and Miss Madeleine Newell. Never did Mrs. Childs look more attractive than yesterday in a heavy green woolen coat furred in beige fox and a matching turban.

Guests of Bowens Wear Raincoats.

More than one of the society reporters sitting at the press table on the east side of the court located a debutante or a young matron by the slick white rain capes worn by Miss Phyllis Totten and her sister, Louise, who have come from Pittsburgh to be the house guests of the Clymer Bowens. With them yesterday was also the attractive Mrs. Albert Blake Dick Jr.

The senior Mrs. Dick came for luncheon at the Onwentsia before the games as the guest of Mrs. George McLaughlin. Also in this party were Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Ezra B. Warner and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase. Charles S. Garland, Chicago's former Davis cup player who was instrumental in bringing the tourney to Onwentsia, also lunched at the club with Mrs. Garland, the Shields, Miss Schweppe and Charles S. De Long.

Then there were the Roy McWilliamses, who hurried from the dining room to take their places in a box with the Joseph Beldens and Joseph Belden Jr. Wrapped in a bright green muffler, Robert McGann sat with Ann Winston and little Betty Keith, who snuggled under a raincoat.

Miss Patsy Keith, a debutante of this season, was exchanging greetings with many of her friends, for she is just home from a grand summer at Desbarat. With her was her sister debutante, the good looking Nancy Morse, who made her bow at a reception and tea last Saturday afternoon. A tiny gray tweed beret matched Miss Morse's swagger suit.

It is never difficult to distinguish Miss Fleury Leonard, who is to be presented to society at a ball during the Christmas holidays, because of her striking blonde curly hair, but it is a problem to tell her young brother, Clifford M. Leonard Jr., and George W. Blossom III. apart. Yesterday these two young men spent most of the time in the Leonard box.

Not far away sat the lovely Mrs. Blossom, who promises her friends a winter in Lake Forest after a year's absence in California. With her was her daughter, Louise Blossom, escorted by the good looking Ogden Hanneford.

The biggest orchids in the stands [and we saw only two or three corsages] were worn by Miss Barbara Senn, whose engagement had been announced just the night before. With her was her twin sister, Dorothy.

Mrs. Press Hodgkins was entertaining Mrs. Edwin T. Johnson and Miss Emily Spear of New York in her box and the golfing champion, Mrs. Charles Dennehy, smart in yellow tweed and a gray turban, was sitting in the stands with Mrs. Ronald Boardman, whose costume combined brown with yellow.

Mrs. Louis E. Laflin Jr. arrived late, after a current events class, to join her husband. And then there were Mrs. Solomon B. Smith with Mrs. George S. Chappell, the Donald Welleses, and the Edward K. Welleses Mrs. Innes Mackenzie, wrapped in a plaid blanket, with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Wentworth P. Mackenzie, and Mrs. Ransom Welkes and Alister Mackenzie of Montreal; Miss Lydia Swift, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Kenneth S. Templeton, Mrs. Conway Olmsted, and that attractive subdeb, "Teesa" Hamill, with her brother, Corwith Hamill.

Stylish Shoes of Smoke Gray Win Approval

Shops Show Accessories in Same Color.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

More smoke! . . . new hosiery to match exactly the newest lovely shades of smoke gray, wool and silk . . . new street shoes of smoke gray suede, just about the trickiest footwear you ever slipped a foot into—perforated, smart, and fitted with what they call a boulevard heel, trim, slim, but practical, the easiest and smartest heel you can wear.

Or you might like the swanky street oxfords made with the same sort of heel as those attached to the street pumps. These oxfords are knockouts, the best new smoky gray tone of suede, the newest grays you can find.

And new smoky gray prystal bracelets, rings, and earrings, the most fascinating things you wear with gray . . . lovely true smoke gray, stunning with gray and perfect with black. Smoke gray mirror costume jewelry, a bit dizzy and unusual but tremendously smart in chest pins, clips, and small buttons for your street woolens.

Gray and ebony wood clips in initials, the pins or clips to hold the ownership of new colored ascots and lapels that flare high around the shoulders, or for the smart double folds of your newest beret and small pull-on hats.

Look for the unusual new smoke gray uncut velvet . . . smooth, subtle, infinitely interesting material that should make some glamorous new evening gowns or wraps . . . this incredibly lovely velvet would be breath taking worn over a flounced and pleated underslip of burnt orange taffeta . . . and the wrap lined with stiff orange moire and trimmed with a silky soft gray fur.

New smoke gray woolen fabrics will charm you, thin novelty weaves as well as the amazingly new and varied soft fuzzy materials and those contrasted with white or old blue stripes and dots or squared patterns.

The Stage

Having abandoned its plan to stage a Negro revue called "Dixie to Harlem," the management of the Illinois theater announces the booking of "Dangerous Corner," a drama by J. B. Priestley, to open Monday night, Sept. 25. This play, in its original production, had a run in New York last season of 207 performances, thus ranking second to "Dinner at Eight," which gave 232 performances. A supplementary engagement, with a different cast and at popular prices, began in New York Aug. 17. The company that is coming to the Illinois will have Nedda Harrigan, Gavin Muir and Warren Ashe in principal rôles.

J. B. Priestley is the English novelist who is widely known for his "The Good Companions" and "Angel Pavement." "Dangerous Corner" is his first notable success as a playwright.

Veloz and Yolanda, ballroom dancers of the cabaret program in the Empire room at the Palmer house, will remain there until Sept. 27. An earlier departure was announced a few days ago because of the illness of Veloz, but the pair have extended their stay until their successors can be engaged.

The opening of the "Folies Cantomimes" show at the Punch and Judy theater, announced for tonight, has been postponed until next Monday night. C. C.

Old Dilemma of "Love or Money" Crops Up Again

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"He's looking for a girl with money!" is a comment heard frequently today. Or, "He's looking for a girl with position — with contacts that will help him get on."

We hear a lot of branding of men as gold diggers. Yet, we wonder that more men aren't tempted to play around good mining properties. The way of the average ambitious young man starting out on his own is difficult and contacts are exploited constantly as the quick way of achievement.

"Jake" tells his case. He's been out of a well known university a couple of years, a couple of bad years as the last ones have been. Two girls beckon him. One a girl whose father has money and is in a position to put "Jake" on his feet in no time. And an awfully nice girl, too, from all reports. The other tug at his heart is the proverbial girl back home, with no money, background, practically nothing but her own sweet self to bring along. Sentimentalists, of course, would argue for a break for the girl back home. And, perhaps, in the long run marriage with her would be less the gamble. Put on his own responsibility, the man's achievements would be more personally gratifying — but the trouble with it is that the girl back home might turn out to be anything but the idealized unselfish partner.

We're not deciding which girl the man should take. After all, it's a question of what he wants to get out of life himself. If he wants social position and the so-called emergency lifts—the rich girl is his meat.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THEFT AND MURDER.

Receiving an urgent call from Inspector Henry Lewis, Prof. Fordney met him at the home of Mrs. Hutton.

They learned from Casper, the butler, that a man named Smiley and another gentleman, whose name he did not know, called about 1:30 and, as his mistress had left at one o'clock, saying she wouldn't be gone over half an hour, he showed the two men into the sun parlor. An hour later, hearing a shot, he went to the room and found Smiley lying on the floor—dead. The other man had disappeared.

Failing to find it on the body and having attended to the routine, Fordney and Lewis left the house. They had gone two blocks when the Inspector, who knew Mrs. Hutton by sight, doffed his hat and said, "How do you do? This is Prof. Fordney."

After acknowledgment of the introduction Lewis continued, "Mr. Smiley has been murdered."

"Why . . . surely you're joking."

"No. It is true."

"Murdered!" she exclaimed, "and in my house."

The professor caught her as she swooned, summoned a taxi, drove her home and administered restoratives. On regaining consciousness Fordney inquired the time of her appointment with Smiley.

"Why . . . I know him . . . but I had no appointment with him."

"The butler said you'd be back at one-thirty. Why were you so late in returning?"

"I met a friend and didn't realize it was so late. I . . ."

Fordney knew she was lying and detained her for further questioning.

WHY?

[See solution on page 41.]

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We are always hearing about the give-away of the old hands with the young face. And women whose hands are neither young nor young looking have a sneaking idea that not much can be done about them at this late date.

True, they should have started earlier, as they did with their faces, but a recent observance proves there's every hope for hands that have lost the smooth skin of earlier days. This particular woman had one of those friends we hate, who insist on telling us things for our own good. You know the stamp of them. So, this sweet friend told Mrs. J. that Alma Blank told her Mrs. J. must be 50 if she's a day, and all you had to do to prove it was to look at her hands.

That prompted Mrs. J. to look at them. More, it took her downtown to a salon where hand treatments are specialized. She signed up for a series of hand massage treatments and went home armed with a hand tissue and lotion which she took precious good care not to leave unused on the dressing table. It took about six months of intensive daily training to get those hands back in good shape. But they are now, and this case I present because the woman's hands were pretty seamy when her attention was so mercilessly called to them.

Now, there are just any number of good hand lotions and creams on the market—nominally priced, too. And it isn't such a longtime job to give them a treatment once, twice, or thrice a day. Anyway, once—preferably before retiring—incased in protective gloves, if possible, where the skin shows definite ravages.

We've all seen what a couple of months' daily attention does for the skin on the face. It's exactly the same kind of skin on the hands, only subjected to much harder usage. Emollients are just as soothing, tissue cream just as remedying, for general care of the hands as for face skin.

We're in for a long stretch of gayly tipped nails, I take it, which, as you know, throws the no-longer-young-skinned hand into the limelight. Well, it can be rejuvenated, whitened, built up and made lovely if the spirit is willing. I've seen it done.

Children Need a New Deal in Education

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Have you great sympathy for your children? If you have, this letter will interest you:

"Dear Gladys Bevans: How I should love to join hands with the teacher whose letter appeared in your column in the paper! I have thought at times teachers couldn't feel as I did about our school programs and systems or they could not continue. Truly, I feel one of the stupidest phases of our present day life is our tolerance of many of the practices of our present day schoolroom, especially those of the smaller towns.

"We place our little 5 year olds in straight little seats in straight rows a few inches apart and leave them to languish there for four hours a day and, what is worse, during the yea. when they are most susceptible to children's diseases. How many weeks would grownups endure this confinement and escape nervous exhaustion?

"Why can't we have some new models in education? I wish I knew just how to do something about it. Your column could arouse the interest of real teachers.

"Sincerely yours, J. F."

There are thousands of teachers who feel as this writer does, but they teach under school systems which make it impossible for them to put liberal and humane ideas into effect. Having no other profession and being forced to earn a living, they have to continue to teach little children in a way so utterly foreign to their needs of mind, soul, and body.

How Famous Radio Star Took Off 35 Lbs. of Fat

No Dealer Can Sell "Aunt Jodie" A Substitute for Kruschen — Read Her Letter.

As SURELY and SAFELY as a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of warm water every morning before breakfast banishes double chins, fat hips, bulging stomachs and restores slim, youthful lines—so will this healthful "little daily dose" help build up glorious health and increase your physical charm.

Indigestion, gas, acidity, headaches, fatigue, shortness of breath so often caused by excess fat disappear—you'll look younger and FEEL IT — so vigorous and full of ambition and pep.

So SAFE is Kruschen many folks after reaching normal weight continue to take it to enjoy its marvelous health benefits. Remember, it acts on FAT only. If you have no fat to lose you can't lose weight with Kruschen because it's harmless—a treatment which helps the functioning of the human system.

To hasten results you simply avoid fattening foods and take another half teaspoonful at bedtime.

Kruschen means a free-from-fat figure, enviable physical charm and superb physical fitness. A jar lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle. Honest and reliable druggists the world over sell Kruschen. BEWARE of stores that offer you a "substitute" on which they can make more money. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE for Kruschen. For your health's sake — demand and get it — the SAFE way to reduce — prescribed by physicians.

LISTEN TO AUNT JODIE
"I had tried most everything to reduce and never succeeded until I took Kruschen. Have reduced from 189 to 154 in 6 months and wish to express my appreciation." Joella D. Low (Known as "Aunt Jodie" on Radio for last 7 years), Denver, Colo.

FROM SIZE 52 TO 44 DRESS
"Nine weeks ago I weighed 230 lbs. and took size 52 dress. Since I've taken a half teaspoonful of Kruschen every morning I've reduced to 198 and take a 44 dress. I feel just 100% better and so youthful." Mrs. Anna Glader, Chicago, Ill.

EDITOR FOLLOWS DOCTOR'S ADVICE
"My doctor recommended Kruschen to me which has not only regulated my digestion to practically normal but reduced my weight so substantially I'm now able to do more work and feel more peppy than ever before." Daniel Fried (Editor), Cleveland, Ohio

FEELS LIKE A NEW PERSON
"I've taken Kruschen Salts almost for a year for overweight. I weighed 208 when I started and now I weigh 148. I sure praise it. I feel lots better, too—almost like a new person." Mrs. R. C. Hale, Newman, Ill.

LOSES 2½ LBS. FIRST WEEK
"I'm taking Kruschen to lose weight and to my surprise and delight I lost 2½ lbs. the first week. I feel much better and don't have that tired feeling any more." Mrs. I. C. Phares, Augusta, Kan.

SHE GUARDS AGAINST FAT
"About 2 years ago I weighed 170 lbs. and started your wonderful Kruschen. I went down to 148. Since then I've had 2 babies and at present I weigh 164—so back to Kruschen Salts to help me. While taking Kruschen I feel fine and don't lose weight too fast — am perfectly satisfied with them." Mrs. E. V. Clark, Camden, N. J.

KEEPS HER WEIGHT NORMAL
"I used Kruschen to reduce and took off 74 lbs. and I find by taking a small dose every day I keep my weight down to normal and it keeps me feeling fine at all times. No more sluggish headaches." Mrs. E. K. Thompson, St. Louis, Mo.

TAKES OFF 12 LBS.
"I use Kruschen for reducing purposes. I took one bottle and reduced 12 lbs. in one month. I feel better than I have for years. Beginning on second bottle now." Hortance Pilgrim, Pleasant Hill, La.

SHARKEY MEETS LEVINSKY AT COMISKEY PARK TONIGHT

THE GUMPS—ALL HOPE GONE

EX-CHAMPION IN COMEBACK AND CHICAGO DEBUT

Expect 25,000 to See Heavyweight Bout.

Fight Facts

PLACE—Comiskey park, 35th street and Shields avenue.
TIME—Main bout 10 p. m.; first preliminary 8:30 p. m.
PROBABLE ATTENDANCE—25,000.
ESTIMATED RECEIPTS—$50,000.
WEATHER PREDICTION—Partly cloudy, slowly rising temperature; moderate northeast winds. In event of rain fight will be postponed until Monday.

THE CARD.

King Levinsky vs. Jack Sharkey, [10].
Tony Cancela vs. Dick Daniels, [8]
Bob Moody vs. Larry Johnson, [6].
Georgie Turner vs. Nick Taft, [4].
Bob Stone vs. Jack Ronsinon [4].
Leo Rodak vs. Johnny Fitzpatrick, [4].

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Jack Sharkey, who dramatically waved good-by to his public on the night Primo Carnera laid him in the rosin with an almost invisible punch, is ready for his initial comeback trial tonight at Comiskey park against King Levinsky. Sammy Wolff, the promoter, promised the one time champion $25,000 to come out of his brief retirement. Sharkey, with as many reversals to his credit as the eighteenth amendment, still believes he can fight—for $25,000.

Whether Sharkey sincerely thinks he can whip Levinsky, Tommy Loughran, Max Baer [who erased Max Schmeling in Jack Dempsey's New York promotion] and then defeat Carnera for the title, or not, he has arranged this ambitious program. It has done its bit in the ballyhoo for tonight's bout.

King Will Just Slug.

There is no apparent reason why Sharkey, long known as the best boxer in heavyweight circles, can't beat Levinsky. However, there were no apparent reasons why Sharkey should be knocked out by Dempsey, foul Fainting Phil Scott, and lose to Schmeling and Carnera. If a fighter pulls himself to fame by his own boot straps, Sharkey has qualified handsomely.

Levinsky may be the wildman of the ring, but Sharkey's behavior is equally difficult of prediction. Therein lies the customer appeal.

Levinsky's plan of battle, always simple, rests entirely on his condition. The King has trained diligently. He certainly is in better physical shape than for any of his recent engagements. His trainers, Doc Casey and Nick Florio, both eastern importations, want him to belabor Sharkey at every point. It is immaterial if many of the King's efforts miss the target. The idea is that some time during the ten rounds Sharkey will lose his temper, forget his boxing, and, in short, go tempermental.

Jack Is Problem.

This, indeed, would be a performance worthy of the admission. Levinsky fights without rhyme or reason all the time. Should Sharkey emulate his example, Chicago may be treated to an old fashioned alley fight.

Sharkey's tempermental fits, during which he loses direction and punches below the belt, were responsible in no small degree for the present rule of the New York athletic commission which says in effect that there can be no fouls, although admitting that the boxer who strikes low will be penalized to the extent of loss of the round. Canzoneri's misdirection had much to do Tuesday night with the decision of the referee which kept Barney Ross on the top of the lightweight division.

Illinois recognizes a foul blow. If either of the principals are fouled tonight the illegal punch ends the show. However, fear of suspension and forfeiture of purse should be adequate protection for the public.

For a second notable occasion Levinsky is fighting for small wages. He's gambling money against victory. The King's first gesture as a benefac-

Jack Sharkey, who lost the world's heavyweight championship to Primo Carnera and bade farewell to boxing, returns to the ring tonight in his first comeback trial at Comiskey park. It will be Sharkey's first appearance in Chicago.

Shields Beats Crawford as U.S. Gets Tie

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The American and Australian tennis teams concluded their exhibition series at the Onwenstia club yesterday with honors even. The United States was victorious in both of yesterday's singles matches, but was defeated in the doubles, which brought the total score for the series to three points for each team.

The aggressive and spectacular Frank Shields overthrew Jack Crawford, who holds the championships of Australia, England and France, by a score of 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, and Wilmer Allison defeated Don Turnbull, 6-3, 6-3.

In the doubles match, Turnbull and Adrian Quist beat George Lott and Lester Stoefen, United States champions, 1-6, 11-9, 6-3.

Shields Gains Second Wind.

Crawford, playing cooly and with a rigorous economy of effort, drew away to a 4-2 advantage in his first set with Shields. The American, who was forced to work hard for every one of his points, seemed tired after a few games, but he soon gained his second wind and drew up on even terms at 5 all. Then Crawford broke through Shields' service and won his own to take the set.

Shields turned on the power as the second set progressed. Hitting every shot hard, he ran up a 4-2 lead. Then Crawford won a game on his own service. Immediately Shields began mixing his punishing drives and smashes with soft shots which barely cleared the net and dropped just beyond reach of Crawford's racket. He ran the count to 5-3, and then won the set when the Australian ended the ninth game with a double fault.

Shields Plays Brilliantly.

Shields continued his spectacular play in the third set, using his powerful drives to chase Crawford to the corners while he went to the net to smash and volley with precision. But he had to fight for every point. Through a series of protracted rallies he ran up a 4-1 advantage. Then Crawford won on his own service, but Shields came right back to take two more games and the set, scoring match point on a crisp volley after he had taken the net on a drive to his opponent's forehand corner.

A drizzle of rain was falling when Allison and Turnbull took the courts. Dropping his low deep drives within inches of the baseline, the American soon drew away to a commanding advantage. The depth of Allison's shots kept his opponent in the back court, while he himself maneuvered along the baseline ever alert for an opportunity to take the net.

Sharkey's opponent will be King Levinsky, west side mauler.

MILLERS, BIRDS HALTED BY RAIN; PLAY TONIGHT

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The third game of the playoff between Columbus and Minneapolis for the American association pennant, scheduled tonight, was postponed late today by Thomas J. Hickey, president of the association, because of rain. It will be played tomorrow night.

Columbus won the first game of the playoff Tuesday afternoon, 6 to 2. Minneapolis drew up even last night on a rain soaked field by winning, 5 to 3. Four victories are needed to clinch the pennant.

BIG TEN ELEVENS START FOOTBALL PRACTICE TODAY

Michigan and Purdue Are Strong Again.

Football returns to the sports scene at the ten Western conference schools this morning. Five hundred young men of the Big Ten, eligible and in fine physical fettle, will climb into their complicated playing gear for the official sendoff of fall practice, with the prospects being for good gloomy football weather and a season of close competition.

Advance bulletins from the ten schools, judiciously optimistic, indicate that all of the weaker squads of last year have pulled up their strength, while the strong ones are conceding no diminution. All this, particularly since the annual crop of sophomore all-Americans have yet to be tried, gives promise that the 1933 season will be memorable. Notre Dame, intent upon recapturing its national honors, also starts work today.

Purdue, Michigan Strong.

Michigan, champion last year, and Purdue, ruuner-up, again are given the ranking places, but such teams as Illinois, Chicago, and Iowa, whose fortunes have been down in recent years, while they are not now talking championship, are confident they will win some share of applause. One new coach, Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago, succeeding A. A. Stagg, will be introducing his stuff to the circuit.

Practice will be on a two a day basis for the first week or ten days, until classes begin, with Ohite State and Chicago, which use the quarter plan, having the advantage of double sessions until Oct. 2.

Of the two local schools Northwestern will have a husky squad which gives evidence of repeating its 1931 exploits, while Chicago is credited with having its best squad in a decade. Both teams will depend heavily on sophomores, and both apparently have the sophomores to rely upon. Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois, the veteran of the Big Ten, starting his 21st season at Champaign, has an improved group which is made up largely of men he has been developing as a group for the last year or two. The Illini have 19 letter men returning, Northwestern has five regulars and 20 reservists from last year, and the Maroons have nine winners of major letters and four minor letter men.

Sophomores Get Chance.

Northwestern's returning nucleus of Ollie Olson and Jakie Sullivan in the back field and Bill Riley, Ed Manske, and Al Kawal in the line will be supplemented by a significant group of sophomores headed by Wally Cruice of Milwaukee, regarded as a successor to Pug Rentner; Hugh Duvall, full back; Chuck Hajek, center; Paul Tangora and Sam Goldstein, guards, and Jim Berg, Henry Longfellow, and Verner Anderson, ends.

The Maroons, forming around Pete Zimmer, Ed Cullen, Bob Wallace, Vin Sahlin, and Tommy Flinn in the back field and Walter Maneikis, Ell Patterson, John Womer, and Wayne Rapp in the line, have splendid replacements for their losses in Jay Berwanger, and Ewald Nyquist as backs and Bob Deem, Merritt Bush, John Rice, Bob Perretz, and Rainwater Wells in the line.

Wisconsin, reporting an expected turnout of 65 today, will build around four regulars, Capt. Hal Smith, William Koenig, Mario Pacetti, and Ralph Haworth. This leaves vacancies for three back field men, one end, a guard, and both tackles. Both Michigan and Iowa report the return of 18 letter men.

Boxer Injured in Fall Through Ring Ropes Dies

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Harold Schrader, 22 years old, Seattle boxer, died today at Harborview hospital of brain concussion received in a bout at Aberdeen nine days ago with Les Funk, Grays Harbor middleweight. Roy David, Seattle boxing manager, said Schrader was knocked unconscious when he fell backward through the ropes and struck his head on the floor outside the ring.

What Makes Giants' Hurlers So Good? Mancuso, of Course

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Just because the Giants came from nowhere into a pennant on a full season of sparkling pitching, doesn't mean that Bill Terry, the manager, is entitled to all the credit. Mr. Terry, you will recall, managed the same men the last half of the 1932 season, but the records don't show that the fellows who have been winning consistently this year started to produce as soon as John McGraw was relegated to an office chair.

The pitchers, or call 'em the big four—Carl Hubbell, Fred Fitzsimmons, Roy Parmelee, and Hal Schumacher—started out in a big way as soon as the present race started. Previously there had been nothing to indicate they possessed so much ability. It is a cinch that some one thing was responsible for the unexpected change for the better.

He's the Answer to Pitchers' Prayer.

The answer—at least, it is the ball players' answer—is August Rodney Mancuso, the ebony haired Italian catcher, obtained during the winter in a deal with the Cardinals. On the returns Mancuso is the answer to the prayers of the Giants' pitchers. He is their somebody who knows how to direct them. They didn't get along that well with other catchers. You'll notice that Mancuso has been in there most of the time. There was one stretch when he refused to lay off even though badly injured.

Mancuso's ascent to a hero rôle was just like that of a lot of other players. A little luck had to be involved. He was originally a St. Louis Cardinal find and for several seasons was shoved around in that club's elaborate chain store system. Finally they tried to move him once too often. The intention was to send him to the Rochester farm for the 1930 season, but the baseball commissioner's office said that under the rules Mancuso couldn't be farmed out again.

Cardinals Trade Him to New York.

The Cardinals had the choice of keeping him or disposing of him to a club not a member of the chain system. The Cardinals preferred to keep him, although confident he wouldn't be of much use so long as Jimmy Wilson was available to do their catching. He didn't get into many games that season, but hit .366. He dropped down a bit in '31 and '32, so when a trade offer came last winter the Cardinal bosses figured they might as well accept.

They sent Mancuso to the Giants in a swap involving a lot of fellows such as Bob O'Farrell, Ethan Allan, Jim Mooney, and Bill Walker. As it turned out, the Cardinals drove a good bargain in poundage, but not in ability.

Mancuso went to grade and high school at Houston, Tex., and at the age of 18 blossomed out as a real professional. He took employment in 1925 with his home town team, which promptly shoved him out to Longview in the East Texas league. Then he traveled extensively. From 1926 to '29, inclusive, he was at Fort Smith, Syracuse, St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Louis again, Rochester, and back to Houston before returning to St. Louis after the 1929 season. Then baseball law came to his rescue.

SOMERVILLE AND WESTLAND LOSE IN AMATEUR GOLF

Marston, 1923 Winner, 3 Youngsters Survive.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 14.—A 41 year old ex-champion and three youngsters ranging in age from 18 to 24—the oddest quartet to enter the semi-finals for the national amateur golf championship in many a year—tonight were the survivors of the 37th annual tournament at the Kenwood Country club, a tournament which has already seen so many upsets that even Bobby Jones, just a journeyman reporter now, can't figure it out.

The old timer who came back is Max Marston, a giant of a broker from Philadelphia, who won the championship in 1923 by defeating Jess Sweetser at Flossmoor in a match that went 38 holes. Strangely enough, Marston had to go another 38 holes today to defeat Sidney Noyes of Ardsley, N. Y., who was born the year that Max first started to play in the national amateur—1909.

Little Whips Somerville.

Foremost of the youngsters in the semi-finals is 23 year old Lawson Little of San Francisco, a confident Stanford undergraduate who seems to know at all times what Lawson Little can do, whether it be in sand, spinach, or against the defending champion. Little today topped off four days of startling golf by defeating Ross Somerville of London, Ont., who won the title at Baltimore last year, 2 and 1.

The proudest folks in Cincinnati tonight were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Munger of Dallas, Tex., whose bespectacled 18 year old son, Jack, won his way into the semi-finals by eliminating Jack Westland of Chicago, western amateur champion and runnerup in the national in 1931, 3 and 1. Jack's victory was a thank you to his parents, who gave him an expensive roadster last night for qualifying and winning his first two round matches.

Dunlap Wins, 6 and 5.

Fourth and probably most important of the four semi-finalists is 24 year old George Dunlap, who made himself the favorite for the title by winning his third easy victory in a row. Today Eddie Held of Jamesburg, N. J., was the victim by a 6 and 5 score. Dunlap, who went to the semi-finals of the British amateur in June before losing to Michael Scott, the ultimate champion, will meet Little in tomorrow's 36 hole semi-finals, and Marston will be paired against Munger.

It will be the first time that Dunlap and Little, both of whom have sought the title several times, have advanced to the semi-final bracket. Marston, who has competed in 19 national amateurs since 1909, hasn't come this far since 1924, when George Von Elm beat him in the semi-finals. Dunlap and Marston failed to qualify for the match play at Baltimore last year, and Little was eliminated in the first round by Johnny Fischer. Munger never attempted to get into the national until last year, when he failed to qualify by three strokes.

Little Keeps Lead.

The matches today were filled with golf great and awful. The amazing feature of Little's victory over Somerville was that the defending champion was never up on the Californian at any time during their 35 hole match. Little, as usual, was all over the lot trying to get distance with his woods and long irons, but came out of traps and rough with recoveries that made even the poker faced Somerville commend them.

Marston, with the match all wrapped up at the 35th, needed only a half to end it on the 36th, but instead, after sending his second shot over the green into the road, came back and in making his putt, knocked Noyes' ball in for a birdie. This forced the big Philadelphian to go two extra holes before winning.

Munger Gets Away in Front.

Munger gained a two up lead on Westland at the end of the morning round, and clung to it throughout the afternoon, increasing it to five up at one time. Dunlap had an easy time

BABE HERMAN'S DOUBLE IN NINTH AIDS IN VICTORY

Hartnett Drives In Deciding Runs.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Babe Herman, the same Babe who recently was benched because his comics in the field did not fit in with the Cubs' idea of baseball, had his big moment yesterday. In the rôle of a pinch hitter the much abused Babe came through with a double in the ninth inning. Two runs were woven around the hit and the Cubs, hanging tenaciously to their threadlike pennant hope, charged to a 4 to 3 victory over the league leading but apparently jumpy Giants. The last minute reverse cut the percentage advantage of the New Yorkers to five and one-half games.

The sudden ninth inning flareup of the Cubs completed a program that started as a double header. A steady drizzle descended during the battle, but the umpires could not take it for longer than nine innings. They consulted about the possible loss of the creases in their trousers and announced the second show would not start. It was good news to the Giants who were punch drunk, but not to the Cubs.

Terry Doesn't Catch On.

The mental state of the Giants was evident long before the Cubs sneaked across the knockout punch in the ninth. Before the eyes of 5,000, who turned out despite the weather, the leaders put on an act that didn't recommend them for a world series assignment.

Bill Terry, who is their manager, was guilty of what among the trade is known as a "rock." The craftiness of Fredd. Fitzsimmons put a double play in the manager's hands in the third inning. Terry tried to figure out what he should do, but he did it backwards. The next time Fitzsimmons plans any such trick stuff he should write his boss a letter about it in advance.

Anyway, the Cubs made merry at the expense of the enemy leaders. They should have been retired runless, but they kept the inning going until two had scored, one of the pair being the result of another blunder. This one was in the shape of a fumble by Blondy Ryan, who also was jittery on a couple of other plays.

Errors Give Giants Lead.

The Cubs, however, didn't fail to show their appreciation of the assistance received from the above named gentlemen. With Charley Root sailing along smoothly with a 2 to 1 lead in the seventh, Billy Herman failed to come up with a soft boiled roller that should have been the third out. Two Giants ran home on the error, and that's how the pennant leaders happened to be in front by 3 to 2 when the Cubs began operating in a big way in the ninth. But by that time Root had gone his way and Pat Malone, after one inning of work, collected credit for the victory.

Not many Cub rallies are accomplished without the aid of old man Riggs Stephenson, and he was in on this one. He opened the ninth with a single to right. This was where Babe Herman came in. He batted for Demaree and whistled a two bagger right past Terry's feet. Stephenson stopped at third. Strategy demanded that Camilli be purposely passed, filling the bases with none out. Hartnett did not produce the grounder the Giants had figured would lead to a double play. He ran the count to 3-1 and then bounced a single over Fitzsimmons, sending Stephenson and the Babe home with the deciding runs.

Jurges Gets First Cub Hit.

The Cubs' first hit off Fitzsimmons was Jurges' single to center with one out in the third. Terry immediately revealed that as a quick thinker he was not in Fitzsimmons' class. Root's bunt was a low fly which Fitzsimmons deliberately ignored until it bounced off the ground. Then he picked it up and tossed to Terry, who was supposed to tag Jurges, who remained on the base, and then touch the sack. Terry instead touched the base to retire Root and then tagged

SOX AFRAID RAIN MAY HALT THEIR 6TH PLACE DRIVE

Appling Joins Big Five in American League.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—The White Sox spent their day off today keeping out of the rain and hoping the weather man is wrong in his predictions that it will rain again tomorrow. The White Sox are just snortin' to get into action against the seventh place Red Sox, a team which has beaten them 11 out of 18 games to date, despite the fact the Chicagoans won 5 out of 7 games in the recent series at Comiskey park.

The White Sox, as you may have noticed, now are in sixth place, with a pretty good chance of finishing there if they can ward off the Red Sox. And if they do finish sixth it will be the first time since 1918. In fact, it will be the fourth time the Comiskeys have finished sixth in the 33 years of the American league.

It's an Advance.

Finishing second in the second division will be an accomplishment, for the Sox were seventh last year, last the preceding year, and seventh the two seasons before that. Whereas it is a glorious advance to finish sixth this year, it was a rather startling circumstance when the Comiskeys of 1918 finished there. The lads in 1917 had won the world's championship in the world's series with the Giants. They didn't like sixth so well, either, as attested by the fact that they bounced back the following year and again won the American league pennant.

More inspirational interest developed this morning when it was revealed that Luke Appling had popped into the Big Five of American league hitters, only six points back of Al Simmons, who yesterday, with four hits in six times at bat, had his best day in weeks and weeks.

It May Spur Al.

The proximity of Appling to Simmons in the select group of leaders is expected to be very encouraging to Simmons. Al led the league for many weeks, but seems well out of that distinction. If he fails to finish as the main batter on the team, however, the situation may be most embarrassing at contract time, for there naturally would be a tendency for Mr. Comiskey to compare Simmons' new contract with Appling's, rather than the other way around.

Of course, Al would have his great fielding ability to fall back on, in case of any linking up with Appling, but, even so, Luke will be a distinguished citizen if he beats out Al in the batting race.

Even if Al goes back into his slump, he is certain to bat over .300 for his tenth consecutive year, which is far from the Cobb and Wagner records, but better than any other hitter has done in the last decade.

Both Simmons and Appling have excellent chances to make more than 200 hits or more. With 14 games remaining on the schedule, Simmons must make but five hits to reach 200, while Appling can reach the mark by making one less than a hit a game. Last year Simmons led the league in the number of hits, with 216. His all time high was 253 in 1925.

Federal Hunting Regulations Are Available Now

BY BOB BECKER.

An examination of the government waterfowl hunting regulations now available throughout the country reveals no changes in the wild goose hunting provisions. It will be legal again this fall to take four Canada geese on a day's hunt and have not more than eight in one's possession.

The new regulations also clarify rules for the hunting of rails and gallinules. In the northern Illinois lake country, where there are hundreds of acres of marshes, sportsmen call the gallinule a rice hen. The new regulations state the open season for sora and other rails and gallinules (except mudhens or coots) "shall be from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30 except as follows: "In Wisconsin Sept. 21 to Nov. 20." There are other exceptions in southern and eastern states.

Under this blanket section of the new code Illinois already has started its open season for the rice hens, although early in the week wardens in northern Illinois were of the opinion that the season would not start until Oct. 16, when it becomes legal to hunt ducks and geese.

Sportsmen may find the following summary of the waterfowl laws for Illinois helpful: Rails and gallinules (except coots), open season begins Sept. 1. Jacksnipe season starts Oct. 16 at noon. Duck, wild goose, and mudhen season starts at noon Oct. 16.

The bag limit on ducks has been reduced to 12 per day. One may take 12 mallards or 12 pintails or 12 widegon in a day. But if the daily bag has canvasbacks, redheads, bluebills, ringnecks (fall ducks), blue wing, teal, green wing teal, cinnamon teal, shovelers, or gadwalls in it the hunter cannot have in his possession more than 8 of any of these or 8 in the aggregate. But, having taken 8 of this restricted list, the hunter may fill his daily bag limit of 12 if the other four birds are, for example, mallards.

Another regulation to be remembered is this: Absolutely no wood ducks, ruddy ducks, or buffleheads may be killed at any time. That trio is completely protected.

CUBS SCORE TWO IN 9TH TO BEAT GIANTS, 4 TO 3

Jurges, thus losing the double play. Jurges thought he was out and walked off the base, giving Terry another chance, but Coach Schulte shoved Jurges back onto the bag before Terry could figure out the proper procedure.

Terry realized the consequences of his lapse when Hack slashed a single to right, sending Jurges to third. Billy Herman singled to center, scoring Jurges. A pass to Cuyler loaded the bases. Stephenson grounded to short, but Ryan was in such a hurry that he fumbled, letting Hack score. Demaree then rolled into a forceout.

Giants Score a Run.

Root had no reason to complain about being forced to surrender one run to the league leaders in the fourth. There might have been more if a double play hadn't been dropped in at the proper moment. Critz led off with a single and ran around to the plate on Terry's double to left center. Ott walked. Then Davis fouled to Hartnett and Dressen's bounder to Jurges was turned into a twin killing.

The setting for Billy Herman's grievous error in the seventh was arranged by Davis and O'Doul. The former singled with one out. O'Doul, batting for Dressen, also singled. The two men advanced while Root was throwing out Mancuso. Then Ryan rolled to W. Herman. It was the easiest chance the second sacker had been offered during a game that kept him unusually active. But the ball seeped through his hands, rolled slowly toward the outfield and was not retrieved until Davis and O'Doul were home, putting the Giants in front by 3 to 2.

Hack Caught at Plate.

The Cubs almost nudged the Giants back into at least a tie in the eighth. After Handrick had failed to produce as a pinch swinger for Root, Hack singled to left. Billy Herman made amends for his error by singling along the left field line, Hack racing to third. Cuyler looked bad swinging at a couple of low outside balls tossed by Fitzsimmons and then hoisted a fly to Davis in short center. The speedy Hack tore for the plate after the catch, but the throw nailed him. Then Malone put a collar on the Giants in the ninth and a few minutes later collected on his limited amount of work.

The umpires' judgment that yesterday's second game shouldn't be played, resulted in scheduling a double header for tomorrow between the Cubs and Giants. Two games also will be staged this afternoon. Manager Grimm today will assign Bud Tinning and Lon Warneke to the mound. The Giant pitchers probably will be Roy Parmelee and Hal Schumacher.

World Series Opens Oct. 3 in N. L. Park

If the Washington Senators and the New York Giants win the pennants in their respective leagues, as it now seems certain they will, they will meet in the first game of the world series at the Polo grounds in New York on Oct. 3. The dates and other details connected with the annual series were announced yesterday following a meeting of officials of the contending teams in both leagues in the offices of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

The opening date is six days later than the start of last year's series between the Cubs and New York Yankees. The second game will be played at the Polo grounds Oct. 4. The following three games will be played at Washington Oct. 5, 6, and 7 and the sixth and seventh contests, if necessary, will be played Oct. 8 and 9 in New York.

No Change in Prices.

No change was made in admission prices which have prevailed during recent years. Box seats will cost $6.60 and grandstand $5.50. Pavilion seats at Washington and upper deck grandstand seats at the Polo grounds will be $3.30, and bleacher seats $1.10. All except bleacher seats, which will go on sale the day of each game, will be distributed in blocks of three.

William Veeck, president of the Cubs, attended the meeting, along with J. J. Tierney of the New York Giants, Edward Eynon of the Senators, John Heydler, president of the National league, and William Harridge, president of the American league.

If the Cubs or the Pittsburgh Pirates should beat out the Giants for the National league pennant the series will open a day later, Oct. 4. The Pirates were not represented at the meeting.

Name Eligible Players.

Twenty-three players for each club were named eligible to compete in the series. Nick Altrock and Al Schacht will coach the Senators, while Thomas Clark and Frank Snyder were named as the Giant coaches. The following players are eligible for the series:

GIANTS—Herman Bell, Watson Clark, Hugh Critz, Harry Danning, George Davis, Fred Fitzsimmons, Carl Hubbell, Travis Jackson, Byrne James, Adolfo Luque, Gus Mancuso, Joseph Moore, Frank O'Doul, Melvin Ott, Leroy Parmelee, Homer Peel, Paul Richards, John Ryan, John Salveson, Harold Schumacher, Glenn Spencer, Manager William Terry, John Verges and Coaches Thomas Clark and Frank Snyder.

Conclude Central A. A. U. Swim Series Tomorrow

The final meet in the series of four for Central A. A. U. swimming and diving championships for men and women will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the California park pool.

In the Wake of the News

SHARKEY AND LEVINSKY.

THE Wake has seen Jack Sharkey in four important battles. Each was more important at the time than his ten round bout with King Levinsky at Comiskey park tonight. Three of these four ended in fouls or claims of foul. In the other, decision over Willie Stribling, Boston Jack did enough to earn the verdict and that was about all.

Therefore in what many critics are prone to term his waning days—Sharkey and his managers to the contrary—it is possible we may see one of his greatest exhibitions of boxing—he always was a clever boxer—in avoiding Levinsky's awkward but always dangerous swings, combined with enough force to slow up our Kingfish.

That is what should happen if Sharkey really expects to make a comeback to land him again as champion. On the other hand, there always is the chance that Levinsky may land. Our Kingfish, unlike the one from Louisiana in his recent bout, really fights all he knows how. He is confident. Those two qualities are what make him potentially dangerous.

Our first view of Sharkey was in 1927 when he boxed Jack Dempsey to determine which of the pair should face Gene Tunney in the September bout which eventually was held at Soldiers' field with the greatest crowd and greatest gate in fistic history. Sharkey swarmed all over the Manassa Mauler and it looked as if he might stop Dempsey in two or three rounds. Then Dempsey began to do better. In the seventh round, with the issue still uncertain, Sharkey dropped his guard to make a claim of foul. As he did so Dempsey hooked a left to the chin and Sharkey took the count.

There was the usual argument whether or not Sharkey's claim should have been allowed with a line of cleavage between those writers who had picked Sharkey to win and those who had picked Dempsey to win.

Our next view of Sharkey was against Willie Stribling at Miami in 1929 when Jack received a 10 round decision. No devastating punishment was inflicted by either pugilist and general tendency was to roast the bout.

The following winter we saw Boston Jack against Phil Scott, English heavyweight, also at Miami. Sharkey in a body attack landed a foul blow, at least it looked palpably low to us and Scott so claimed. Whether it incapacitated Scott we do not know. The Englishman's reputation for carpet kissing was so bad he was asked to continue. Soon afterward, facing a body barrage from the infuriated Sharkey, Scott crumpled up and said, "I cawn't continue." Sharkey was declared the winner on a technical knockout in the third round.

That summer Sharkey and Schmeling met for the heavyweight title vacated by Gene Tunney. Jack buffeted Max around the ring for three periods with a barrage from which Schmeling did not flinch, but kept coming back for more. On points, however, Sharkey had a wide margin when Max dropped to the canvas. A large majority of ringside critics did not see the low blow because of the fighters' positions. One of the judges did—the same Judge Barnes who voted for Barney Ross in his lightweight title defense Tuesday night. Medical examination substantiated Schmeling's claim of injury. Up to the time of the foul Sharkey was the greatest we ever had seen him in action.

We did not attend the bout in which Sharkey obtained the disputed decision over Schmeling to acquire the title nor the affair with Carnera where he lost it again.

So Sharkey has taken on some pounds and three years since last we saw him in action. Also, by contrast, Sharkey tonight is trying to get another shot at the title with King Levinsky as one of the first obstacles in his path where when we first saw him he was the obstacle which Dempsey overcame for the chance to meet Tunney a second time. That was only six years ago, but long in the life of a first flight pugilist.

STAGG PLEASED WITH PACIFIC FOOTBALL SQUAD

Stockton, Cal., Sept. 14.—(AP)—After three days of practice, Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg said today he was highly pleased with his College of Pacific varsity squad.

The former University of Chicago coach has been giving his players double drills daily in preparation for the first game with Oregon Normal at Portland, Sept. 22.

Coach Stagg has introduced a new shift and huddle. Indications are Pacific will play a wide open game, with right handed forward passing by Tom Wilson, and southpaw tossing by Elton Hamilton, both regulars on last year's team.

Sharkey and Levinsky Box at Sox Park

tor was the night he personally guaranteed $25,000 to Tuffy Griffith, taking 60 per cent of the net receipts to do so. This eventually left him $3,000 in payment for a boxing lesson from Tuffy.

King Is Santa Claus.

Tonight Mrs. Lena Levy, effervescent, gesticulating sister-manager, who agreed to a percentage for the King while Sharkey's business guide, Johnny Buckley, held out for and is to receive the first $25,000, hopes that the King will be more fortunate. Levinsky may not receive much money but a victory over Sharkey would offer excuse for a third fight with Primo Carnera, now heavyweight champion.

Sharkey and Levinsky are about the only opponents Carnera will accept. The heavyweight situation, not only is always tied to Madison Square Garden by the policy instituted by Tex Rickard, which keeps the winner under contract, but the managers of the heavyweights, in their dislike for certain matchmakers, have complicated matters.

The New York Garden, for instance, has Carnera tied up to defend his title. Max Baer, for promotional purposes, is Dempsey's. Joe Jacobs and Bill McCarney, who front for Schmeling, have no use for the Garden while Mrs. Levy is engaged in a vendetta with the Chicago Stadium.

Wolff Hopes for Best.

Promoter Wolff, with approximately $22,000 in the cash drawer last evening, drew an advance from his financial backers to put Sharkey's $25,000 under lock and key 24 hours before the bout, the terms of the contract. With favorable weather today Wolff hopes that the gross will pass the $50,000 mark. He needs, it is said, $38,000 to pay all expenses. Sharkey has a privilege of 40 per cent while the King will receive 20 per cent after the federal and state taxes have been paid.

Wolff announced yesterday that there are 18,000 seats at $1.20.

LILLARD JOINS CARDINAL PRO SQUAD AGAIN

Joe Lillard, former Oregon half back, who played exceptional football for the Cardinals in several National Professional league games last year, joined the squad yesterday. Lillard has been playing baseball in the Negro league this summer.

Gravelle Faces Bozak in Fronton Match Tonight

Freddy Gravelle, Kankakee, Ill., 128 pound fighter, and Joey Bozak of Blue Island are matched in the windup of the boxing show tonight at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. They are scheduled to fight five rounds. Art Mitchell and Speedy Ricco, featherweights, will clash in a four round semi-final. Other matches:

Matt Dour vs. Bobby Millsap [4].
Eddie Chinski vs. Pete Verri [4].
Bill Steffel vs. Jimmy Coopen [4].
Mike Mantich vs. Frank Walsh [wrestling].

Kid Irish, Benld, Ill., featherweight, is scheduled to return to Chicago next week after several weeks in California, where he engaged in two contests, winning both.

The second show at Eagle River stadium, Eagle River, Wis., will be presented next Friday night. Charlie Crocker, Iron Mountain, Mich., lightweight, will appear.

NOTRE DAME TO PLAY MIDDIES IN CLEVELAND IN '34

Cleveland, O., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Joseph S. Silber, manager of the Cleveland stadium, today announced Notre Dame and Navy will meet in a football game here in 1934.

Date for the game will not be announced until Notre Dame's schedule for next year is completed, Silber said.

COLLEGE RULES TO GOVERN BEAR, ALL-STAR GAME

Anderson Agrees to Move Goal Posts.

With two exceptions the football game tomorrow afternoon between the Chicago Bears and Notre Dame All Stars at Soldiers' field will be played under intercollegiate rules.

The National Professional league's code differs in seven instances from that of the colleges, but Coach Hunk Anderson of the All Stars would agree upon only two changes as pronounced by the league. Anderson agreed to moving the goal posts up to the goal line and consented to the professional rule whereby the receiving team at the kickoff may line up in any formation behind the 10 yard restraining line.

Hunk Firm on Pass Rule.

Hunk was particularly strong in his rejection of the National league rule which permits forward passing from any place behind the line of scrimmage.

The first kickoff will be made at 2:30 o'clock and in the event of unsuitable weather the game will be played Sunday afternoon.

Brumbaugh Is Injured.

With the exception of Carl Brumbaugh, all the Bears are in fine shape. He suffered a severe cut between his eyes that required several stitches yesterday and it is doubtful if he will be able to start at quarter back.

This was a setback to the Bears as Keith Molesworth probably will not be here in time to play and it will throw the burden upon George Corbett, who played half back all last year and who has been calling signals with the idea of being used only in an emergency.

The officials were agreed upon by Anderson and Coach George Halas, with the exception of umpire and he will be named today. Bobbie Cahn will referee, Wilfrid Smith will act as head linesman and Herb Heidkamp as field judge.

STARS END DRILLS

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The work of tapering off for tomorrow's game against the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field, Chicago, occupied the Notre Dame All Stars today.

Heartly Anderson, coach of the All Stars, announced a starting lineup today in which he obviously was aiming to get maximum speed to offset the weight of the Bears. He also named as many players of the last two years as possible.

Ed Kosky and Capt. Paul Host of the 1932 team will be at the ends. Al Culver, 1930 star, and Joe Kurth of the 1932 squad or George Kozac of the 1931 team are the tackles.

Two heavyweights, Jim Harris of last year's team and Frank Kerjes of the 1930 squad, will be the guards. Tommy Yarr, 1931 captain, and Tim Moynihan will divide the center duties.

Laurie Vejar will start at quarter back; Mike Koken and Joe Sheeketski are the half backs. All were members of last year's team. Harry O'Boyle will start at full back. He was a 1926 and 1927 star.

There will be a dummy scrimmage again tomorrow and a light signal drill to bring the All Stars to their peak. They will leave here tomorrow morning for Chicago.

Polo's Finest Ponies Go on Parade Today

New York, Sept. 14.—[Special.]—The National Polo Pony society will resume its show tomorrow after a lapse last year due to economic pressure. At Meadowbrook the finest home bred and foreign bred ponies will parade in 11 classes, which will be judged by Capt. C. T. I. Roark, the British internationalist; Earl W. Hopping, and J. Watson Webb, former American internationalist.

It comes only twenty-four hours behours before the start of the open fore the start of the open championship tournament. Templeton, the defending champion, and Grenetree, runner-up last year, will open the meet Saturday.

Recognition of the trend to home bred mounts is seen in the addition of the new class for American bred ponies only. The United States Polo association is indicating its enthusiastic interest in this development by contributing three prizes in this class, $100 to first, $50 to second, and $25 to third.

SENATORS RALLY FOR 3 IN NINTH; BEAT TIGERS, 4-3

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A three run rally in the ninth inning today gave the league leading Washington Senators a 4 to 3 victory over the Detroit Tigers and Southpaw Earl Whitehill his 21st pitching triumph. Today's success increased the Senators' lead to nine games over the second place New York Yankees.

Bolton batted for Bluege in the ninth and walked. Rice batted for Sewell and forced Bolton. Travis hit for Whitehill and fanned. Then Myer got a single by beating the throw to first, Rice taking second. A single by Goslin scored Rice and put Myer on third. After Manush had walked to fill the bases, Manager Joe Cronin hit to left, bringing Myer and Goslin home with the tying and winning runs. Score:

BOWLING ALLEY OWNERS ADOPT CODE, MAKE JOBS

Within two weeks bowling alleys of Chicago will be operating at capacity and while thousands of men and women are obtaining recreation they will be putting four or five thousand persons to work. These facts were impressed upon Chicago members of the bowling Proprietors Association of America yesterday at a meeting at which a NRA code, submitted to Washington, was unanimously approved.

Adoption of the code will increase employment, Leo A. Schuenemann, president of the Bowling Proprietors association, pointed out. The resumption of bowling activity in the fall will account for the biggest increase, Mr. Schuenemann said.

Somerville, Westland Lose in National Amateur Golf

all the way around in winning from Held, being three up at the 18th and five up at the turn in the afternoon.

The afternoon rounds, scheduled to start at 2 o'clock, didn't get going until an hour later because of a steady shower. The effect of the rain on the scoring is borne out in the cards of the Marston-Noyes match. Both shot 70's, one under par, in the morning, but in the afternoon Max took an 80 for the second 18 and Sid a 79.

MUNGER VS. WESTLAND

Munger might have been at least four up on Westland at the end of their morning 18, but threw away a couple of opportunities on the greens. The Texas boy won the first hole with a birdie 3, sinking a 15 foot sidehill putt, but from there on it was battle. Munger missed a 15 inch putt on the second green to lose the hole, but sank a three footer on the third for a birdie. He three putted the fourth, which Westland won with a par 4. Munger won the fifth with a par when Westland was over the green with his drive. Munger went two up after the sixth, on which he scored a birdie with a ten foot putt, but lost the seventh by finding a trap with his tee shot.

They halved the next ten holes. Munger lost a chance to win the eighth by three putting. Westland's putt from three feet on the ninth was in the cup, but bounced out. Both scored birdies on the tenth.

Westland's Putter Working.

The Texan was partially stymied at the 11th, but earned a half in fours. Munger made a great approach shot from a downhill lie in the rough at the 14th, missing a four foot putt for a birdie. Westland was in trouble at the 244 yard 16th, driving the rough to the left of the green, only to get on and sink a six foot putt for a half.

Westland made his best putt of the morning on the 17th after taking four to get on the green from bunkers and rough. It was a 25 foot downhill effort. Munger, who was near the edge of the green with his third, was shy with his approach putt, but then sank a six footer. Westland went two down at the 18th. His 25 foot attempt for a half around a partial stymie stopped on the rim of the cup.

Westland Rallies Too Late.

Westland was three down to Munger after the 20th, where the Texan sank a 20 foot putt for a deuce. Westland's second to the 22d was short and Munger was four up. The Chicagoan was in a trap at the 26th and five down, but regained a hole at the 27th, where Munger found a trap. They halved the next four and Westland then began a belated rally. He holed out a chip shot off the 32d and won the next when Munger drove into the rough and trapped his second shot. They halved the 34th in par 3s and Munger took the match with a par at the 35th, which Westland overshot with his third effort. The cards:

MORNING ROUND.

Munger wins, 3 and 1.

LITTLE VS. SOMERVILLE

Somerville was two down after the first three holes of his match with Little, being stymied at the second and losing the third to Little's birdie. The champion regained a hole at the fourth, where Little was trapped. Both three-putted the fifth, but Somerville squared the match at the eighth with a nine foot putt for a birdie.

Somerville three-putted the tenth to go one down again, but evened that at the 11th with a nine foot putt for a birdie around the Californian's partial stymie. They halved the next two. Little went one up at the 14th with a birdie from 20 feet. Little was stymied on the 15th, but got a half when his putt hopped over Somerville's ball on the second bounce from 15 feet. Somerville went two down by driving the rough at the 16th. They halved the last two.

All Square at 25th.

Somerville lost the 19th when he drove into the rough and was trapped with his second shot. He got a birdie on the 20th by laying his approach two feet from the pin and scored a deuce on the 22d with a ten foot putt. He evened the match at the 25th with another birdie from 12 feet, but lost the 26th to Little's 14 foot putt for a birdie. Somerville was bunkered at the 27th to be two down again.

They halved the next five holes and Little went three up at the 33d when Somerville three putted. The champion won the 34th, where Little drove into the rough, but the match was over at the next green, where the champion drove into the trees and bunkered his second, taking a half in fives. The cards:

MORNING ROUND.

Little—Out	444	545	444—38
Somerville—Out	455	445	344—38

MARSTON VS. NOYES

Noyes was trapped at the first hole against Marston, but dropped his recovery putt three feet from the pin for a half. Marston was in trouble at the second and Noyes went one up, only to have Marston take the third with a birdie. Noyes won the fourth, but Marston scored a deuce on the fifth with a ten foot putt. They halved the sixth and seventh. Noyes then lost two holes.

Marston went three up at the tenth with a 15 foot putt for a birdie. Both clipped par on the next two holes. Sid sank an eight foot putt on the 11th, and Max a five footer. Both holed out from ten feet on the 12th. Noyes scored his third consecutive birdie at the 13th after dropping his third shot six inches from the pin. This left him two down, and he went on to win the next three holes with pars. Marston took the 17th with a birdie, however, and the match was square. Marston was forced to hurdle a stymie on the 18th to get his half.

Noyes was two up on Marston after the first three holes of their afternoon round. He won the 20th when Max overshot the green and also the 21st, where the Philadelphian three-putted. Max overshot the 134 yard 23d, and Noyes was three up. He lost the 24th by falling far short of the green with his third shot, and got a bad break on the 26th. Both hooked into the rough, Noyes' ball falling into the road within less than six inches from a pear lying there. He picked it up before swinging, and automatically lost the hole.

They halved the next two, and Marston squared the match with a par at the 29th, where Noyes was trapped and then missed a two foot putt. Max went one up, when he sank a great 25 foot putt for a deuce at the 30th. He won the 32d and 33d also, Noyes falling short at the former and getting into a trap at the 33d. With the match dormie, Noyes won the next three holes to even it. Marston took two putts from five feet at the 34th and was stymied at the 35th. He overshot the 36th green and after coming back, knocked Noyes' ball into the cup for a birdie 3 and the hole.

They divided the 37th in par 4, despite trouble in reaching the green. Marston won on the 38th by getting down in two putts, while Noyes was babying his long approach putt.

The cards:

MORNING ROUND.

Noyes—Out	435	435	455—38
Marston—Out	444	525	444—36
Noyes—In	432	344	354—32—70
Marston—In	332	455	444—34—70

Noyes—In	453	555	353—38—79
Marston—In	442	544	465—38—80
Noyes—Out	44
Marston—Out	43

Marston wins, 1 up, in 38 holes.

DUNLAP VS. HELD

Dunlap started out as though he would make a runaway of his match with Held, winning four of the first five holes played. He was trapped at the first, but Held missed the green and both took fives. Eddie then lost the next four. Eddie was short with his drive to the second, was trapped at the third, and lost the next two to Dunlap's birdies. Held then came through with a birdie of his own at the sixth, running one down from 10 feet. He lost the eighth on a stymie, but regained it at the ninth, where Dunlap was trapped.

A ten foot putt gave Dunlap a birdie at the 10th, but Held answered it with an eight foot putt to win the 11th. Eddie lost the 13th, where he was trapped, and then took the 14th with a 20 foot putt for a birdie. Dunlap jumped a stymie to win the 15th. They halved the next two. On the 18th Dunlap took three putts which cost him the hole.

Dunlap had the easiest time of any of the four victors. After being three up in the morning he was five up after the 27th. Held lost the 28th, and halved the 29th. Held got a deuce on the next hole to be five down with six to go. His drive went into the rough at the 30th, however, and his second shot was short. Dunlap got his par 4 to end the match.

The cards:

MORNING ROUND.

Dunlap—Out	535	325	445—36
Held—Out	546	444	454—40
Dunlap—In	343	444	355—35—71

Walsh's 177 Takes Class B Low Gross Prize.

Joie Finn led a field of more than 400 members and guests in the seventh annual Olympian Frolic at Olympia Fields yesterday to win the 36 hole low gross prize for members in class A. Finn had a total of 76—76—152.

Earl Walsh finished first in class B with a gross score of 90—87—177. The low gross award for guests went to Eddie Murphy of Ridge, with a card of 75—75—150.

Low Net to Arliskas.

The 36 hole low net prize in class A was won by Frank Arliskas with 155—16—142. He finished with a net of 139, but scores below par reverted back to perfect figures. M. J. Tanzer scored 174—32—142 to win the class B net prize. John OConnor, with a card of 176—40—132, won the low net prize for guests.

In the 18 hole prize events on No. 2 course L. E. Carey with 82—9—73 won class A low net. Class B went to J. Marzek, who finished with 90—21—72. M. M. Robertson, who scored 81—12—72, and Ben Larson, with 84—12—72, tied for the low net guest prize.

Smith's 80 Wins.

Elmer F. Smith finished the 18 holes on No. 4 course with an 80 to win the class A low gross award. J .E. Shanahan Sr., playing with his son and brother, turned in a gross card of 90 to win the class B event for members. The guest prize for 18 holes low gross was awarded to B. Ferguson with 80.

The constant rain of the night before and a cold wind kept the scores well over par. A few of the members and their guests finished only 18 holes and called it a day.

The leading scores on the four courses were:

Shower Delays Start of Second 18 Hole Round

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 14.—Five minutes before Max Marston and Sidney Noyes, the first twosome to tee off this afternoon in the second 18 holes of the national amateur quarter-finals, were ready to leave, a field of umbrellas bloomed. Those in the gallery without protection tumbled off the circus seats back of the tee to scurry for the shelter of the clubhouse. A healthy young shower, which had been threatening to fall all morning, was the cause of all the activity.

Within two minutes, the press headquarters in the clubhouse lounge teemed with all of the celebrities in the tournament, including the U. S. G. A. officials, Bobby Jones, Frank Craven, the actor, and his pipe, who haven't missed an amateur tournament in years; Mrs. Roof Gilson, who as Georgia Coleman holds the world's diving championship; Jimmy Johnston, 1929 holder of the amateur title, and all of the quarter finalists.

The course had been drenched by last night's rains, and by the time the shower got down to business it appeared as if it would be impossible to play, for the first fairway alone was filled with young lakes and rivers. The tournament officials were on the verge of sending Marston and Noyes out into it after the shower had subsided slightly at 2:30 o'clock, but the rain came down a trifle harder, and it was 3 o'clock before Marston and Noyes finally found two dry patches on which to tee off.

Jack Westland sank one of the greatest putts of the tournament when he earned a half in fives on the seventeenth green. The western amateur champion had been all over the lot, his fourth shot from out of the rough at the right of the carpet, going 25 feet past the pin and uphill. He squinted at the ball for nearly three minutes before taking his own particular putting stance and dropping it into the cup. He had a like putt on the eighteenth, but it was partially stymied by Jack Munger's ball, and he lost the hole to be two down.

Stymies played an important part in nearly all of the morning rounds. C. Ross Somerville lost the second hole to Lawson Little when he couldn't get around the Californian's ball. The champion got a birdie in spite of Little's partial stymie at the 11th, and Little bounced one in from 15 feet over Somerville's ball at the 15th. Marston had to hop over Noyes' ball at the eighteenth to keep the match even at that point. Eddie Held was stymied by George Dunlap at the eighth, and later Dunlap won the fifteenth by hurdling Held's ball from six feet.

Even Jones had to stop before the scoreboard and gape admiringly at Noyes' card for the second nine in his morning round against Marston. The former Yale star's 32, three under par, included birdies on the 11th, 12th, and 13th, with not one hole over par. Noyes had gone into training for this performance on Tuesday afternoon, when he shot a 31 over the same nine, the best of the tournament, to qualify with 149. Marston didn't do so poorly himself, coming home in 34 to match Noyes' 70 for the first 18. Max had birdies on the 10th, 11th, 12th and 17th.

A perfect testimonial to the effect of the afternoon rain upon the course and the players was found in the scores for the first hole. Only Dunlap and Little were able to manufacture par fours on it, Noyes, Marston, Westland, Munger, and Held taking fives and Somerville six.

At least two of the quarter finalists were willing to go out in the afternoon, rain or no rain. They were Westland and Munger, both of whom had plenty of practice in the great deluge of Memphis two months ago, when it rained for 72 hours during the western amateur tournament.

DUELIST TAKES STROLL THROUGH THE CRETE MUD

Scores 34th Victory by a Length from Petabit.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Old Duelist—he's now nine—one of the great mud running horses of all time, came back to the races at Lincoln Fields yesterday and, over his favorite kind of going, won a dash at six furlongs.

It was the first time in three months he had stepped up to the barrier. His long absence from the classroom apparently made a bright boy of him for when the real running started at the head of the stretch, Duelist moved into the lead. He wouldn't let anybody catch him and went splashing through the mud to win by more than a length.

Petabit from Kentucky was second and the heavily backed Concisus, from Val Crane's Wild Rose farm out near St. Charles, Ill., was third. John Mill also had many backers, but he was never a contender.

He's Plenty Active.

Few horses have been more active in the last generation than Duelist. He is a son of War Cloud-Little Flower, the latter a daughter of Star Ruby. He was foaled on the fashionable A. B. Hancock farm in Kentucky. He was cut out for a good horse and during his 2 and 3 year old campaigns he gave promise of developing into a champion.

Then something went wrong with his legs. He couldn't win on a fast track. Put him in the mud and he could beat stake horses. When Duelist failed so many times over a fast track and was able to show only a semblance of his one time great speed he was dropped into the selling plater division.

He has been losing to selling platers ever since when the going was fast and the track was hard. But he has been throwing mud in their eyes in gooey going.

During a racing campaign which has extended over seven seasons Duelist has run in 138 races. That's a lot more times than about 90 per cent of our thoroughbreds ever line up at the barrier.

No. 34 for Duelist.

When he galloped home yesterday Duelist scored his thirty-fourth victory. It's a record any old horse can brag about, for it reveals that Duelist has won one out of every four races in which he has engaged. Most of those triumphs have been scored in the muddy or heavy going. A lot of our stake horses, winners of huge sums of money, cannot produce such a record when it comes to consistency.

Old Duelist seems to improve with age. His record this year shows that in fifteen starts he has been first past the winning post eight times, has been second twice, and third on another occasion.

WILLIAM HERTZ CHARGED WITH MISUSE OF FUNDS

Bankruptcy Action Filed Against Company.

Charges that William D. Hertz, president and principal owner of Hertz & Co., security selling firm, brought insolvency upon the company through his embezzlement of $71,000 of the company's funds and the use of its assets in his private speculations were made yesterday by the company's counsel.

The charges were contained in an answer filed in the United States District court to an involuntary bankruptcy brought against the company earlier in the day. Debts of about $500,000 and assets of $300,000 were alleged.

The bankruptcy action was precipitated by an investigation into the company's affairs by the Illinois securities department. Securities Commissioner Rupert F. Bippus revoked the license of the company to do business in the state yesterday morning.

Brought by Three Creditors.

The bill alleged that Hertz saddled the company with losses totaling $171,000 which he incurred in his personal stock market operations. The bill was filed by Attorney Robert Wagner who stated that he had been retained by the company as attorney two weeks ago.

The involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were brought against the company in the name of the Greyhound Advertising company, N. W. Simon & Co., and the Franz Stationery company as creditors.

In the answer filed on behalf of the company all the allegations contained in the petition but that of insolvency are denied. The company's bill further charges that the claims of two of the creditor companies are fictitious. It further states that the creditors were induced to file the bankruptcy petition by Hertz.

Charges $100,000 Loss.

Hertz's alleged peculations were disclosed by an audit of the company's books made by stockholders and other officers, the bill recites. This audit was made following an examination by the Illinois securities department, which showed a shortage of $40,000, it was asserted.

A loss of $100,000 was incurred through the speculation of Hertz in the name of the company, the bill states. It further declares that Hertz "embezzled securities and properties belonging to the company in the amount in excess of $71,000."

LARD SHIPMENTS DUE

Liberal shipments of lard are expected to be reported from Chicago next week when boats clear from the local port to Europe. It is estimated as high as 50,000 tons of lard may be shipped for direct export for the entire season before navigation closes on the great lakes.

Inflatio. talk had considerable influence on the provision market yesterday and brought in sufficient buying to hold the markets strong in the face of profit taking. There was also some buying to remove hedges against cash sales.

GOLD HOARDERS AGAIN WARNED TO MAKE REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Reminding holders of gold that President Roosevelt's executive order, requiring them to file a return on their holdings before next Monday, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings today made his regular weekly threat to prosecute those who refused to make a return or surrender their gold.

Further delays are in prospect, however, the attorney general admitted, and prosecutions, already put off three times, probably will not be started in the near future. After returns are in, time will be required to check against the list of known gold hoarders to determine whether any one has defied the presidential decree on returns, Cummings explained.

May Publish Hoarders' Names.

Meanwhile, Cummings took another extra-legal step to put pressure on gold holders. He announced he had a list of 342 persons reputedly holding $1,515,588, and that he was considering making the names public. Today, he refused to go farther than to disclose the total number of defiant hoarders in each state.

In Illinois, according to the attorney general's figures, there are twenty persons who are refusing to turn in $164,698. In Indiana, he said, there are five known hoarders with $1,500, two in Iowa with $16,650, and seventeen in Wisconsin with $96,840. In Michigan there is only one known hoarder, whose identity was especially shielded, but he was reported to have $90,000 in gold.

New York led the list of states, with 153 known hoarders, supposedly holding $670,620. In seven other states there was only one person. These single hoarders were revealed as having amounts ranging from $200 to $90,000.

Predicts Further Surrenders.

Attorney General Cummings said that he believed that the 342 hoarders, except some big ones, were "mostly ignorant people, or people who are scared." He predicted that several of them, now on the point of turning in the gold, would do so, leaving few actual infractions of President Roosevelt's order.

Unless returns are made by Sept. 18 and the gold surrendered within fifteen days thereafter, the government intends to act, the attorney general insisted. Prosecutions may be started for not making returns or not returning the gold, but considerable time will have to be spent in rechecking the list of known gold holders, which already has been checked twice, according to Cummings.

JOHN P. DAWSON TO HEAD ILLINOIS ACCOUNTANTS

John P. Dawson of Price Waterhouse & Co. has been elected president of the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Homer J. Miller of Lybrand, Ross Brothers & Montgomery has been chosen vice president, and Fred J. Duncombe of George W. Rossetter & Co. secretary treasurer. Directors for the new year are Hiram T. Scovill, Charles W. Jones, William F. G. Ross, and Edward B. Wilcox.

The society, which is entering its thirtieth year, limits its membership to certified public accountants.

Edwin T. Gibson to Head Baker-Bennett-Day, Inc.

Edwin T. Gibson has been elected president of Baker-Bennett-Day, Inc., large nut products company and a subsidiary of General Foods corporation, according to an announcement by C. M. Chester, president of General Foods.

FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF RICHFIELD OIL COMPANY RESUMED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Resumption of the three cornered fight for control of the Richfield Oil Company of California is expected between Standard Oil of California, the Consolidated Oil corporation, and Cities Service interests, it was learned today in authoritative quarters.

The battle for the properties of Richfield, which is a large oil unit with producing, refining, and distributing facilities, was one of competitive bidding, chiefly between Standard of California and Consolidated Oil, although Cities Service with a large stock and bond interest sat on the side lines until Consolidated announced its withdrawal from the contest.

Then, according to authoritative information, the Cities Service interests attempted a joint deal with Standard Oil of California, which fell through, as did similar negotiations with the Consolidated Oil group.

While the Cities Service group has made no bid for the properties—it is understood they would prefer to see an internal reorganization—it can be said on good grounds that the Cities interests are not satisfied with the offers which have been made so far.

While the Consolidated Oil group withdrew from the fight early last spring it was learned today that a new offer from the Sinclair interests, representing Consolidated, would be no surprise to Standard of California nor to Cities Service. The Richfield company is in the hands of a receiver.

STEEL CODE MAY FORCE PENNSY TO SPLIT ORDERS

The Pennsylvania railroad, which normally places orders for 100,000 tons of rails at this season, may find it necessary to split up its order and buy the rails as needed this year, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president, said here yesterday.

Under normal conditions the road places a lump order for its expected needs and takes delivery as the rails can be used. Formerly it was protected against a decline in rail prices on this type of order.

"We are afraid that under the steel code we will not be able to get this price hedge this year," Gen. Atterbury said, "and it may be necessary to hold up our orders until we actually need the rails. This would mean buying in smaller quantities."

Gen. Atterbury explained the road's situation in response to an inquiry regarding the railroad's attitude to the plea of Rail Coördinator Joseph B. Eastman that the railroad industry purchase 1,000,000 tons of rails.

RETAILERS' TAX MUST BE PAID BY 12 TONIGHT

For the convenience of retailers in the Chicago metropolitan area, the Chicago office of the department of finance, 30 North La Salle street, will remain open until midnight tonight so that retailers may file their occupational tax payments in advance of the penalty deadline.

Announcement of this service to retailers was made in Springfield by Director Joseph J. Rice. Mr. Rice stated that, after midnight tonight, payments of the retailers' tax for the month of August will be delinquent and subject to a penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax owing the state.

SEARS-ROEBUCK SALES REPORTED MOVING HIGHER

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the 4 week period ended Sept. 10 were $22,584,264, as compared with $19,145,291 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 18 per cent. In the preceding four weeks of this year the company reported sales of $19,179,932.

Sales aggregated $150,754,786 in the first 8 periods of this year as compared with $162,983,072 in the same period last year, a decline of $12,228,286, or 7.5 per cent.

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 14.—Demand for wool was improving in the Boston market today after a slow start this week. Fair volume of business was reported, though buyers were shopping around more than usual.

All prices were firm. Medium wools were especially scarce and high. Ohio ⅜ blood was impossible to buy under 38@39c a pound in the grease and there was an increasing tendency among dealers to demand 40c. Quarter blood was in the same position. Territory wools all were firm, with prices unchanged.

The U. S. agriculture department report said:

"A fair volume of business is being transacted in the wool market. Demand is quite broad but not nearly as active as last week. Buyers are shopping around in an effort to buy at prices prevailing before the last rise. Apparently only odd lots can be secured under recent market quotations. Strictly combing 56's, ⅜ blood and 48's, 50's, ¼ blood Ohio fleece wools sell mostly at 38@39c in the grease. Lots offered below this range are becoming scarce. The tendency to ask 40c is growing."

SEN. HARRISON ASKS 'RATIONAL' INFLATION NOW

Expects Liquor Revenues to Reduce Taxes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Senator Harrison of Mississippi, who is chairman of the senate finance committee and who yesterday urged a program of "rational" inflation on President Roosevelt after a tour of the south, declared today that "if something is not done through rational currency inflation to raise commodity prices the next congress will repeal the President's discretionary powers and make monetary inflation compulsory."

This represents the feeling of members of congress, especially those from the farm states of the south and west who feel that higher prices for farm commodities would result from easier money, Senator Harrison declared. He added that the administration's recovery program will encounter great difficulties unless commodity prices increase substantially within the next few weeks.

Foresees Tax Cuts.

In presenting his views on the economic situation, Senator Harrison said it has been estimated by treasury officials that revenues from wines and distilled liquors next year with the repeal of prohibition would reach $700,000,000. This yield, together with about $200,000,000 from the tax on beer, he asserted, would make possible a reduction of taxes and bring about a balanced budget in the next fiscal year in the ordinary expenses of the government.

The taxes of $227,000,000 carried in the public works bill to amortize interest charges, according to Senator Harrison, will be repealed under the operation of the act which makes them void with the issue by the President of a proclamation that the 18th amendment has been repealed. These taxes include those on capital stock, stock dividends, and gasoline.

Wants Inflation Now.

"I would have rational inflation of the currency now," Senator Harrison continued, and I am inclined to believe after my talks with the President and treasury officials that the government will do something to increase commodity prices through making credit easier in banks.

"I tried to impress the President and the treasury officials that the buying of government securities in the open market was ineffective and was not helping the situation. The buying by the government of $25,000,000 to $40,000,000 of government securities does not get sufficient money into the banks, and, therefore, is of no use in this very serious situation which can be improved only by the rise in commodity prices.

"Something must be done almost immediately to help the cotton farmers. His product is now moving into the market and something ought to be done to increase the price of cotton so that the farmer gets benefits of his crop before it reaches the broker."

JOHN O'LEARY LIABILITIES PUT AT $1,545,142

John W. O'Leary, former chairman of the board of the National Bank of the Republic, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy on Aug. 28, yesterday scheduled assets of $524,674 and liabilities of $1,545,142.

Of the liabilities listed, $537,000 are secured. Among the liabilities are pledges of $5,000 each to the Sunday Evening club, the Wesley Memorial hospital, and Cornell university. There is a contingent liability of $59,212 growing out of ownership of stock in the former Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

Mr. O'Leary is a former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and is a director in many commercial enterprises, as well as being active in civic affairs.

COTTON PRICES ADVANCE

Cotton traders paid considerable attention to inflation talk from Washington yesterday and, while the south and hedging pressure was heavy at times, prices were advanced rather sharply, only to lose part of the upturn later when grains and stocks reacted. Futures in Chicago were 4 to 12 points higher and New Orleans 1 to 9 points higher for the day. New York, which adjourned early Wednesday, closed 16 to 21 points higher. Spots were up 15 to 20 points, with New York 9.55 cents; New Orleans, 9.30 cents; Galveston, 9.15 cents, and Houston, 9.20 cents.

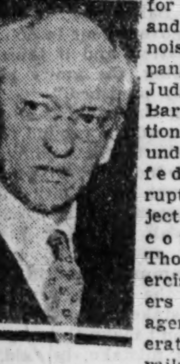
C. M. THOMSON MADE TRUSTEE OF C. & E. I. ROAD

Action Instigated by U. S. Agency.

Charles M. Thomson of Chicago, former judge of the Appellate court, yesterday was appointed trustee for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company by Federal Judge John P. Barnes. The action was taken under the new federal bankruptcy law. Subject to the court's control, Mr. Thomson will exercise broad powers in the management and operation of the railroad.



CHARLES M. THOMSON.

The appointment was made upon motion of counsel for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to which the railroad owes more than $5,000,000, secured by $8,000,000 worth of prior lien bonds. Counsel for the committee of general mortgage bondholders joined in the motion.

Judge Barnes instructed counsel for the RFC, for the bondholders, and for the railroad to draw up a formal order vesting in Mr. Thomson the requisite authority in accordance with the federal bankruptcy law.

Memorandum Issued by Judge.

"The principal grounds for the appointment of a trustee are:

"1. That the equity of the stockholders of the debtor [the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company] in this property is small. 2. That it will be advantageous to have a trustee who can at the proper time prepare and present a plan of reorganization. 3. That a very substantial part of both preferred and common stock of the debtor is owned or controlled by persons and corporations who own or control other railroads; that the management of the debtor owes its existence to such persons and corporations who own or control other railroads; and that there are subsisting contracts and that there are in effect joint rates between the debtor and other railroads which should have the scrutiny of a trustee, who, because of a single allegiance, can look at such contracts and rates with an eye only to the good of the debtor.

"The court is not impressed with either or both of the first two grounds for the appointment of a trustee. Neither constitutes a ground, and together they do not constitute grounds for the appointment of a trustee. The third ground assigned deserves and has had the serious consideration of the court.

Discusses Rail Rates.

"It may be that the contract and joint rates of the debtor with other railroads are the best from the viewpoint of the debtor that can be negotiated or established, but, since it is not denied that substantial parts of the stocks of the debtor are owned or controlled by persons and corporations who own and control other railroads, the creditors and other stockholders of the debtor are entitled to have those contracts and joint rates scrutinized by an impartial person who does not owe his office to the votes of the owners of other railroads."

The statement of the judge refers to arguments presented by counsel for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the effect that the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland virtually controlled the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway company, and that Charles T. O'Neal, president, owed his position to such interests.

On April 18, 1933, Judge Barnes approved the railroad's petition for the right to form plans of reorganization under the new federal bankruptcy law. At the time, the company stated it was unable to meet May 1, 1933, interest on secured notes totaling $28,591, taxes on property, subject to penalty if not paid, approximating $651,904, and interest on other obligations constituting a lien on the property of $887,515. The obligations aggregated $1,568,010.

'Dollar Down' Stock Sellers Face Ouster

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Rupert Bippus, head of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes' blue sky office, says he is going to rid the state of the partial payment securities houses. That is good news for investors.

The partial payment scheme as it has been practiced in Illinois in recent months by a number of houses subjects the unsuspecting investor to the same dangers as the old fashioned bucket shop, but it is a sweeter racket for the proprietors.

The bucket shop posed as a brokerage house and merely bought and sold on its clients' orders, usually on margin. When an occasional customer got suspicious and demanded his money he was given it. When the market advanced too sharply and a large number of customers demanded their profits the bucket shop proprietor vanished, later opening up a new office elsewhere under a different name.

The partial payment scheme is an improvement on the bucket shop idea. It is so arranged that the customers can't come in and demand their money, for they are kept paying on the contracts over a period of years.

To inquirers asking about partial payment stock or "savings" proposition THE TRIBUNE Investors' Guide says: "The purchase of common stocks, either in their original form or wrapped up in packages [the swank name is portfolio], is a speculative form of investment. We don't recommend the purchase of that type of investment by the fellow whose funds are so scant that he can't pay for his purchase outright and take possession. Furthermore, if you're going to trust a broker or dealer with your payment money you'd better be certain that he is worthy of the trust reposed in him."

The United States has a lot of gold in its reserve banks and in the treasury and a lot more in the ground. Under present treasury rulings the gold mine operator is encouraged to sell his gold out of the country, thereby helping build up the gold reserves of other nations at a time when all the nations of the world, the United States included, are trying to get as much gold as possible to strengthen their financial standing and back their currencies.

London has a free gold market. The United States has none, presumably because that might give a break to the fellow who held gold in defiance of recent treasury orders making the holding of more than $100 in gold a crime. To be consistent the treasury, therefore, is forcing newly mined gold out of the country while it considers prosecuting the individuals who have old gold put away. The first shipment of 4,208 ounces, worth approximately $125,000, went abroad Wednesday.

Gold worth $125,000 would be sufficient backing for $1,250,000 or more credit, according to the way economists figure.

In the meantime, politicians from western states are discussing means of artificially raising the price of silver in order that Mexico, India, China, and South American countries that have large quantities of silver may trade with us.

According to these theories the United States doesn't want any more gold, but it wants lots more silver.

It would be interesting to discover what the United States would do with a few billion dollars worth of silver taken from foreign countries at a pegged price three or four times the present natural price in the world's commodity markets.

The administration at Washington demands that the banks lend money more liberally. The banks reply that they are glad to make commercial loans, loans to facilitate the processing or shipment of goods and which are repaid when the goods are sold.

They assert, however, that most of the loan applications that they turn down are capital loans. They refuse to tie up their funds with companies that need money to offset their capital deficiencies. That sort of loan, they argue, is for the investment banker, the fellow who sells long term bonds.

If this argument is true the fellow who is holding up the demanded credit expansion is the underwriter of bonds. The latter says his hands are tied for two reasons. In the first place, the new truth in securities act imposes such liabilities on corporation directors and officers of underwriting concerns that they won't take a chance. And in the second place, investors won't buy bonds until the would-be borrowers can show them that their businesses are going to operate at a profit. Nor will they buy bonds as long as inflation of the currency is impending.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—The dollar declined today to the lowest point for September, and at its day's low of 68.48 cents in gold, based on quotations for French francs on the local market, was only slightly above the record low of 68.40 cents reached on July 19. At the close the dollar was worth 68.52 cents in gold.

This movement resulted in another advance in the price of gold to $29.77 an ounce, up 29 cents, the highest official price since the inauguration of daily gold prices last Friday. The low was $29.10, on Monday of this week.

Sterling continued to soar, rising 4⅞ cents against the dollar, while French francs rose 8¾ points. All other European exchanges also advanced in the exchange market here, as did Japanese yens and Canadian dollars.

The decline of the dollar was attributed partly to the statement attributed to Senator Pat Harrison, in a new plea for inflation of the currency to secure advances in commodity prices.

U. S. to Kill More Bonus Pigs; Aids Areas Hurt by Drought

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—The department of agriculture has just announced the total number of pigs to be purchased for the account of the secretary of agriculture under the emergency hog marketing program may be extended beyond the original maximum of four million head in order to bring the program to an orderly termination.

"This increase in the maximum number which may be purchased by the end of the emergency hog marketing period on Sept. 29," the announcement said, "has been authorized to permit some additional buying in areas where farmers are being forced to market unusually large numbers of pigs on account of extremely short feed supplies and in principal hog growing areas where processing facilities have substantially limited the sale of pigs thus far.

Quota on Pigs Raised.

"The additional quotas granted thus far bring the maximum purchasable number of pigs up to 4,428,500 head. The total number of pigs actually received for purchase and slaughter at authorized processing points since the beginning of the emergency period is between three and 3½ million head.

QUOTA OF SOWS FAILS.

It was reported at the Chicago stock yards yesterday that the AAA has decided to keep right on slaughtering light pigs after the 4,000,000 goal is reached to counterbalance the shortage in numbers of piggy sows that the farmer has refused to sell to the government.

The original plan to cut pork production was to slaughter 4,000,000 baby pigs weighing 25 to 100 pounds and 1,000,000 piggy sows. This, it was claimed, would remove in the neighborhood of 2,600,000,000 pounds of potential pork from the 1934 markets. The number of pigs already slaughtered over the country is over the 3,000,000 mark, while only about 75,000 piggy sows have been killed.

The government had been depending on the slaughter of the sows for most of the reduction in the potential pork supply.

The pigs and piggy sows to date have cost about $17,000,000, not including cost of processing or storage.

Pig Shipments Reduced.

Shipments of pigs into some points have been held down the last few days. The 20 leading markets yesterday handled a total of 100,000 head, against 128,000 head for the preceding Thursday. Chicago received 25,000, all with permits, which were cleared away within a few hours. The holdovers, some of which have been carried since Monday without shipping permits, are to be cleaned up today and Saturday.

Most of the holdovers were from the drought sections of Kansas and the Dakotas. More effort is being made to buy pigs from the dry sections where feed is short, and restrict buying in areas where a good corn crop is expected. Some farmers, in sections where corn is plentiful, have been selling light pigs to the government at the bonus price of $6 to $9.50 according to weights ranging from 25 to 100 pounds, and buying back 110 to 120 pound feeder pigs at $3.25 to $3.50.

Reserve Helps Inflation by Buying Bonds

The administration's program of inflation through purchases of government bonds by the twelve federal reserve banks continued in the week ended Wednesday at the same rate as in the preceding week, according to the weekly figures released by the reserve board last night.

The twelve central banks combined added 36 millions to their holdings of government securities, 20 millions of the additional purchases being treasury certificates and bills and the remaining 16 millions being treasury notes.

Thus, the rumors during the last few days that inflation was again being accelerated failed to be reflected in the reserve board's figures.

These figures, however, cover the seven days ended Sept. 13 and do not reflect the treasury financing that occurs today, which may result in loading up the reserve banks with a substantial amount of additional bonds.

Discounted Bills Shrink.

While the reserve banks were extending 36 millions additional credit to the federal government, amount of their outstanding commercial credit continued to contract, a shrinkage of 11 millions being shown in bills discounted.

Statements of member bank position in New York and Chicago, also released yesterday, showed a slight expansion of the credit of commercial banks in the two cities. The increase reversed the trend of recent weeks and may have been due to the insistence of the administration that banks lend more liberally to business, but the change was inconsequential in view of the increase in deposits of member banks in both cities during the week.

New York Reserves Increased.

Of an indicated increase of about 90 millions in gross deposits of New York member banks 56 millions went into the federal reserve banks as added cash reserves for the member banks. Another 29 millions went into brokers' loans. Total increase in brokers' loans was 24 millions for the week.

Chicago member banks enjoyed an indicated increase of about 37 million dollars in gross deposits, of which 17 millions was retained as additional reserves, 7 millions went into additional commercial loans, and the rest went as deposits in out of town banks.

Circulation of federal reserve notes declined 21 millions for the week, a seasonal contraction after the Labor day holiday. Circulation of asset money increased 1 million dollars.

Of the 36 million additional government bonds purchased by the twelve reserve banks combined the Chicago reserve bank again bore the major part of the load, buying 13 millions.

Chrysler Says Auto Sales Have Outrun Expectations

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14. — Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of the Chrysler corporation, in a letter accompanying dividend checks says that on the basis of available figures, Chrysler motors has this year doubled its 1929 share of the total automobile business. Buying during the summer has been over seasonal expectations, he said, and the peak week for sales, ordinarily occurring in April, has been exceeded already in August. Sales to distributors and dealers were 5½ times what they were in August, 1932, and exceeded every other August in the corporation's history.

WESTERN ROADS ASK FOR FLAT TWO CENT FARE

New Transportation Policy Aired.

Recommendations for a permanent national transportation policy are expected to be forwarded to Washington today by a group of railroad men, shippers, steamship operators, bankers, and waterway representatives who convened yesterday at the Chicago club. These recommendations, it is reported, will be embodied in legislation to be introduced at the winter session of congress.

The conference is sponsored by the Railway Business association and is headed by Harry A. Wheeler, president of that body. Its aim is to effect a better coördination of all forms of transportation.

Eastern railroads, it was learned yesterday, are planning to submit to the interstate commerce commission recommendations for passenger fare reductions slightly different from those already submitted by western lines. The western lines have asked for a flat 2 cent a mile rate on all round trip fares, either coach or Pullman, with a 3 cent rate for Pullman passengers on one way tickets and a 2 cent rate for one way coach passengers, and elimination of all Pullman surcharges.

Favor 3 Cent Rate.

The eastern roads are reported to be considering a recommendation for a 3 cent per mile rate for both coach and Pullman passengers on one way tickets and a 2 cent round trip rate for either class, and the elimination of Pullman surcharges. Some rail executives predict a flat 2 cent rate for all passenger travel.

The Central Freight and Eastern Trunk Line associations also met here yesterday to discuss differences in interterritorial freight rates. Among those present at this conference were Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania; J. J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio, and H. R. Kurrie, president of the Monon.

Persons Attending Meeting.

Arthur H. Evans, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Charles S. Belsterling, vice president of the United States Steel corporation; Murray N. Billings, traffic manager of the Illinois Steel corporation; J. Fred Sheehy of the Chicago Short Line railway; J. M. Davis, president of the Lackawanna railroad; Dr. C. S. Duncan of the Association of Railway Executives.

U. S. MOVES TO PUMP CREDIT INTO INDUSTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—[Special.]—Drastic efforts to pump credit into the business structure of the nation were launched today by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Under direct orders from President Roosevelt, the corporation today, through Chairman Jesse Jones, announced it would make emergency six months loans at a record low rate of 3 per cent.

At the same time Mr. Jones said that the general base interest rate on all loans of the corporation would be reduced Oct. 1 from the present 4½ per cent to 4.

Hopes to Stimulate Lending.

The R. F. C. chairman also set a-going his plan for the organization of mortgage companies along community lines which, with federal R. F. C. funds, will advance credit to industries or business houses.

All this is intended by President Roosevelt to stimulate not only the lending of money by the banks of the country, but also to encourage business men to apply for loans. As a particular bait to the latter, the R. F. C. set up a condition in the granting of the emergency 3 per cent loans that the money must be reloaned for commercial purposes at not higher than 5 per cent interest.

At the 3 per cent rate, it was pointed out, the federal government is bound to lose money, and if large sums are loaned at that scale the R. F. C. losses will be considerable. The R. F. C. pays the treasury 3 per cent for its funds, which leaves no margin whatever for the charging off of bookkeeping and handling charges or losses in collections.

Limit on Interest Rate.

Under the plan announced by Chairman Jones, the R. F. C. emergency loans to be made to banks and trust companies and mortgage companies for any part of six months must be reloaned at not higher than 5 per cent and for the following purposes:

"For the purchase of materials for manufacture; to cover the actual cost of labor in the manufacture and processing of material, and to assist merchants especially affected by the NRA."

"Such loans," Mr. Jones declared, "may be collateral by the short term note of the manufacturer or merchant, secured by a valid assignment of an unconditional order for the finished product or mortgages, real or chattel, on plant, equipment, real estate, raw material, or finished product, or in any other manner acceptable to the bank and to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Loans to Mortgage Companies.

"Where banks do not want to borrow for such purposes, or in those instances where the loan is more in the nature of operating capital, but the necessity for which, as well as the security, can be definitely established, the organization of bona fide mortgage companies in each community, or borrowing through those now in existence, is suggested.

"Loans to mortgage companies when properly secured, generally speaking, will be made up to five times the cash or sound capital of the mortgage company and carry an interest rate from the R. F. C. of 4 per cent. Mortgage companies borrowing to relend will be required to charge fair rates to their borrowers."

Bankers Skeptical.

Mr. Jones said that the type of security to be accepted for the new loans will be no different than that which has governed the corporation's activities in the past. He said, in response to questions by newspaper men, that the responsibility for all loans made by banks would be upon the banks.

This is the stump upon which the administration's previous efforts at relaxing credit have failed. Bankers, those who weathered the terrific storms of the last few years, have been unwilling to lend money on ordinary commercial notes because of the uncertainty they have on business conditions generally and because of the instability of the administration's monetary policy.

Jones Confident It Will Work.

But Chairman Jones voiced confidence that the new low interest rate will stimulate lending.

"It is the opinion of the directors of the R. F. C.," he declared, "that much needed relief can be had by the organization and use of local mortgage companies of substantial nature to supplement bank lending, where loans are of a sound character but slow."

Stock Mart Seat Prices Again Climb

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The scramble for Chicago Stock Exchange seats by out-of-town brokers sent the price of memberships to $9,900 yesterday, more than double the highest price offered three days ago. Late yesterday $14,000 was the lowest price at which seats were offered.

Three memberships changed hands yesterday. One brought $9,900 from eastern purchasers and two others were sold early in the day for $8,000 each. Seven memberships have been sold in the last three days at advancing prices, most of them going to eastern purchasers seeking to escape the onerous taxes placed on transactions executed in the New York markets.

Hesitate to Comment.

Stock exchange officials were wary in commenting on the situation. While it was evident that benefits would accrue to the exchange here as a result of the taxes saddled on the New York exchange, officials were careful not to rejoice at the misfortune of the eastern market.

The boos with which New York brokers greeted Mayor O'Brien during the NRA parade as a protest against the new taxes were still echoing yesterday in financial quarters. Meanwhile, however, the advisability of relisting on the Chicago exchange was being considered by a number of corporations whose securities have not been traded in this market in recent years.

Banks Would Gain.

The benefits to accrue to Chicago from the relisting of these securities will not be confined to the stock exchange, it was pointed out in financial quarters yesterday. Banks and trust companies serving as transfer agents and registrars wouldl also stand to benefit. A Chicago transfer agency must be maintained by corporations with securities listed on the exchange here. It was reported that a movement was under way by the banks to bring before corporation officials the advantages of listing their securities in Chicago.

The definite results of the New York taxes will not be known until the bill goes into effect next month. There is already a 3 to 4 cent tax differential favorable to Chicago. This is due to the New York state tax. The only tax on security transfers in Chicago is the federal government levy of 4 to 5 cents a share. The new city levy in New York will boost the total tax there to 11 to 13 cents a share.

The exchange posted notice yesterday that a seat has been transferred to Luman H. Gray, Benton Harbor Mich. Names of the other membership purchasers will be announced after the membership committee passes on the transfers.

N. Y. ALDERMEN PASS TAX BOOST; FACE SALARY CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Members of the board of aldermen who worked long and hard today to pass Samuel Untermyer's six point tax program became the first official targets of his economy drive tonight when he urged that their salaries be cut in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $2,000 a year.

In 1929 the board of estimate increased the mayor's salary from $25,000 to $40,000. The controller's salary went from $25,000 to $35,000 and that of the aldermanic president from $15,000 to $25,000. The borough presidents went from $15,000 to $20,000.

Shortly after these increases, the salaries of department heads and other responsible city officials were raised. In most cases the department heads went from $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

Urges Further Salary Cuts.

Under the recent salary cuts adopted by the board of estimate these increases were cut down on a sliding scale, which became heavier as the salaries mounted. In virtually all cases, however, the new salaries were substantially higher than those paid in 1929.

Mr. Untermyer urged that the board of estimate cut the salaries of its own members to the rate paid in 1929. He made this recommendation as a preliminary to wholesale salary reductions for all city officials whose compensation was increased three years ago.

The board of estimate conceded that Mr. Untermyer was "sitting in the driver's seat," so far as city finances were concerned, by acting immediately upon his suggestions. The members voted to direct Budget Director Maurice Stephenson to place their salaries in the 1934 budget at the 1929 figures.

Amended Tax Bills Passed.

The new city taxes on stock brokers and public utilities were amended today so that the tax falls upon the gross revenues of such concerns instead of upon their gross incomes. Taxing gross incomes would allow for the deduction of operating costs, taxes, and other charges. The amendments make every dollar taken in subject to tax regardless of whether the individual business shows a profit.

Though opposition developed in the board of aldermen against the Untermyer program, the Democratic majority was sufficiently powerful to put the program through. The strongest fight developed on the proposal to increase water rates 50 per cent.

After a final statutory public hearing on the four tax bills passed by both branches of the municipal assembly today, they will become effective with the mayor's signature.

Mr. Untermyer estimates a new revenue yield of $40,000,000 from his tax program. The proceeds of the taxes are to be devoted to unemployment relief, including the redemption of about $25,000,000 in city relief securities now held by the bankers.

RUSH OF BUYING RAISES PRICES OF ALL GRAINS

Wheat Up 2 Cents; Corn 1 Cent.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Fresh developments in the grain markets came with startling rapidity yesterday. The trade placed an extremely bullish construction on the Washington reports to the effect the administration contemplated an advance of 50 per cent in grain prices. A rush of buying developed which lifted wheat around 2 cents and corn and oats over 1 cent from the previous close, but immediately after the opening the "peg," which has been in effect in Winnipeg since Aug. 16, was suddenly withdrawn and all grains dropped as rapidly as they had advanced.

Market Here Strong.

December wheat in Chicago sold up to 93¾ cents at the start, the highest figure since Aug. 17, and then dropped to 91½ cents shortly before the close. At no time, however, were prices more than a fraction below the finish of Wednesday. The close was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher for the day, with December finishing at 91¾ to 92 cents and May at 96⅛ to 96¼ cents.

Strength in the local wheat market was regarded as remarkable in view of the weakness in Winnipeg, and the heavy selling here against purchases in the northwest. Winnipeg October, which had been pegged at 70⅛ cents for nearly a month, broke to 66⅞ cents under an avalanche of hedging sales, and closed at that figure to a fraction over. The Canadian market was off 2⅞ to 3¼ cents for the day, while oats was 2⅛ to 2⅝ cent lower; rye, ⅝ to 1½ cents and barley, 3⅞ to 5⅛ cents.

Coarse Grains Unsettled.

Coarse grain markets in Chicago were as unsettled as wheat, with corn closing unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, with December at 52⅝ cents and May 58¾ to 58⅞ cents. Oats were unchanged to ¼ cent higher, with December closing at 41⅛ to 41¼ cents.

Canadian and northwestern interests were heavy sellers of rye futures in the local market and aonther cargo of Canadian rye was reported to have been bought to come here. Futures dropped ⅞ to 1 cent, with December closing at 74¼ cents. Barley was ⅝ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower, with December selling at 57 cents at the last.

A big business was transacted in cash grain yesterday by Chicago handlers. An eastern mill bought 550,000 bushels of wheat, said to have been held in storage at a Georgian bay port, and paid equal to ½ cent under Chicago December, free on board, for the grain. Charters were made to take out 1,000,000 bushels wheat from local public elevators within the next few days to the east.

Export Plan Causes Buying.

The trade presumed the sudden revival in the eastern demand was due to prospects the wheat from the north Pacific coast would no longer be available, as the government earlier in the week announced it would subsidize the exportation of 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 bushels of the surplus in that area.

Cash corn sales to the east aggregated 250,000 bushels, the business presumably being facilitated by a settlement of the Buffalo elevator strike. The country sold 425,000 bushels cash corn to arrive, making over 1,300,000 bushels disposed of to local handlers during the last week.

New York, Sept. 14.—Prices of domestic corporation bonds were bid up briskly on the stock exchange today in heavy dealings, and some sections of the foreign group pointed higher.

United States government bonds, however, continued lower, losing 2-32ds to 7-32ds point for the active issues with the exception of the first Liberty 4¼s. In the latter case the gain was on the presumption that the treasury will not exercise its option to call for the issue for payment on Dec. 15, 1933. The turnover in the government issues was unusually heavy.

A fairly representative list of domestic corporation bonds climbed a point or more for the day, with a full complement of fractional advances. Issues which received setbacks of any c nsequence were chiefly bonds which have been comparatively inactive. Among the gainers today were included a number of issues in default.

Impressive strength in Argentine government bonds was a feature of the foreign list. These loans were up 3 to 6¾ points. Dutch East Indies issues climbed 1⅝ to 2⅝ points to new highs for the year.

Swiss government 5½s, on which holders will be paid their Oct. 1 interest in terms of gold dollars, were up 1¼ points. Many German issues lost considerable ground, and a number of Latin-American issues dropped a point or more on the day.

Sharon Steel Hoop.

Investors' Guide: On advice of a friend I bought some Sharon Steel Hoop common. What does the company make? Please let me know rating as soon as possible.—L. J.

Answer: About 80 per cent of Sharon Steel Hoop company's production is in the form of bars, bands and hoops. The remainder is sheet metal. The automobile industry is the chief market for its output, although its products are used in containers, metal furniture and hardware.

Sharp increase in operations in the second quarter of 1933, in line with other steel mills, enabled the company to finish the first half with a loss of $257,000, against loss of $942,000 for the first half of 1932.

Chiefly as a result of inactivity in the automobile industry, finishing mills in 1932 averaged only 30 per cent of capacity. Loss was $2,017,000, against loss of $1,397,000 for 1931.

Retirement of bonds in 1929, large property expenditures prior to 1930 and heavy losses in the last three years have weakened current position. Current assets, including $633,000 cash, totaled $3,571,000 at the close of 1932, and current liabilities, including $1,025,000 notes payable, aggregated $1,856,000.

The company was successful in obtaining the consent of 80 per cent of the holders of its 5½ per cent bonds to pay the interest due Feb. 1, 1933, on the basis of $10 cash and $17.50 scrip instead of $27.50 cash.

Funded debt totals $5,328,000. Sinking fund requirements on it total $200,000 a year. There are outstanding 375,000 shares of no par stock. Nothing is being paid on it.

The stock is highly speculative.

Chicago Utilities.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me information on stock of Chicago Utilities company made out in 1913.—S. W. C.

Answer: Chicago Utilities company acquired the properties of Illinois Tunnel company and Chicago Subway company at foreclosure sale in March, 1912.

After having failed to cover operating expenses for a number of years assets were sold at foreclosure to satisfy claims of bondholders.

The assets realized a sale price of $750,000 at the foreclosure sale. In 1924 several stockholders sought to have the sale set aside on the grounds that although it was ostensibly a public sale, the property was sold to a prearranged purchaser at an agreed price without sufficient publicity. This appeal was denied.

Holders of the first mortgage bonds received 13.17 cents on the dollar. In view of the deficiency in the payment of the bonds, it is evident that neither the common nor the preferred have any value.

BANKER GROUPS COMBINE TO PUT HOUSE IN ORDER

Study Means to Improve Their Methods.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—American bankers, as represented by the Association of Reserve City Bankers and the American Bankers' association, are now drafting a bulletin which will contain recommendations for amendments to existing banking laws which will probably be made public about the middle of next month at a joint meeting of the two bodies, it was learned today.

Subcommittees of both associations in all of the twelve federal reserve districts are holding meetings almost daily—one such meeting was held yesterday in Wall street—and the result of the conferences will be fed to the drafting committee, which is expected to present a most comprehensive banking analysis at the meeting next month.

In addition to these association activities banking committees have been formed in more than twenty states, and in many of the leading cities city committees are functioning all to the same end.

Work for Sound Banking.

These activities prove that the bankers of the United States have intensified their efforts in the direction of a sound banking system to a greater extent than at any time in the history of American banking, and their recommendations, which will include a reanalysis of the existing banking act, are being awaited with a great deal of interest.

Chief among the recommendations will be one for a change in the law calling for a guarantee of bank deposits, but it is learned on the highest authority that other suggestions will be made of equal importance.

As one out of town banker put it today, "the bankers realize that they are now out of the pioneering days and know that the all important thing will be the organization of a banking system as nearly perfect as will be possible."

It is probable that the memorandum to be released at the joint meeting will contain many suggestions which a few years ago would have seemed extremely radical, not the least of which may be recommendations for the appointment of a federal banking commission.

Seen as Crying Need.

Revision of the banking system is recognized as a crying need and that revision can be said to be definitely under way as the bankers through their committee work establish closer contacts and a greater degree of cooperation in the framing of their plan.

Before the depression period began there were some 30,000 banks operating in the United States. Today about half of that number are operating.

The mid-October joint meeting will be called within a few days by Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National bank in Washington, D. C. The place for the meeting has not as yet been definitely decided.

MONEY MARKET TURNOVER TO BE BELOW NORMAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—Owing to the decision of the treasury to make no public offering at this time, excepting in exchange of maturing certificates, the turnover in the money market tomorrow will be smaller than usual in mid-September.

The principal item will be the new issue of certificates of indebtedness. The total amount of those is indeterminate because they will not be sold for cash. The amount of the issue will depend entirely upon the volume of old certificates tendered in exchange. In any event, the total amount of the new issue cannot be in excess of $220,000,000 because that is the quantity of old notes maturing tomorrow. Indications are that in this federal reserve district, at least, the number of certificates proffered exchange will be materially smaller than the amount maturing.

The new certificates will run for nine months and will bear only ¼ of 1 per cent interest per annum, payable on a semi-annual basis. They will be given at par in exchange for maturing certificates bearing 1¼ per cent interest. The balance of the latter not tendered in exchange for new certificates must be paid by the treasury in cash. The government's cash position is unusually strong, with the result that redemptions in cash will be easily met.

In addition to the redemption of $220,000,000 of 1¼ per cent certificates the government will pay interest on its obligations due at that time. The amount of interest payable at this time is $45,000,000.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Coffee was irregular today, following an early advance and later decline on Brazilian selling. Santos opened 5 points lower to 9 higher and closed 5 lower to 1 higher. Sales, 12,000 bags. No. 7 opened unchanged and closed unchanged to 6 points higher. Sales, 1,000 bags. Closing quotations: Santos, September, 8.25c; December, 8.48c; March, 8.54c; May, 8.60c; July, 8.66c. Rio prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
Dec.	6.05	6.05	6.00	6.00	5.97
July	6.22	6.22	6.22	6.22	6.22

Spot coffee in better demand. Santos 4s, 9@9¼c; Rio 7s, 7½c. Cost and freight offers included Santos Bourbon 3s and 5s at 8.50@9.10c.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was generally steady, closing 6 points higher to 2 net lower. Sales were 35 contracts. The firmness of cotton and lard seemed to create increased covering and little commission house buying, with prices at one time 2 to 13 points net higher, although there were reactions in the late trading under liquidation. Bleachable spot and September closed 4.60c; December, 4.91c; January, 4.96c; March, 5.10c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Cotton goods markets were active today and prices showed an advancing tendency. Rayon was steady and active. Wool goods markets were slow. Burlap was firm. Silk prices were firm, but trading was dull.

AMERICAN CAN CO.

URGES DETROIT BANK INQUIRY BE TERMINATED

Ballantyne Lays Trouble to Depression

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14.—John Ballantyne, for many years a leader in Detroit banking circles, was the principal witness today before the bank grand jury. Ballantyne is now president of the newly organized Manufacturers' National bank.

During his testimony he expressed the opinion that the bank inquiry had already accomplished its purpose and suggested that it be terminated at the earliest moment possible. He added that in his opinion, the world-wide depression was solely to blame for Detroit's present condition.

"It is impossible for any one man to fix responsibility for the closing of the banks," Ballantyne continued. "The federal government is doing its part in the matter, and if there has been wrong doing, the guilty parties will be properly punished."

In explaining the banking situation Ballantyne covered the ground for the last thirty years to the beginning of the automobile industry, to which he traced the growth of the city and the effect of that growth on the banks. He declared that all the bank mergers were done in an effort to properly serve the community, and that the real object of the grand jury was to "find the mistakes that have been made so we won't make them again."

The greatest mistake, he said, was the "wicked and wholly unpardonable orgy" of stock speculation which "no one can gainsay affected the judgment of bankers."

In closing his testimony Ballantyne declared that A. P. Leyburn, former federal examiner in the 7th district, had informed him early in 1932, shortly after the First National bank and the Peoples Wayne County bank had merged, that "Your bank is one of the four soundest in the country."

STOCKS ADVANCE A BIT DESPITE PROFIT TAKING

New Rumors of Inflation Buoy Up Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 14.—"Hesitant optimism," a phrase much in vogue in brokerage circles at the moment, was the keynote of today's operations on the Stock Exchange. An over night accumulation of fresh inflation talk, featured by the prediction of Senator Harrison that President Roosevelt will soon take additional inflationary measures, further weakness in the dollar, and rising commodity markets propelled the stock list forward quite briskly in the early dealings.

However, considerable profit taking developed after the turn of the day, and closing figures were no better than irregular. Most of the pivotal issues finished slightly lower on the day, but there was quite a sprinkling of fair sized gains among second grade descriptions. The volume of trading expanded to 2,897,000 shares, the best of the month.

Mining and Alcohol Issues Lead.

Constructive activity was centered largely in the mining and alcohol issues. Trading in the gold mining group was livelier than it has been in several days. Homestake, the leader of the section, went to a new all time high of 320, a jump of 20 points over last night's close, and held within a point or so of that figure. Alaska Juneau, McIntyre, and others moved up a point or more. Other mining issues were in demand. American Smelting rose more than 3 points, Howe Sound did almost as well, and United States Smelting jumped 7⅛ points.

Repeal stocks owed their fresh buoyancy to the growing conviction in Wall street circles, as well as elsewhere, that repeal has become a virtual certainty. Commercial Solvents, National Distillers, and United States Industrial Alcohol drew the big share of patronage in this group.

The rails looked up in the forenoon, but were rather droopy toward the close. Most of the leaders managed to adhere to the brighter side of the picture, however.

Utilities Are Handicapped.

Utilities continued to look doubtful, having taxes and rate cut problems to worry over. The news from Washington that the Tennessee Valley authority had offered electrical energy to be generated at Muscle Shoals to local municipal plants and agricultural areas at extremely low rates did not help their cause in the public estimation.

Oils and foods were up and down with a general list. The Standards of New Jersey and California touched new tops before giving way to profit taking.

Wheat exerted its pull on the farm and mail order divisions, as usual. In the motor group Chrysler rose 1⅝ and General Motors was up a fraction.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs were in good demand and prices steady to ½c higher. Receipts, 7,725 cases. Butter was generally ¼@½c higher, with receipts 15,192 tubs. Live hens were ½c higher while white rock broilers and springs were ½c lower. Receipts, 1 car and 30 trucks. Potatoes slightly weaker. Receipts, 102 cars with 222 cars on team track.

HOG AND CATTLE PRICES ADVANCE; LAMBS DECLINE

Gain in Pork Products Stimulates Buying.

Hogs and cattle moved higher yesterday along with grains and stocks, both species closing at the highest point of the session. Top hog sales were again at $4.75, equaling the highest mark since July 27, while the general average for the whole session at $4.15 was within 5 cents of the highest level in five weeks.

Higher prices for pork products stimulated buying of hogs and the supply of commercial swine was soon cleaned up, mostly by local buyers. The carryover consisted largely of nonpermit pigs which are to be bought today for the account of the government by packers authorized to pay the bonus prices. Starting out steady to 10 cents higher the hog market improved and closed fully 10 to 15 cents above the average of Wednesday.

Handle 72,000 Hogs.

Eleven leading markets handled 72,000 hogs yesterday, exclusive of government pigs. This total compared with 69,000 the previous Thursday and with 75,000 a year ago. The total for the four days this week at 310,000, without the pigs, showed an increase of 29,000 compared with a week ago, and a gain of 33,000 over a year ago.

The pig slaughter for the first four days at 20 markets at 415,000 compared with 601,000 a week ago. While the year to date total receipts at the 11 markets show a substantial increase over a year ago because of the large number of pigs included, the commercial hogs at the 11 points since January 1 show a decrease of 318,000, compared with the same period of 1932.

Receipts Show Decline.

Yesterday's gains of 10 to 15 cents brought cattle prices 25 to 35 cents over the low point of the week and 10 to 15 cents higher than last week's closing quotations. Both receipts and tonnage dropped off yesterday. Arrivals of 5,500 carried a bigger share of the lightweights and fewer of the extremely heavy steers. On the previous Thursday Chicago had 8,670 head to sell.

Choice 1,292 to 1,332 pound steers topped the market at $7.00, the bulk of steers going at $5.50 to $6.25. Butcher stock ruled strong to 15 cents higher. Stockers and feeders were a little lower, but in fairly good demand.

Lamb Prices Slump.

Lambs slumped 50 cents at the close yesterday. Shippers bought at $7.50 and under, while packers paid $7.25 and less. Yearlings at $5.10 were off 40 cents. A feature of the trade the last few days has been the marked pickup in buying of feeding and breeding sheep and lambs.

Country buyers are paying the highest prices in three years for breeding ewes. Yearling breeders sold recently up to $6.25. The high mark for breeders in 1932 was $4.75. Some yearling ewes cost breeders over $7.00 per head here this week.

EGGS LOSE EARLY ADVANCE

Butter and egg futures closed about steady on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, losing early advances. Butter was ⅛@¼c higher and eggs unchanged to ¼c higher. Egg trading was greatly improved. Buying was active at the start, carrying prices up ⅝c, but selling increased later. The opening spurt was prompted by the advance in stocks but the market hesitated later, partly as a result of the fact that the four markets moved slightly less eggs than last year. Butter news continued bearish, but support was mildly active at the opening with pressure increasing toward the close. The American association reported production 24 per cent greater than last year and the four markets stored 504,000 lbs more than last year. Sales: Butter, 92 cars; eggs, 279 cars. Prices follow:

Learn Beauty Culture and Hairdressing with MME. LOUISE AT DeLEE

You'll find everything you've been looking for in beauty culture instruction at DeLEE: Expert instructors, up-to-the minute equipment, beautiful, light, airy classrooms, and the "university type" of training which will prepare you for a BETTER POSITION and a BIGGER INCOME.

MADAME LOUISE, educational director at DeLEE, is internationally known as a hairdressing and beauty culture expert without an equal. She is recognized by the profession as the leading authority and is known both in America and abroad for her creative skill in fashioning coiffures for royalty, stage and screen stars. LEARN BEAUTY CULTURE AND HAIRDRESSING WITH MME. LOUISE AND ASSURE YOURSELF THE BEST POSSIBLE TRAINING.

All Modern Equipment

Only DeLEE is equipped 100% with the most modern, up-to-date machines. Why train yourself in the use of old style equipment, when you can learn the very latest methods with Mme. Louise at DeLEE? When you are graduated the FREE DeLEE employment service makes it easy for you to obtain a good paying, pleasant position. DeLEE maintains both day and evening classes so you can learn even though you are now employed. Previous experience or a high school education is NOT necessary.

Easy Payment Plan

DeLEE fees are reasonable and payment can be arranged to suit your convenience. You can even earn money while you are learning. There are no "extra charges" for uniforms, textbooks, instruments, lockers, etc.

CALL IN PERSON and let us show you through America's most beautiful, most modern beauty school. Talk with Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens, the DeLEE Dean. She will show you and tell you exactly why DeLEE training prepares you for a BETTER POSITION AND A BIGGER INCOME.

NO OBLIGATION. FEEL FREE TO INSPECT OUR CLASS ROOMS ANY TIME.
